HURLEY URGES U. S. COMPLETE STATE SHIPWAY

Congress Asked for $7,500,000.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 3.—[Special.]—Completion of the Illinois state waterway project by the federal government was recommended to congress today by Secretary of War P. J. Hurley with the approval of President Hoover.

Appropriation of $7,500,000, the amount estimated to be necessary after the proceeds of the $20,000,000 bond issue of the state are exhausted, was proposed.

Secretary Hurley gave his approval to an exhaustive report prepared by the district engineer, a board of engineers and Maj. Gen. Lyttle Brown, chief of engineers. Attached to the report was an opinion by Attorney General William D. Mitchell upholding the legality of the plan by which the federal government would take over the state waterway from Lockport to Utica, together with power rights, without any affirmative action by the state.

Also attached was a letter from Gov. L. L. Emmerson of Illinois expressing his approval of the plan and pledging the state to make no claim of rights in the waterway provided the federal government appropriates sufficient funds to complete and maintain it.

Call Special Meeting.

The war department's recommendations reached the house rivers and harbors committee late in the day. A special meeting of the committee was called at which Representative W. E. Hull [Rep., Ill.] sought to obtain immediate approval of the Illinois project for inclusion in a general rivers and harbors bill to be reported to the house in the near future. A controversy over diversion of water at Chicago blocked action, but the committee probably will approve the project tomorrow.

The hitch in the committee's program came as a result of activities of representatives of the lake states which have fought the diversion of the water from Lake Michigan. Raymond T. Jackson of Cleveland, counsel for the Lake Carriers' association, and L. C. Rabin of Cleveland, vice president of the association, protested against any action which would imply approval of a diversion of any particular amount of water.

Maj. Gen. Brown, in a letter transmitting the report, stated that there had been various estimates of the amount of water needed to operate the waterway down to as low as 1,000 cubic feet per second. The district engineer stated, however, that "to maintain navigable conditions on the waterway there would be required a 1,500 second foot discharge at Lockport on the basis of the dredging now in progress."

What Hughes Recommended.

This is the equivalent of considerably more than twice the 1,500 cubic feet per second diversion at Chicago, the ultimate maximum to which the diversion would be reduced on the basis of the Hughes recommendation for a final decree in the case before the supreme court.

Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom of Illinois and William R. Dawes of Chicago, president of the Mississippi Valley association, were in attendance at the rivers and harbors committee meeting and attempted to reach some agreement with Mr. Jackson and Ohio members of the committee as to a clause to be inserted in the rivers and harbors bill on the diversion question. The Ohio group asked that a proviso be included to the effect that the legislation would not be considered as determining the amount of diversion. It seemed likely that the two sides would be able to work out a satisfactory compromise tomorrow.

Maj. Gen. Brown in his letter of transmittal stated that the state of Illinois has spent about $15,500,000 on the construction of the state waterway project between Lockport and Utica and that the physical work now is about 75 per cent completed.

Cost More Than 20 Million.

"However, it has been found that the total cost of the waterway will be considerably in excess of the $20,000,000 available for its construction," said Gen. Brown. "For this reason it is now desired that the United States take over and complete the waterway. Interested parties point out that the $20,000,000 appropriated by the state constitutes a larger degree of cooperation than has been required of local interests by the United States in numerous other improvements of similar character.

"The district engineer reports that

BRITAIN, JAPAN AGREE TO HALT BIG NAVY RACE

America to Reduce by 200,000 Tons.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 3.—An agreement between America, Great Britain and Japan on the basis of a three power navy limitation treaty was formally recorded today at a meeting of delegation chiefs from those nations to the London naval conference. This tri-party agreement, putting an end to competition in navy building among the principal naval powers, will be concluded in the event a failure to reach a compromise on the differences between Great Britain, France and Italy makes a five power treaty an impossible achievement.

After Aristide Briand, French foreign minister, conferred with Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson and Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow at the American headquarters this morning, however, members of the American delegation predicted that a five power agreement will be announced at the next plenary session.

Briand Calls on U. S. Envoys.

M. Briand, it was officially stated, had called to report to the Americans the progress of the Anglo-French negotiations on the security guarantees France is demanding and the reduction in French tonnage claims Great Britain is calling for.

With the approval of the Anglo-American-Japanese agreement members of the American delegation consider their navy limitation objectives virtually accomplished. Mr. Stimson still maintains this three power agreement represents a reduction of 200,000 tons in the American navy built, building, or provided for.

The American delegates point out that Anglo-American agreements have now been reached on a lower tonnage basis for cruisers than Great Britain would consider at the 1927 Geneva conference, and on what they regard as a substantial parity in combat strength.

British Accept 50 Cruisers.

The British demanded 70 cruisers aggregating 450,000 tons at Geneva. They now accept 50 cruisers aggregating 339,000 tons.

America, which wanted a limitation of 250,000 tons at Geneva, now agrees on 327,000 tons. America must build a great cruiser fleet to approximate a parity with Great Britain. This increase will be offset by a reduction of battleship fleets, now assured by Japan's agreement to scrap its oldest capital ship, the battle cruiser Kongo. America is to scrap three and Great Britain five.

No Super Dreadnaught for U. S.

America withdraws its demand for the right to build a super dreadnaught the equal of Great Britain's Rodney, which Mr. Stimson proposed because of the American inferiority in battleship strength. As a result of this scrapping, Great Britain and America will have 15 battleships each, and Japan nine.

Great Britain is to be allowed the same privilege for the same reason. America, having fallen behind Great Britain and Japan in navy building, will be fully occupied in all available yards for the next five years.

Confident of Senate's O. K.

The American delegates are confident the senate will ratify the treaty, including the consultative pact. They believe the American people will regard the ending of navy building competition as outweighing the concessions made.

The principal concession to Great Britain was the acceptance of the limitation to eighteen 8 inch gun cruisers for the American navy instead of the twenty-one President Hoover originally declared essential to parity establishment. Japan, demanding 70 per cent of America's big cruiser strength and total auxiliary tonnage, was given 60 per cent of the tonnage of America's eighteen big cruisers, but, by virtue of America's agreement to complete only fifteen by 1936, gets in reality a 72 per cent ratio during the life of the treaty. Japan is also given 69 per cent of the auxiliary tonnage and a parity in submarines.

NEW WAR AID DEMAND

LONDON, April 3. — The British delegation tonight is considering France's final draft of a proposal for an international agreement, which she deems gives her sufficient security to warrant decreasing her naval program providing for 713,000 tons by 1936.

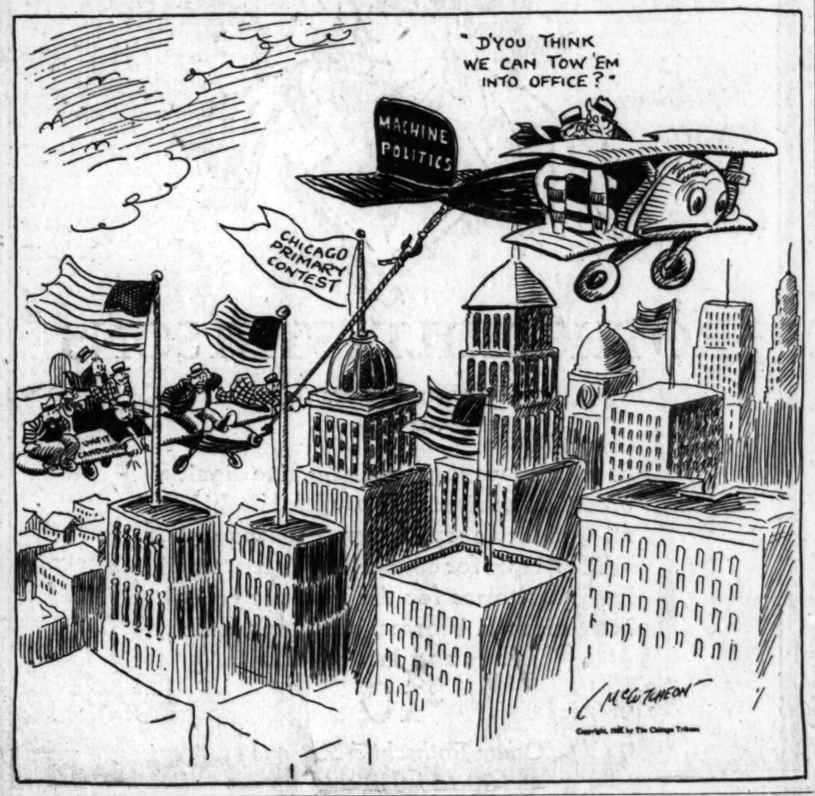
ANOTHER GLIDER EXPERIMENT THE COUNTRY WILL WATCH WITH INTEREST



NEW ALCOHOL SPRAY PUTS NEW LIFE INTO DROWSY BRITISH M. P.'S

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 3.—The notoriously musty atmosphere in the house of commons may be given a dynamic flavor in the near future by squirting it full of a mixture of alcohol and oxygen, it was learned today.

It seems that although the house of commons is well ventilated, the air is "dead" and affects the members of parliament with an irresistible desire to go to sleep as soon as they enter.

Many have also claimed that the musty air destroys their appetites. Numerous remedies have been tried, but up to the present none has proven successful.

Today, however, an encouraging test was made for "pepping up" the air with a vapor spray of alcohol and oxygen. Ten brave parliamentarians, one of whom was a prohibitionist, volunteered to serve as subjects for the experiment. They were locked up in a committee room, while the inventors of the new solution squirted the liquid throughout the room.

The parliament members sat up, sniffed, decided that the air was decidedly better, and voted unanimously for its use in the house of commons. According to Tom Groves, one of the plan's originators, the mixture lowers the temperature, disinfects, disperses bacteria, and stimulates the occupants of a room. He claims that an apparatus large enough to disinfect both houses of parliament could be installed for $25,000 and could be operated for $1,000 per year.

NEW YORK WILL HAVE BUILDING 73 STORIES HIGH

New York, April 3.—[Special.]—Plans for a 73 story building covering virtually the entire block bounded by Broadway, Broad, Bridge, and Stone street were revealed today by the General Utilities company, a subsidiary of Stone & Webster.

The proposed structure is one of several projects, some covering entire blocks, which are expected to involve more than $100,000,000 and to set a record in 1930 for buildings in the financial district.

Recommendations for the Primary

THE TRIBUNE'S recommendations for candidates in the Illinois primaries of next Tuesday, April 8, will be printed in Sunday's issue.

Recommendations in the senatorial, state-wide, and county-wide contests will appear in the main news section.

Congressional and legislative recommendations will appear in the Metropolitan section of the paper of that date.

Famous Swim Star Rescued by Spectator

Eleven of the greatest swimmers in America were churning the waters of the Lake Shore Athletic club pool shortly before 10 o'clock last night. They had reached the final lap in the struggle for the national title in 220 yard breast stroke.

Some 300 spectators, many of them in evening clothes and most of them members of the athletic club, were seated around the elaborate pool. A hundred more were standing. A blanket of canvas was spread over the knees of those in the front row to protect the costly gowns worn by the women and the dinner suits of the men from the water splashed in every direction by the swimmers.

Crowd Cheers Winner.

The spectators came to their feet cheering as Tom Blankenburg of the Hollywood, Cal., Athletic club glided past the line of finish a scant yard in front of Al Horn of the Lake Shore Athletic club. Leonard Spence of the New York Athletic club was third. It was a thrilling finish.

Just as the national championship was decided a contestant in pink trunks, Johnny Rea of the New York Athletic club, was seized with a violent attack of cramps. He went down once in the twelve feet of water. As he came up he shouted for help. The spectators were still cheering the new champion and Rea's cries for aid were not heard. Apparently scarcely any one even noticed Rae's distress.

Again Rae, a noted swimmer, went down, and as he came up the second time again he called for aid. His rivals by this time were crawling up over the edges of the pool, most of them nearly exhausted from their strenuous 220 yard trip up and down the tank.

Spectator to the Rescue.

Rae sank from sight. Then there was a fresh splash. Lawrence M. Barr of 2440 Lake View avenue had heard Rae's second call for help. In dinner attire, and without even removing his coat, he plunged into the tank and swam to Rea's aid, dragged the breast stroke star to safety, and held him until others pulled him from the pool.

Rae was semi-conscious, unable to walk. He was carried to the dressing rooms and restorative measures administered.

Canadian Senate Passes 2d Reading of U. S. Liquor Bill

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., April 3.—The Canadian senate tonight gave second reading and committee approval to the MacKenzie King bill, which will cut off liquor exports to the United States. Final reading of the bill was set for May 7. Expected opposition collapsed.

KIDNAP BRIDE OF WEEK; BLAME FORMER SUITOR

Mrs. Anna Storring, 18 years old, a bride of one week, was kidnaped last evening at 28th street and Emerald avenue by her rejected suitor, Joseph Palumbo, 21 years old, according to a report to Deering police. The bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Alice Westbrook, 23 years old, said they were strolling together when Palumbo jumped from a sedan, struck Mrs. Storring with his fist, and dragged her into the car. Another youth drove the car away.

When the bride had not returned to her home, 5324 Princeton avenue, at midnight, her husband, Allen Storring, expressed fear that she had been slain. Since their elopement to Crown Point, Ind., on March 28, Palumbo had been lurking around the Storring apartment and neighbors had told Storring the former suitor intended killing Mrs. Storring, the husband said. Palumbo had previously threatened to kill Storring, who had complained to police, the action resulting in the imposing of a $1,000 peace bond upon Palumbo.

Hunt Peddler as Suspect in Ribbon Death

Police last night were seeking a young peddler as a suspect in the murder of Mrs. Mildred Helsing, who was found slain in her home at 5830 West Lake street Tuesday evening. The search started as women in the neighborhood reported a number of robberies and described the young man who was seen that day selling small articles from door to door. The peddler was described as 19 to 22 years old, 5 feet 6 or 7 inches in height, weighing about 155 pounds, with red hair and wearing a cap.

The police were convinced they finally were on the trail of the slayer when their canvass of the Austin neighborhood brought them news of the youth. Mrs. J. C. Jorgensen, 5948 Lake street, who had made a purchase from the peddler, gave a description of him. She also had the card she had purchased from the youth, and this was taken to the bureau of identification, where a search was made for fingerprints on it.

Other Thefts Reported.

The facts leading to the belief it was this peddler who killed the young matron were listed by the police as follows:

The home of Mrs. Helen Payne, 5954 West Lake street, was ransacked Tuesday afternoon. The door had been forced open. The home of Mrs. Joseph Flynn, 5956 West Lake street, was also entered by a thief. Two women in the same apartment building the Helsings lived in reported thefts of articles from their homes Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Jorgensen's statement to the police was as follows:

"The young man knocked at our door Tuesday afternoon. There was something about his appearance that frightened me and I bought to get rid of him. He saw me put my purse containing $6 on a dresser. I was just going downstairs to talk to Mrs. Benjamin Meyers, wife of the janitor. He preceded me downstairs.

Apartment Is Robbed.

"I was in Mrs. Meyers' home only ten or fifteen minutes and when I went back upstairs the door of my apartment had been forced open and my purse was missing."

Lieut. John L. Sullivan said he believed the youth had been calling at many of the apartment house doors that afternoon and if any one was home he would offer to sell his wares. If not the peddler would break in and take any money or jewelry he could find in a hasty search.

The building in which Mrs. Jorgensen, Mrs. Payne, and Mrs. Flynn live is but a block from the building in which the Helsings lived. Lieut. Sullivan said it was apparent the same man had visited both buildings. Yesterday Mrs. J. D. Rutherford reported the loss of some silk garments and Mrs. Joseph Joseph reported that a vacuum cleaner which had been on her back porch, is missing. Both women live in the building where the murder occurred.

Not Reported Previously.

Lieut. Albert Hoffman of the Austin station said none of these thefts had been reported previously, but they now appear to have been committed by the same man and that man is believed to be the murderer of Mrs. Helsing.

Dr. J. R. Kearns, coroner's physician, who made an examination of the body expressed the belief last night that the young woman had died of a heart attack superinduced by fright. He said that the heart was not transfused with blood as is the case in strangulation and that the lack of blood in the heart was customary in cases of fright.

The marks on the woman's neck and the mark left by the ribbon showed that the slayer had first choked her and then tied the ribbon to prevent her regaining consciousness, according to police.

Burial of Mrs. Helsing will take place today from the home of her father, Frank H. Carson, 325 West Marion street, Joliet.

Headquarters of 39th Ward Candidate Bombed

A black powder bomb, tossed through the front window of a store at 3712 Belmont avenue about midnight last night, caused an estimated $500 damage in the shop and routed Frank Caliga and his family from their beds upstairs. The place, formerly a butcher shop, had recently been taken over as a headquarters by William Suwalski, independent Republican candidate for committeeman of the Thirty-ninth ward, where Ald. Frank R. Ringa and Frank Kalteux are the principal contestants in a battle for committeeman.

MRS. M'CORMICK URGES ELMORE TO TELL OF RIFT

Deneen Accuses Her of Inconsistency.

Battle Over Elmore

The Republican senatorial campaign moved swiftly toward its climax yesterday. Ruth Hanna McCormick went to address a Rockford audience after calling on President Elmore of the sanitary district to tell the "whole story" of his "break" with Senator Deneen. The senator charged his opponent with inconsistency on the sanitary issue and declared that a "whispering campaign" is being conducted against him for his championship of Diamond Joe Esposito. William A. Rodenberg of East St. Louis spoke for Mrs. McCormick in Chicago, depicting Deneen as a ward politician. Details of the Deneen meetings on page 3.

While Ruth Hanna McCormick was campaigning last night at Rockford, in her home territory, her cause in Cook county was supported in a speech by William A. Rodenberg of East St. Louis, an avowed wet, who before the campaign began had been rated a strong contender for the Republican nomination for United States senator.

Mr. Rodenberg, who had been urged to run on an anti-prohibition platform and who declined just before the lists closed, spoke over the Chicago radio station WBBM, delivering an attack on the record of Mrs. McCormick's chief opponent, Senator Charles S. Deneen.

Mrs. McCormick Speaks.

Before leaving for Rockford Mrs. McCormick drove home her chief arguments against Senator Deneen in speeches at noon at the Apollo theater and in the afternoon before a combined meeting of the Lions, Commercial, and Kiwanis clubs at the Norshe club, Kedzie and Fullerton avenues. Mrs. McCormick assailed Deneen with charges that he had attempted political interference with the sanitary district, that he was more interested in being boss of a political faction in Cook county than in his duties as a senator, and that his attempted explanation of his world court stand was "indefensibly weak."

Mr. Rodenberg, in his radio address, explained his opposition to the candidacy of Senator Deneen on the ground that the senator "would prove an exceptionally weak candidate whose renomination under present political conditions in Illinois invites disaster at the polls in November."

Calls Deneen Factionalist.

"Mr. Deneen is essentially a factionalist," said Mr. Rodenberg. "For years his name has appeared conspicuously in the newspapers only in connection with factional fights in the city of Chicago.

"He does not seem to have a proper conception of the dignity that surrounds the senatorship, but utilizes the patronage that attaches to the office solely in promoting the interests of the faction of which he is the leader and without any regard to the interests of the Republican party as a whole.

"The good Lord cast the senator in the mold of a statesman, but gave him the mental operations of a ward politician.

"As mind controls matter always, he will continue to function as a ward politician until the end of his senatorial days, which, from present indications, will be on March 4, 1931.

Record in Senate Assailed.

"Mr. Deneen has been a member of the United States senate for five years. His record in that body has been absolutely colorless. He has added nothing whatever to his own reputation or that of his state. He has only approached the level of respectable mediocrity. He belongs to the class of senators who are counted, but not consulted."

Mr. Rodenberg pictured Senator Deneen as a "timid soul," not attempting a reply when the tariff schedules were under attack, and said the senator was like a "scared rabbit, scurrying to his hole, mute and silent," during the attacks of radical senators upon Chief Justice Hughes.

Mrs. McCormick, in her noonday address to the audience which filled the Apollo theater, dealt at length with the rift between Senator Deneen and Howard W. Elmore, president of the sanitary district board, who has been elected with Deneen support. She called upon Elmore to "tell the whole" story of the break, and of what she described as "Senator Deneen's attempted political interference with the sanitary district."

"Repeatedly I have asked from the platform since March 17," said Mrs. McCormick, "the question, 'What were the orders that President Elmore of the sanitary district refused to obey?' Neither Senator Deneen nor his manager, Jacob Allen, have answered that question."

The World Court Issue.

Passing then to the world court issue, Mrs. McCormick said that in all the discussions in the senate, Senator Deneen never rose to utter a syllable on the question.

"The only position he has taken," Mrs. McCormick said, "is to attack the position I take. Until yesterday he never attempted to explain his position on the Root formula. Yesterday, at the University of Chicago, Mr. Deneen said:

"'The so called Root formula will in due course be submitted to the senate and referred to the committee on foreign relations. It is impossible now to determine or foresee how the issues will be presented to the senate.'

"Hasn't the distinguished senator the ability to decide the question for himself? I stand against the Root formula. Why can't Deneen tell us where he stands?"

The United Greek American Republican clubs yesterday announced their unanimous endorsement of Mrs. McCormick's candidacy.

SPEAKS IN ROCKFORD

Rockford, Ill., April 3.—[Special.]—Ruth Hanna McCormick summed up her campaign for the Republican nomination to the United States senate in a talk tonight before a big crowd of her neighbors from the Rock river valley. She owns a farm 12 miles from here and publishes a newspaper in Rockford, and so she was much at home as she told of her contest with Senator Charles S. Deneen, whom she referred to once as "next week Charlie."

A group of neighbors sat on the platform of Lyran hall with her, the most interesting figure being Robert Henderson, 97 years old, who voted for Fremont in 1856 and has been voting Republican ever since. Attorney Nels P. Nelson presented Mrs. McCormick to the audience, but she was the only speaker. She is alone in her campaign, and although she has been speaking daily since Jan. 13, sometimes many times a day, she is unwearied.

Hits World Court Anew.

In her address she declared that many voters, particularly women, who desire world peace so strongly, have been deceived by the talk of Senator Deneen and his friends about the "world court."

"They are confusing the minds of people about world court and league court," Mrs. McCormick said.

"Let me quote from a great authority on the league, Salvador Demadariaga, formerly of the league secretariat and chairman of its disarmament committee.

"'The court is a league court,' he says. 'It is the league court and when the United States joins it she should be fully aware of the fact that she is joining the judiciary of the league of nations.'"

INDICT 5 WOMEN IN POLL FRAUD INVESTIGATION

Accused Election Officials Now Total 25.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Charles Cranston, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Max Franke, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Harry Fisher.

Fiori Madia and Tony Buttigiaro, assault to commit robbery, sentenced to 1 to 14 years each in the penitentiary by Judge Walter P. Steffen.

Albert Strizak, Sidney Sommers, Morris Balbam, Dave Kadam, Irving Greenberg, and Louis Eckner, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 10 years each in the Pontiac reformatory by Judge John J. Sullivan.

The state's attorney's investigation of alleged fraudulent registration turned toward women precinct election officials yesterday when the grand jury returned true bills against five women clerks of election in the 20th and 42d wards. In addition three men were named in the true bills, which charge that the clerks failed to make a proper canvass of the registration.

The true bills voted yesterday raised to 25 the total of election indictments voted since the investigation was started. Those named in the bills asked by Assistant State's Attorney C. E. Lounsbury are precinct officials in the "river wards."

Precinct Officials Named.

The indictments voted yesterday are as follows:

Adele Burke and James Shields, 17th precinct, 42d ward.

Grace Mason and John O'Malley, 10th precinct, 42d ward.

Nancy Farmer and Jacob W. Miller, 35th precinct, 20th ward.

Mary Kenny and Mary Ward, 16th precinct, 42d ward.

Yesterday's indictments are expected to be the last before primary day, because the grand jury virtually finished its work last night. The jury probably will be disbanded today and a new jury will not be sworn in until Monday.

Win Plea for Trial.

Fred Hrdlicka, a candidate for state representative in the 23d district, Edward Kotek, a precinct captain, and Edward Kerstein, an undertaker, have won their fight for a trial before the election. They were indicted after the judicial election last fall on charges of altering ballots in the 27th precinct of the 34th ward. Hrdlicka especially has pleaded for a trial because of his present candidacy, and yesterday his request was granted in Judge Walter P. Steffen's court. A jury was selected.

SWANSON WON'T ASK INDICTMENTS IN PAY ROLL QUIZ

State's Attorney Swanson announced yesterday that he would not ask the grand jury for indictments in his investigation of city hall records for evidence of pay roll padding, but instead would issue a statement. The grand jury probably will disband today and a new jury will not be impanelled until Monday by Chief Justice D. J. Normoyle of the Criminal court.

Several of the city officials, who are candidates for ward committeemen, particularly Christian Paschen, building commissioner, have charged that the investigation resulting in their being haled before the grand jury has been caused by politics.

Assistant State's Attorneys Homer Dodge and Harold Keele said yesterday that they had sent subpoenas to Paschen's office for sixteen persons, most of them women.

Deputy Commissioner of Public Works Edward F. Mobre, a candidate for committeeman in the 30th ward, and Ald. Louis B. Anderson [2d] were among the witnesses yesterday. Felix Kucharski, 1737 West 42d street, a candidate for committeeman in the 13th ward, was also called to explain charges that he had threatened dismissal for civil service employés if they did not contribute $25 each to his campaign fund. The prosecutors charge that in one case he caused an employé to be discharged the day after he refused to contribute.

DESERTED, WINS DIVORCE.

Mrs. Menla M. Knox of Homer, Ia., was granted a divorce by Circuit Judge Lynch yesterday. She charged that she had been deserted by her husband, Wilbur Knox, while they were living in Chicago eight years ago.

WOMAN WINS DIVORCE AFTER BRIDGE VICTORY

Mrs. Juliet White, 1732 Pratt boulevard, yesterday won a divorce from Albert White, real estate dealer, before Superior Judge Sabath. The Whites were married April 25, 1927 and separated March 23 when he beat her during a bridge game, she testified.

"You trumped his ace?" the judge inquired.

"Nothing of the sort," Mrs. White answered. "I was playing against him and I played too well."

"The honors are yours," the judge declared in approving a $3,000 cash settlement in lieu of alimony.

DENEEN PICTURES G. O. P. OPPONENT AS INCONSISTENT

Defends Sanitary Record; Hits Esposito Issue.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Senator Charles S. Deneen centered his addresses yesterday upon the "Diamond Joe" Esposito and the Elmore "break" phases of the campaign for the Republican senatorial nomination. He declared that a "whispering campaign" has been conducted by supporters of Ruth Hanna McCormick to disparage the memory of Esposito, who was killed during the 1928 campaign, in an effort to injure the senator by charging he had "attended the funeral of a gangster."

In the matter of Howard W. Elmore, Senator Deneen said the McCormick camp is exhibiting "inconsistency." He said that in one breath Mrs. McCormick "blames me for the election of Elmore as president of the sanitary district," and in the next breath "praises Elmore for the economies we made possible." At his night meetings and at the noon day rally at the Grand Opera house the senator discussed Esposito and Elmore at length "to end once for all these two matters."

Letter from Opponent Read.

Deneen headquarters made public a letter written by Mrs. McCormick in 1926 to Judge Daniel P. Trude, then a candidate for county judge. The letter, which was put out by the Deneen camp as the hot shot of the day, was read at the noonday rally, and it was quoted as saying:

"I am very sorry not to be able to indorse your candidacy, but I am a practical politician and have cast my lot with the Barrett-Crowe ticket. Most of the women who have been active in civic organizations are inclined to indorse individual candidates, depending upon their records on both tickets, but having had twenty years of experience in politics I have found it is more effective in the long run for me to indorse one ticket or the other, taking it for better or for worse."

Deneen Discusses Esposito.

Senator Deneen, at the outset of his day's campaigning, in talking on the Esposito topic, said:

"I read with interest in this morning's papers the statement by Mrs. McCormick regarding the attacks on the memory of Joseph Esposito. Mrs. McCormick states that I made a speech downstate submitting my 'version of the killing of Esposito as an issue in his campaign against me.'

"In the speech referred to I stated that active supporters of Mrs. McCormick throughout the state had been conducting for many months a sympathetic whispering campaign against me by assailing the memory of Joseph Esposito, who was assassinated in 1928 in the primary campaign for law and order in Chicago, and in which he was the leader in his ward; that the purpose of this whispering campaign was to justify the assassination of Mr. Esposito in an effort to injure me by charging that I had attended the funeral of a gangster.

Charges Political Plot.

"I stated that Mr. Esposito had been a presidential elector in 1924, a committeeman elected by the Republicans of his ward, and that his funeral had been held under the auspices of a church which does not permit the offices of the church to be extended to gangsters. That in an effort to escape the indignation of the people of Chicago in the campaign, after his assassination and before the funeral, those who had profited politically by his assassination endeavored to prevent his funeral in the church in the hope that by blackening his reputation they would avoid the moral responsibility in the minds of the public for his death.

"The officials of the church made an investigation, found the charges were groundless and the funeral was held as stated.

Widow's Letter Recalled.

"Mrs. Esposito in her letter which was published on Tuesday stated that Senator McCormick telegraphed an invitation to her husband to come and visit him at his country home. She said, 'Senator McCormick and his wife made my husband welcome in their home in 1923 when they were trying to induce Mr. Esposito to desert Senator Deneen and support her husband for renomination.'

"The only answer of Mrs. McCormick is 'that the Espositos never were guests in my home as indicated in the letter sent out from Deneen headquarters,' but it is not denied by Mrs. McCormick that Mr. Esposito was a visitor at their home, nor that his support was solicited by her husband."

"Disappointed" About Elmore.

Taking up the Elmore matter Senator Deneen remarked he finds "disappointment" to see Mr. Elmore "being used by the Crowe-Galpin-Snow leaders. The senator said:

"I notice that one of Mr. Elmore's candidates has been marked on the sample ballot by the Crowe-Galpin-Snow leaders for support and have been informed that other of his candidates are to be recommended by the same leaders. In return, Mr. Elmore gives out an interview in which he claims all of the credit for the management of the sanitary district affairs since his election.

"The management of the district is conducted by the majority of the members. No one trustee can do anything alone. Mrs. McCormick has repeated often and adopted the complaints of the Crowe-Galpin-Snow organization about the reorganization of the sanitary district. In answer thereto I have stated that there are nine members of the board of sanitary district trustees.

The Sanitary Reorganization.

"Five of them were Republicans and four were under investigation and were subsequently indicted. There were four Democrats, and two of them were under investigation and were subsequently indicted. The facts upon which the indictments were based were familiar to the public at the time the board was reorganized. I favored a reorganization under the leadership of three trustees that were not under investigation, on condition that the pledges made by our group in the primary campaign and at the election should be fulfilled.

"Mr. Elmore states that the organization has fulfilled them. If so, this has been done by the alleged bipartisan organization about which Mrs. McCormick and her friends so incessantly complain. Mr. Elmore omits to give any credit to Mr. Woodhull, the chairman of the finance committee, or others for what has been done.

Points to His Ticket.

"I have done everything in my power to assist in the reorganizing of the sanitary district on a business basis. Our candidates for trustees were named by a committee of representative business men who are active leaders in 27 of the prominent civic organizations of Chicago. Their recommendations were accepted by our group and we are doing everything within our power for their nomination.

"It has been a long time since men of such character, ability, and standing in the community have been named for trustees of the sanitary district. Mr. Elmore has had no previous experience in politics and it is a disappointment to me to see how he is being used by the Crowe-Galpin-Snow leaders. One would think that he would have welcomed as members of the board such men as Messrs. George B. McKibbin, Fletcher M. Dubin, Joshua D'Esposito, Ayres Boal, and Charles M. Moderwell."

Litsinger Talks Hormones.

A recent New York dispatch announcing that scientists have found that hormones are effective in vitalizing the human system, was read by Edward R. Litsinger at the Grand Opera house as preamble for a sketch entitled "Pepping Up the Old Roosters, Morrie, Bob and Homer."

"Eller, Crowe and Galpin," he said, "were supposed to be buried two years ago beyond hope of resurrection. In this campaign they have a hope of being revitalized politically. These poor old spavined politicians are the hormone candidates for political restoration."

Deneen headquarters in putting out the letter to Judge Trude by Mrs. McCormick said: "The letter was dug out of the archives as a self-explanatory comment upon Mrs. McCormick's claim of remoteness from local factional affairs and city hall politics."

Empress Who Traced Ancestry to Queen of Sheba Dies

Empress of Ethiopia, Kin of Wise King Solomon, Dies

ADDIS ABABA, Abyssinia, April 3.—(AP)—The Empress Zauditu, co-ruler of Abyssinia and descendant of a line that traced its ancestry to King Solomon and the Queen of Sheba, died here yesterday. She was about 54 years old.

She was the daughter of the Emperor Menelik II., who died in 1913, and succeeded her nephew Lij Yasu, dethroned in 1916. Her successor is the Ras Taffari Makonnen, great nephew of Menelik, who has been the real ruler of the country for several years.

POEM DESCRIBES DESCENT.

Empress Zauditu of Abyssinia, who died yesterday at Addis Ababa, was born in 1876, and was the daughter of Emperor Menelik. Her father, who was proud of his ancestry, called himself the "Conquering Lion of the Tribe of Judah, Menelik, appointed of God, Negus of Shoa and Nagus Nagasti [king of kings] of Ethiopia."

The basis for the claim of the empress that she was descended from King Solomon and the queen of Sheba is a book from the chronicles of "Ferth Nagas" (Glory of the Kings), which is reputed to have been started as a poem when the world began, and to have become a history of the Ethiopians.

Dynasty Owns Chronicle.

Queen Magda of Sheba, according to the "Ferth Nagast," which is still a cherished possession of the royal family, heard of the wisdom of King Solomon. She, out of curiosity and admiration, paid him a visit, and was received with kingly honors at the court of Israel. For six months she enjoyed the hospitality of Solomon, sitting at his feet, listening to his words of wisdom, and enjoying court life generally. When she left for Ethiopia, Solomon gave her many gifts and souvenirs.

Five days and nine months after Queen Magda of Sheba returned home, the chronicle goes on, she gave birth to a son, whom she called "Son of the Wise Man."

Son Visits King Solomon.

The "Son of the Wise Man" even paid a visit to Solomon, who was pleased with his son to the extent of acknowledging him and offering him, according to the chronicle, half of the throne of Israel. This the young man refused.

The son of Queen Magda then returned home, accompanied by priests from Solomon's temple. These priests, knowing of the power of the "ark of the covenant," stole it and carried it back to Ethiopia.

From this "Son of the Wise Man" the reigning royal family claims descent, and to prove its authenticity has this book telling of the glories of a long line of illustrious kings.

JAILED BURGLAR IS SENT CIGARS BY RICH VICTIM

New York, April 3.—[Special.]—Sherman Ewing, millionaire lawyer, remembered a nice gentlemanly burglar today in an equally nice and gentlemanly fashion. He sent him $15 and a box of cigars to the Tombs prison.

The prisoner was Julius Johnstone, a 6 foot Negro, who was indicted today for burglarizing the Ewing home on East 88th street and carrying off $14,000 worth of jewelry.

When Johnstone entered the Ewing apartment on March 6 he told the lawyer and his wife not to be frightened, and left the room quietly after filling his pockets.

RECOVERY AFTER SUICIDE ATTEMPT.

La Salle, Ill., April 3.—[Special.]—Mrs. Arthur Hauser, Clinton, Ia., is recovering from an attempt at suicide afted drinking the contents of an iodine bottle while in Mendota. It is said she took the poison after relatives caused her young husband to leave her.

BRITAIN, JAPAN, AND AMERICA REACH ACCORD

Agree on Three-Power Naval Deal.

Minister Briand and handed to Arthur Henderson, secretary of state for foreign affairs, states:

"In cases analagous with this provided annex of the Locarno treaty, and after the conditions, provided for by article 11 of the covenant of the league of nations, shall have been fulfilled, the obligations provided for by paragraph two of article 11 shall be carried out by Great Britain without restriction."

Refers to Economic Blockade.

This refers to an economic and financial blockade by all signatories against an aggressor state, and preparations for military measures to be used by the combined members of the league, including land, sea, and air forces. However, such action can be taken only by the unanimous agreement of the league council, in which Great Britain holds a permanent seat, so her veto can always block any recourse to force of arms and safeguard England's liberty of action.

Prime Minister MacDonald is reluctant to accept this formula until he obtains from M. Briand definitive figures, indicating how much France's naval requirements will be reduced in return. Tentative conversations on this subject between the French and English experts have made no progress thus far and the Paris representatives are hinting a general percentage of reduction, affecting all powers taking part in the conference is the sole solution.

The British point out that France, alone and independently, should accept a reduction in figures as the price for a security pact, but these suggestions were rejected. The British tonight notified the French they would present a formula of their own tomorrow, involving certain changes in the French proposals.

ANGLO-FRENCH ROW

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 3.—In spite of the renewed optimism in naval conference circles today following the agreement between the American, British and Japanese delegations, all seems not to be going well in search of an Anglo-French formula to satisfy the demand of Paris for a security pact. There were no meetings today between Arthur Henderson, secretary of state for foreign affairs, and the French foreign minister, Aristide Briand, the official reason being because Mr. Henderson was occupied with the Anglo-Egyptain conference.

M. Briand's visit to Secretary of State Stimson today is said to have been part of an effort to induce the Americans to bring pressure on Prime Minister MacDonald to agree to a security formula which will satisfy France. M. Briand is quoted as declaring that nothing has been offered yet which would justify him in reducing a single ton in his claims for the French navy. The British also are trying to bring the French and Italians together, and a meeting was held at St. James's palace between Mr. MacDonald, Mr. Henderson, and Dino Grandi, Italian foreign minister.

Italy Shows Opposition.

Sig. Grandi told Mr. MacDonald bluntly there would be no five-power treaty unless Italy was granted parity with France. He added the Italians were firmly opposed to proposals for defining and interpreting article 16 of the league of nations covenant to break the deadlock.

A report was circulated today that a proposal is under consideration for a two weeks' parley adjournment after next Friday.

CENSUS LISTS 260,000 NAMES ON SECOND DAY

Chicago's 3,000 census enumerators reported good progress yesterday, adding about 260,000 names to Wednesday's total of 215,000. Chairman J. E. Vesely of the census advisory committee estimates that 85,000 homes have been visited in the first two days.

The enumerators still find some housewives are far from being "census-conscious." Lack of coöperation continued to express itself in some instances by closed door, front step, and back door enumerations, a restive desire to avoid giving correct ages, and some cases necessitating police power to aid the harassed enumerators.

On the west side Enumerator William Rayman, 1554 South Homan avenue, found himself forced to accompany a suspicious man to the Fillmore street police station where the man submitted to questioning under the watchful eyes of a desk sergeant. Commissioner of Police Russell issued an order during the day calling upon the police to extend every aid to the census takers.

Sudden Illness Forces Tardieu to Quit Work

PARIS, April 3.—(AP)—Premier Andre Tardieu was forced to leave a committee meeting today when he was taken suddenly ill with indigestion. He had to be assisted to an automobile and taken to the hotel where he lives.

The premier is likely to be around by Sunday.

VANDALS DAMAGE HEADQUARTERS OF T. O. WALLACE

The headquarters of Circuit Clerk Thomas O. Wallace, candidate for reelection as ward committeeman of the Forty-fourth ward, and Herbert W. Auw, Brundage candidate for state senator in the Thirty-fifth district, were damaged about 2 o'clock yesterday morning.

A "Stop Thompsonism Now!" sign attached to Auw's sign was torn from the front of the building, a glass panel in the door was broken, and the furniture, equipment, and mail matter in the headquarters were overturned and scattered around the floor.

"A neighbor's call for the police," said Wallace, "sent the hoodlums out the rear way. The police now are trying to cover up the offenders by saying this damage was the work of one man, Matthew Muenger, whom they charged with drunkenness. I went to see the man. He was not drunk. He said he was for Thompson."

GAS BLAST JARS BROADWAY LIKE SHELLS; 6 HURT

Office Workers Routed, Traffic Tied Up.

New York, April 3.—[Special.]—Gas pent up in the maze of tunnels and conduits under Broadway, between 29th and 31st streets, burst forth at noon today in a series of explosions that threw the shopping district into turmoil, flung manhole covers high in the air, and injured six persons.

Traffic in the area was completely cut off and occupants of office buildings were routed out by police officials who feared the blasts had undermined the foundations of some of the structures.

The district bounded by 5th and 6th avenues and 29th and 32d streets was closed to vehicles and pedestrians, while emergency workers, wearing gas masks, struggled with the underground flames which followed the explosions.

Two Breaks Discovered.

It was two and one-half hours after the first blast before the flames were under control. Underneath the pavement there were occasional rumblings as small pockets of gas exploded, but they soon ceased.

Half an hour later investigators found the cause of the trouble. In a six inch gas main below 30th street they discovered two breaks. They said the pipe had parted completely in both places, so that it was possible to remove a four foot section. One of these breaks appeared to be old, the other new, apparently made this morning a few hours before the first blast.

Like an Artillery Bombardment.

For a few minutes after the first blast Broadway resembled a shelled roadway in wartime.

First to let go was a manhole at the southeast corner of Broadway and 29th street. A moment later another cover shot up at the northeast corner of the intersection. Then, periodically, there were bursts of flame and loud reports, as manhole after manhole along the street to the north exploded.

It was as though a methodical artillery officer were shelling, dropping his projectiles at 100 foot intervals.

In all, about a dozen covers were shot into the air, a few of them propelled by such force that they took along with them their heavy cast iron bases.

Phone Service Crippled.

One immediate effect of the blasts was to cripple telephone service. One thousand trunk lines, connecting offices in the midtown west side with the rest of the city, were severed. In addition 2,500 lines serving subscribers of four exchanges were cut. Phone company officials said it would be weeks before repairs were completed. In the meantime rerouting will be attempted.

The streets were crowded with men and women at the time, some of whom were struck by flying debris. Others were knocked down and hurt in the stampede for shelter which followed the blasts.

11 DEAD IN EXPLOSION

Philadelphia, Pa., April 3.—[Special.]—Explosions wiped out the lives of at least eleven persons and injured more than thirty, some of them probably fatally, caused widespread damage, shook the countryside like an earthquake over a radius of twenty miles, and reduced the plant of the Pennsylvania Fireworks Display company at Devon to heaps of charred and splintered débris shortly before 10 o'clock this morning.

Fire that followed six explosions in the factory spread to surrounding houses and threatened a section of the town of Devon before firemen, summoned from all nearby communities, had the flames under control. A number of buildings near the scene were flattened by the force of the blasts.

The number of missing persons was estimated at nine. Chief of Police George Woodward of Paoli, in charge at the scene, said that he believed many of these will be found to have been killed in the plant, which employed forty persons, most of them women.

Twelve houses situated on the old Lancaster pike opposite the fireworks plant were badly damaged. The walls of three of them were flattened as if they were cardboard.

The factory of Benjamin T. Dentner, half a mile from the wrecked plant, was partially destroyed, and sections of the roof came tumbling about the ears of the 200 persons working there.

A Pennsylvania railroad local train was passing the plant when the first of the blasts occurred. Windows in its cars were blown out and a number of passengers were cut by flying glass. The railroad company immediately halted all traffic on the line.

Aden is one of the British fortresses guarding the road to India and is located on the east side of Cape Aden, guarding the southern entrance to the Red sea. In 1839 the British East India company took possession of the town, which had been a former Turkish stronghold. The opening of the Suez canal in 1869 gave Aden an increased commercial and strategic importance. Disraeli's master stroke in buying control of the canal company from the khedive of Egypt in 1875 was soon followed by the fortification of Aden, making it a Gibraltar of the east and further assuring Britain's domination of the canal. For trade Aden is a free port. The harbor is commodious and does a large trade in coal and the shipment of Arabian coffee.

The writer of the letter, Corporal Jack Henderson, signal section of the British army, is doing his part in making the route to India secure.

HEN STILL ALIVE AFTER 8 MONTHS IN HAYMOW TOMB

East Killingsley, Conn., April 3.—[Special.]—Otis Chase, a farmer near here, digging into the lower strata of his haymow to get feed for his stock, today dug up a hen from the bottom of a heap of hay where it had apparently lain alive for more than eight months, since the middle of the haying season last summer. Chase said that the fowl must have been buried when the hay wagons were emptied into the mow.

Chase and his neighbors believe the hen kept alive on hayseed, but where its drinking water came from is beyond conjecture.

ROB SECRETARY TO INSULL; LOOT IS $5,000 SILVER

The police last night were still searching for thieves who on Wednesday ransacked the six room apartment of Mrs. Ida Jorgensen at 73 East Elm street and obtained silver valued at more than $5,000. Mrs. Jorgensen, a private secretary to Samuel Insull, utilities magnate, discovered the theft when she arose yesterday morning.

"I had prepared my furniture to move to another apartment at 1210 Astor street," Mrs. Jorgensen, who is a widow, explained to the Chicago avenue police. "My house was all topsy turvy and I guess that's the reason I didn't discover the silver was gone when I got home at midnight Wednesday."

Entrance to the flat was gained by jimmying the back door, the police discovered. Chief among the stolen articles was a 150 piece silver set. Various other silver articles, as well as several pieces of jewelry, were taken. Mrs. Jorgensen resides with her two sons, Thomas and Robert.

CORNELIUS SAYS CROWE IS ISSUE IN REVIEW RACE

Calls Swissler a Mask for Ex-Prosecutor.

BY PARKE BROWN.

J. F. Cornelius, Deneen candidate, told massmeetings in Summit and Cicero last night that his real opponent for the board of review is Robert E. Crowe, former state's attorney.

Invading the country towns, home territory of the incumbent, William H. Weber, Cornelius asserted that the race has been narrowed down to himself anda William R. Swissler, "a mere messenger boy for Bob Crowe." He asked if the voters who had ousted Crowe from the county prosecutor's office wanted to hand him the balance of power between Charles V. Barrett ad Edward R. Litsinger, the holdover members of the board of review.

His statement that the scrap is between himself and Swissler was based on the assertion that ward committeemen supposedly backing Weber have made deals with Crowe, in return for favors while he was state's attorney, to support Swissler.

He States the Question.

"The Republican primary contest for this nomination," said Cornelius, "has simmered down to the question whether Robert E. Crowe shall be permitted to place himself in a position to stage a return to political power by means of the board of review or whether I shall be nominated by those anxious to bring about a new deal in civic affairs.

"Two years ago Crowe was overwhelmed by the Cook county Republican electorate at the primary of April 10. It is now apparent that the veteran of the board of review, 'Billy' Weber, has been sidetracked by the city hall committeemen in favor of my other opponent, William Swissler. The latter is nothing more than a messenger boy for 'Bob' Crowe.

"Therefore the question arises whether the self-respecting Republicans of all factions want Robert E. Crowe on the high board of taxation in Cook county rather than Weber. The only alternative is to vote for Cornelius, the third name on the ballot for the board of review.

"The nomination of Cornelius is not merely a matter of importance to me as an individual but because of the opportunity the overburdened taxpayer will have to lighten his load."

Two Candidates Indorsed.

Two candidates for county commissioner who lost out on the Deneen ticket because they refused to abide by the decision of the organization in reference to the order in which their names appeared on the ballot were given indorsements yesterday. Charles Bostrom, former building commissioner under Mayor Thompson and a follower of Fred Lundin, was indorsed at a meeting of Swedish-Americans at the Swedish club.

The second candidate, Harry A. Newby, now a member of the county board made public an indosement signed by Silas H. Strawn, Rufus C. Dawes, Philip R. Clarke, D. F. Kelly, Brig. Gen. Abel Davis and James E. Gorman.

Negro Leaders Hit Deneen.

Negro voters declared themselves seriously offended yesterday when distribution of the Deneen marked sample ballots showed that Municipal Judge Albert B. George's name carried a cross in the wards where there is a strong Negro vote and in those sections was printed in capital letters, while in other wards the ballots carried no mark of indorsement for the Negro judge.

The colored leaders displayed copies of the Deneen ballots received by mail in various wards and made additional charges that other Negro candidates had been approved in their own wards but ignored elsewhere, and that the same treatment had been given Italians and Jewish candidates.

HARGRAVE HITS DRY LAW, CALLS IT CHIEF ISSUE

Runs for Congress on Repeal Plea.

Edward J. Hargrave, Republican candidate for congressman at large, has made prohibition the chief issue in his campaign for the nomination.

Interviewed yesterday in his office at 145 North Clark street, the office of the Edward J. Hargrave Secret Service, a national detective service, Mr. Hargrave explained why he has always been an abstainer and a temperance advocate, and still voices the demand for an end to the prohibition law.

Wrong Procedure, View.

"I am committed to the belief," Mr. Hargrave said, "that prohibition by legislation rather than by education and self-restraint is a procedure wrongfully imposed upon an intelligent people. It is most demoralizing in a great republic such as ours where, since its very inception, freedom and personal liberties have been the sacred heritage and inviolate birthright of its people.

"An abstainer all my life and an advocate of temperance, my attitude today, after years of investigation, is practically the same as that of the great majority of law enforcement officers of the nation at the present time. Due to the general breakdown of law and order throughout the country as a result of this pernicious piece of legislation, fully nine-tenths of the law enforcement officials of our country are now not only opposed to the prohibition law for practical reasons but are also thoroughly disgusted with it.

"As a law enforcement officer for the last thirty-five years, I have been retained by mayors and state's attorneys in a large number of Illinois cities and counties to clean up crime and vice conditions. I have, therefore, been in better position to study the actual workings and results of prohibition and its enforcement than those individuals who have not had the privilege of observing the bootlegger and gangster in his rendezvous.

"In many of the raids sums of money were offered to me to overlook law violations, and the offenders were quite surprised that I refused to be bribed.

"If the abolition of prohibition eliminated the corruption of existing bribery so common today that alone would justify its repeal.

"The prohibition law has caused a loss to the government of the revenue it should derive, and the cost of trying to enforce this unpopular law has increased the taxes of persons in every walk of life."

Mr. Hargrave indicated strong admiration for the Canadian liquor system, which he said had brought true temperance and an elimination of all the evils of American prohibition.

SHE THROWS BEANS; DECREE.

Kurt Junge, a plumber, 1108 West Grand avenue, yesterday filed a bill for divorce in the Superior court. He charges that his wife, Elva, threw knives and forks at him during an evening meal and so scared him that he did not dare go to bed, and then poured a dish of beans over him.

BROWN FAVORS 2½ CENT POSTAL RATE ON LETTERS

New York, April 3.—(AP)—Postmaster General Walter F. Brown, speaking tonight at a meeting of the Bronx board of trade, advocated increasing the rate on first class mail to 2½ cents to eradicate the $50,000,000 deficit in his department.

"Like any other properly managed public utility, it should conduct its operations without financial loss; that is to say, its rates of charge to the public should be adjusted so as to provide an income sufficient in the aggregate to pay the cost of all its services," he said.

The present rate on first class mail, he said, has been in effect since 1885, except during a brief period during the war with Germany.

Mr. Brown touched on the department's present building program, which he said in the next ten years would provide every city in the country which has annual postal receipts in excess of $20,000 with a "suitable federal building."

NAMES FORGED TO JURY CHECKS, QUIZ REVEALS

Four men in whose names jurors' checks were issued and cashed told the grand jury yesterday that they had not served, as indicated, on a jury in the Criminal court and that their names were forged to the checks.

Frank Bollin, former court clerk, and James McLaughlin, a bailiff, have been indicted along with five other men for alleged padding of the jury lists. The men who testified yesterday are Eugene L. Wagner, 909 Wilson avenue; Herman J. Druffel, 4031 Patterson street; William Blum, 3020 South Canal street, and Earl F. Paulson, 547 North Kedzie avenue. Paulson was called for service in September, 1928, and Assistant State's Attorney John Leonard Murphy said that his testimony indicates that the jury padding has been going on for several years.

It is surely a wonderful Face Powder.

MEN TAKE BACK SEAT IN WOMEN'S POLITICAL RALLY

But They Manage to Get the Last Words.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

Democratic men candidates got in the last words yesterday at the women's meeting at the Apollo theater. Mrs. Charles M. Conkey, Democratic national committeewoman, managed to save the situation for the ladies, however, when, in the capacity of chairman, she banged down the gavel and adjourned the gathering—a capacity audience of enthusiastic feminine party workers.

The women had come to meet and cheer their quartet of candidates for positions on the board of county commissioners, comprising Mrs. Glenn E. Plumb, Miss Amelia Sears, and Miss Mary McEnerney in the city and Mrs. E. J. Fleming in the country towns. They remained to hear and cheer the bell sheep of the Democratic fold—Michael L. Igoe, Tony Cermak, Robert Switzer, and Clayton Smith—who paid the meeting the compliment of "crashing the gate" for the privilege of addressing the women voters. These and other party nominees were presented by Mrs. Conkey under the auspices of the Illinois Women's Democratic club.

"To the Ladies."

"To the ladies" is more than a passing phrase in the present primary skirmish, for an even thirty nominees complete the list of women campaigning for political favor and public office in Illinois. Ruth Hanna McCormick, who has set the United States senate as her goal, makes a thirty-first, on the Republican side of the fence.

Mrs. Eva B. Batterton of Springfield, formerly superintendent of schools in Manard county, is a Democratic candidate for superintendent of public instruction of the state. She has no opposition in the primaries.

State senatorships are being sought by Mrs. Lottie Holman O'Neil of Downers Grove, who is completing her fourth term in the house of representatives at Springfield; and by Mrs. Ida B. Wells-Barnett, a well known colored woman of Chicago, both of whom are Republicans. Mrs. O'Neil is waging a lively battle in her district, the 41st, against the incumbent, Richard J. Barr of Joliet. Mrs. Wells-Barnett is opposing a colored man, Adelbert H. Roberts.

Eighteen women from the various districts have centered their hopes on winning a place in the lower house at Springfield. Three out of nine nominees in the Fifth district are women—Miss Josephine Perry, Mrs. Georgia Jones Ellis, and Mrs. Mary C. Clarke, all of whom are in the G. O. P. primary lists.

Mollie L. Baruch, Republican, is a nominee in the Sixth district, with Mary Marnell as an opponent on the Democratic side.

Mrs. Anna Wilmarth Ickes of Winnetka, for years prominent in club circles of Chicago, is the only woman in a slate of 21 Republican and Democratic nominees in the 7th district. Mrs. Ickes has the advantage of a wide acquaintance and the experience of one term in the house.

Mrs. Grace F. Bairstow of Waukegan carries the banner of the grand old party in the 8th district, which comprises Lake, McHenry, and Boone counties.

Three Women Run Here.

Interest in the 14th district competition is unavoidable in view of the fact that three women are striving for the three places to be filled there, while two men now sitting are also candidates. Mrs. Marie R. Hoar of Elgin, wife of the former representative, Ralph Hoar, hopes to replace the family name on the house roll call. Mrs. May R. Simpson of Aurora and Mrs. Mary Etta Hoadley of Yorkville, formerly president of the Federation of Women's Clubs of the 12th congressional district, are the other aspirants.

Isabel C. Amerson stands alone in the Republican ranks of the 21st district, opposed by sixteen men in her own party and two in the Democratic. Vera F. Busse, Republican, is the lone woman nominee in the 23d.

Mrs. Rena Elrod, who is on the last lap of her third term in the house of representatives, is asking renomination in the 25th district. Elsie Boehm is of the same district and party [Republican] and also hopes for the nomination.

Lillian Marie Noonan is a G. O. P. nominee in the Twenty-seventh district. Two Democratic women, Mrs. Sarah Bond Hanley of Monmouth, who who has spent two terms at Springfield, and Miss Mary Davidson of Carthage, vehement newspaper publisher of that community, oppose each other in the Thirty-second district. Mrs. Mary McCowan Adams of Quincy, a Democratic nominee with two terms to her credit, is asking to be returned to office from the Thirty-sixth district.

Democratic women candidates for county offices have already been named. Republican women seeking the same offices include Mrs. Emma Martini, who hopes for nomination as president of the board on the Republican ticket; Mrs. Judith W. Loewenthal in the city and Mrs. Gertrude Leiber in the country towns, Mrs. Helen G. Mehrl on the Deneen ticket and Mrs. Donald I. Graham on the independent ticket. Ten commissioners will be elected in the city and five in the country towns.

OSCAR DE PRIEST RAPS SWANSON IN SLAUGHTER CASE

Congressman Oscar De Priest last night told an audience in the 42d ward that State's Attorney Swanson had been "continuaHy negligent" of his duty in the Slaughter slaying case. The colored congressman spoke at a massmeeting at the Wayman Methodist church, Milton avenue and Elm street. About 500 persons, mostly Negroes, attended.

"Through the continual negligence of the state's attorney it took three weeks to have John Pampinella, identified by several witnesses, held for grand jury action for the murder of Slaughter," said De Priest. "The state's attorney persisted in calling the murder of the Rev. Mr. Slaughter 'only an ordinary case.' Could it be possible that the state's attorney was influenced by the fact that the accused man belonged to the state's attorney's political faction, the Deneen faction."

Slaughter, a Thompson worker in the 42d ward, was found dying in an alley near his polling place on March 11, registration day.

HURLEY URGES U. S. TAKE OVER STATE SHIPWAY

Asks Congress to Put Up $7,500,000 for Work.

a potential tonnage amounting to 7,500,000 tons annually would probably use this waterway if it were complete, and that to obtain such a link connecting the extensive federal waterway systems of the great lakes and the Mississippi valley the United States would be justified in expending $7,500,000 which he estimates to be the amount to be required for the completion of the canal after the state has expended the whole of its $20,000,000. He states that the waterway is in general well designed and well suited to serve its intended purpose except that he believes that a depth of nine feet should be provided and the small amount of additional dredging to provide such a depth, even if the flow at Lockport is reduced to 1,000 cubic feet per second has been included in his estimate."

Must Be Free Waterway.

Gen. Brown recommended an appropriation of $7,500,000 for completion of the waterway in general accordance with the present plans of the state of Illinois and $223,000 annually for maintenance. Provisos proposed are that the project be a navigable waterway forever free to the public use of all, that the state of Illinois proceed, subject to the supervision and approval of all expenditures by the secretary of war, to construct highway bridges at Brandon Road and the Marseilles canal, to make necessary alterations in other highway bridges across the Illinois waterway and to do such other work as the secretary of war shall direct and the available funds of the state make possible.

The bridges would not become the property of the United States and no obligation would be incurred by the government for their maintenance. The state would build the bridges from the balance of the $20,000,000 bond issue.

Provide for Improvement.

Attorney General Mitchell in his opinion held that the powers of the United States "are limited to those which it may exercise under the constitution without the consent of the state." With respect to these parts of the waterway which are navigable streams improved by the state he held that "the powers are plenary and without any amendment to the constitution of Illinois or any permission from the state the United States under appropriate acts of congress may take complete control over the improvement of navigation and its regulation and provide for and insure to the public perpetual free navigation."

Attorney General Mitchell said that "as to those parts of the waterway which are entirely artificial congress may provide for improvement and control of navigation and for the regulation and control thereof, so as to insure to the public the right of navigation, and to take such action as may be necessary to prevent interference with or obstruction to navigation, but probably subject to the qualification that without the consent of the state it cannot be deprived of reasonable compensation for the use of its property."

The last clause in this opinion furnished one of the complications in the situation. The Illinois spokesmen insisted that the state would not seek any compensation, as suggested.

Gov. Emmerson, in his letter addressed to the secretary of war, said that originally it was contemplated that the $20,000,000 state bond issue would be retired from revenue from the sale or lease of power.

"It has long since become apparent that this hope could not be realized," said Gov. Emmerson. "It is quite evident now that, with diversion limited to the necessary requirements of navigation, power development on the waterway will provide little if any power beyond the requirements of the government to operate the locks and works in the waterway."

Hand-Tailored Coats with Muscle conforming Front Exclusive with Foreman & Clark—America's Largest Manufacturers & Retailers

FROM coat collar to trouser tip, every Foreman & Clark garment is an example of the most progressive methods of modern manufacturing and hand-tailoring. And outstanding above all is the exclusive Foreman & Clark INNER COAT FRONT. Here are the features that strikingly demonstrate the expensive hand-tailoring and fine tested materials:

HERE Are Some of the Exclusive Foreman & Clark Features—Ask Any Tailor What It Would Cost to Duplicate Them —Yet

55c IS THE FOREMAN & CLARK PROFIT

1 A suit simply can't hang well if the collar isn't right. Every Foreman & Clark collar is hand-sewn, hand-set, backed with genuine silver-hymo, triple-stitched and finished to perfection.

2 Again the painstaking hand-needling and expert patterning that is found throughout Foreman & Clark clothes passes the most rigid examination. Concave cut instead of straight.

3 Because they are hand-shaped and draped, Foreman & Clark sleeves are equal to any trial you can put them to.

4 No amount of vigorous arm movement affects the famous Foreman & Clark Inner Coat Front. Strong with the strength of genuine silver-hymo, firm with the firmness of fine Belgian linen.

5 Then for the pockets. Doubly re-enforced and attached to the inner-front, you can rest assured that they won't bulge, rip or sag from the rigors of every-day wear.

6 The button-holes are hand-sewn and the buttons permanently and perfectly placed. Hand-made button-holes are a small item but indicate the careful manner in which even the smallest details are watched in Foreman & Clark garments.

7 Note how the skirt of the coat holds to the hips. The combination edge and skirt stay are costly to tailor but Foreman & Clark clothes are made to wear and fit.

SERVICE-AFTER-PURCHASE

Guaranteed for the Life of Every Foreman & Clark Garment

We sponge, press and minor repair any Foreman & Clark garment just as long and just as often as you desire, with absolutely no charge.

And it's yours to commend from any of the Foreman & Clark Coast to Coast Stores—we urge you to use it—no matter in what Foreman & Clark store you originally made your purchase.

This service, of course, is an extraordinary offer. But, Foreman & Clark will always go the full route of service. It's an investment in good will for us—of good appearance for you.

U.S. LINKS CAPONE TO $100,000 IN CASH TRANSFERS

Telegrams Give Clews to Income Tax Probe.

Federal investigators, after months of scrutinizing traces of Scarface Al Capone's reputedly large income from his vice and liquor interests with a view to indicting him for nonpayment of income taxes, at last have found something tangible—Western Union telegraph records of the circulation of some $100,000.

Telegraphic money orders ranging in amounts from $50 to $10,000, it was disclosed yesterday, were received and sent by Capone, members of his family and of his gang. These records are accessible to the government and to the federal grand jury. United States Attorney Johnson refused to comment on this evidence, but it is recalled that his drive against gangsters and politicians with the income tax weapon already has resulted in the indictment of Ralph Capone, brother of Al, and of Frank Nitti, reputed treasurer of the gang.

Telegraph Records Found.

The name Albert Costa appears frequently in the telegraphic records, and internal revenue authorities believe this was an alias for Capone, although his own name appears in several instances. The dispatches, sent during 1928, were as follows:

R. Barton to A. Costa, three orders, $3,000.

Charles Fischetti [cousin and former bodyguard of Al] to A. Costa, three orders, $4,500.

George Howlett [Chicagoan, once indicted as a beer runner in Wisconsin] to A. Costa, $1,000.

Charles Fischetti to A. Costa, five orders, $3,400.

To Friend of Capone.

A. Costa to Parker Henderson [Miami, Fla., friend of Capone, whose name appeared in the investigation of the killing of Frank Uale], two orders, $7,000.

P. A. Henderson Jr. to Mrs. P. A. Henderson, $1,000.

J. Carisco to Al Capone, $2,000.

Sam Busick to Al Capone, $1,500.

Bob Barton to Al Capone, four orders, $400.

Bob Barton to Mrs. Mae Capone, $1,600.

Joe Sacione to Matthew Capone [brother of Al], $20.

Rocco Fischetti to Mrs. May Capone, $1,000.

Joe Cocione to Albert Capone, $100.

Tony Ach, Melrose Park, to Parker Henderson, $500.

Charles Fischetti to Albert Costa, $1,500.

R. Barton to Albert Costa, $1,000.

Tony Ach to Parker Henderson, $1,000.

Charles Fischetti to Albert Costa, seven orders, $7,000.

Ralph Capone [brother of Al] to Albert Costa, $5,000.

A. Costa to Parker Henderson, ten orders, $13,000.

Frank Rao to Albert Costa, $1,000.

Eleven orders from various persons to Albert Capone, totaling $8,150.

Twenty-three other orders of from $50 to $800 each, totaling $9,200, and fifteen more for from $400 to $2,000 each, amounting to $15,000.

JURY RETURNS OPEN VERDICT IN GIRL'S DEATH

The coroner's jury investigating the death of Mary Portuguese, 21 years old, who was found shot dead in her home at 900 Sibley street on March 25, concluded its inquest yesterday without fixing responsibility for the shooting. The verdict said that the young woman had been shot and killed and did not state whether she had committed suicide or had been murdered.

The dead woman's brother, Joseph Portuguese, who has been held by the police on a murder charge since the day following the shooting, is to be arraigned today in the Boys' court. Portuguese, when first arrested by the Maxwell street police, signed a statement confessing that he shot his sister, but he later repudiated the confession at the first session of the inquest, declaring that the police had forced him to sign the statement.

Col. Calvin Goddard, ballistics expert, reported that the empty cartridge and lead fragments found near the girl's body had been fired in a pistol which Portuguese admitted hiding in a tool chest. J. Fordyce Wood, handwriting expert, said in a report read at the inquest that the supposed suicide note did not correspond with several samples of the girl's handwriting.

SIGNS TO CARRY "BUILD NOW" CRY TO ALL CHICAGO

Insull Interests Launch Prosperity Move.

BY AL CHASE.

Between 10 o'clock tonight and 6 a. m. tomorrow Chicago is to be placarded, postered, and bannered with slogans based on the key words, "Build for Prosperity." Thousands of placards are to be placed in "L" and suburban trains and surface cars; hundreds of banners are to be flung across streets at strategic points in the loop and outlying business centers, and thousands of smaller suggestions that now is the time to build will be posted.

This was decided upon at a luncheon given at the Palmer house yesterday by the Insull interests, at which representatives of 230 neighborhood and civic organizations from all parts of Chicago were present. Hal Lytle, vice president of the Chicago Rapid Transit lines, host at the luncheon, turned over the chairmanship to Mark Shanks, president of the Chicago West Town Chamber of Commerce.

Plan Newspaper Campaign.

But prior to Mr. Lytle relinquishing his position to Mr. Shanks he stated that in addition to the placarding of Chicago with the "Build for Prosperity" slogans, the Insull interests contemplated an extensive newspaper advertising campaign urging the necessity of more construction work in order to help speed prosperity.

The city-wide "build for prosperity" campaign, although fostered and financed by the Insull interests, will be backed by the several hundred business and civic organizations throughout the city. In each neighborhood the local business body will inscribe its name below the slogan which will dominate the most important intersections of that district.

Tell of Uptown Banner.

For instance, at one of the most strategic business centers on the north side the following thirty foot banner will greet the early risers tomorrow morning: "Build for Prosperity—Today—A Home Builders' Market—Build Now." It will be signed by the Uptown Chamber of Commerce.

A somewhat similar slogan, perhaps the same one, will bear the signature of the South Side Chamber of Commerce at one of the most important south side business centers, and the West Side Chamber of Commerce and other bodies will indorse spectacular banners hung across various intersections throughout the west side.

Will Hang Loop Banners.

There'll be thirty-four huge banners stretching across loop thoroughfares urging more building. This, it is claimed, will be the first time outlying organizations have had banners over the downtown streets.

Howard Taylor of the South Town Chamber of Commerce, John F. Bowers of the Uptown Chamber of Commerce, B. J. Mullaney, vice president of the Peoples Gas company, and Patrick Sullivan, president of the Chicago Building Trades council, were among the speakers at the luncheon.

Mr. Sullivan said 75,000 out of the 110,000 members of the trades council were out of work. On the other hand, Mr. Mullaney sounded an optimistic note by saying the tide was turning and general business was on the upturn. He said his company's program for expenditures of $10,000,000 during 1930 was based on the prediction that business is coming back.

DIES OF CRASH INJURIES.

Pineville, Ky., April 3.—(AP)—Alfred Larkin of Chicago died today from injuries suffered in an automobile accident.

SENATE TO TAKE UP BILLS TO CUT UNEMPLOYMENT

Washington, D. C., April 3.—(AP)—Legislative remedies for unemployment, including a stabilization agency with authorization for a $150,000,000 federal appropriation, were slated today for final discussion on the floor of the senate on Tuesday, April 15.

The senate agreed to take up the measures by Senator Wagner [Dem., N. Y.] after its commerce committee had approved them.

The committee action followed intensive investigation of present conditions by a subcommittee that heard William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and others identified with labor paint dismal pictures of the existing situation.

Witnesses unanimously indorsed the three Wagner measures. These would expand government machinery for collecting unemployment information. Provision would be made that on the basis of this information a federal stabilization board could accelerate or retard public construction to meet changing conditions.

Seek Identity of Body of Woman Found in Lake

Police last night were attempting to establish the identification of a well dressed woman whose body was taken from Lake Michigan opposite Lawrence avenue. The woman was about 50 years old and wore a black chinchilla coat, a brown dress, and brown pumps and stockings. In her right hand she clutched a pair of horn rimmed glasses. The body had been in the water less than twenty-four hours, police believe.

STALIN FORTIFIES FARM PLAN WITH PEASANT GRANTS

Defends Policies in 10,000 Word Broadside.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, April 3.—Dictator Joseph V. Stalin of Russia fired another broadside into the ranks of the opposition group of the communist party in a 10,000 word defense of his policies published in the Moscow government newspapers. The broadside reveals that the fight behind the walls of the Moscow Kremlin continues.

At the same time as he made his monumental defense of the collective farm plan Stalin issued a decree calculated to induce lukewarm peasants to work with the soviet government in order to obtain tax exemptions.

Vows End of Kulaks.

The dictator further announces that the halt he recently called against further liquidation of peasant farms, persecution of religion, and legalization of petty private trade, was only a temporary pause in the Communist party's firm decision to completely exterminate the Kulaks, the wealthier classes of Russian peasanty, and introduce pure communism into the villages.

Stalin's article and the grants made today to the peasants by decree reveal that the therat of famine is hanging over Russia and that the dissensions within the ranks of the Communist party are continuing to widen. Thus far Stalin's censorship has prevented the opposition groups from using the press to explain their views.

List Grants to Peasants.

MOSCOW, April 3.—(AP)—The government today announced a number of sweeping concessions to peasants who remain loyal to the collective farm movement or return to the collective farms following recent exodus which resulted from the new policy to appease them.

The privileges which are intended to save the government's monumental agricultural collectivization scheme from any possibility of failure, include:

1. Exemption from taxation, for a period of two years, of all cattle, horses, hogs and poultry belonging both to individual farmers and members of the collective farms.
2. Postponment until the end of the harvest of all outstanding debts of collective farmers.
3. Cancellation of all fines and court judgments imposed upon such farmers before April 1 for failure to carry out the government's agriculture plans.
4. Extension of credit by the government of 500,000,000 rubles (about $250,000,000) to the collective farmers.

The Jewish Telegraphic agency reports that the atheist society, the League of the Godless, today issued an order forbidding the use of compulsion during the anti-Passover campaign for converts.

The order says that no house to house collection of candlesticks, praying shawls, or phylacteries should take place during Passover, and that the delivery of such articles should be of an absolutely voluntary nature.

Boy, 11, Crushed to Death in Fall from Sewer Pipe

Charles Roeske, 11 years old, one of the 12 children of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Roeske, was prancing on a pyramid of sewer pipe last evening near his home, 1652 Edgewater avenue, when he lost footing and tumbled to the curb. A section of the pipe, rolling after him, struck and crushed his head against the curb, inflicting injuries which resulted in his death within a few minutes.

Frock Sizes 34 to 40 $49.50

A Smart Woman Might Play It Like This . . .

She takes a tailored chiffon frock—(everybody in Paris is raving about chiffon "gone tailored" for daytime wear!) . . in black, with a bit of a belt—many a tuck—and a dash of white mousseline de soie for contrast (it's just $49.50).

It takes a coat with revers (perhaps because it ripples back to show the frock's bow!)—and it's black, too—of Telga cloth, a woolly crepe, with galyak fur trimming (and it's $95) . .

Mandel's—Fourth Floor.

They both take a BAKU HAT—that has that "pushed-up look" over the left eye—and that swoops down over the right so you can't decide whether it is meant to be brimmed or not. (It's just $10).

Mandel's—Fifth Floor

They would all take Chanel's famous black faille or crepe "PETAL BAG" ($10), a creamy 3-strand necklace of *pearls (perfect with the "lingerie" neckline) ($3.95) . . black suede GLOVES—in the new six-button length ($5.50) . . and black kid PUMPS with gunmetal detail ($12.50).

She takes a black crepe frock that must have a cape (even if it's removable) and a cowl neckline and tiny cuffs of pique, of course—to say nothing of the new sewed-down pleats ($39.50).

It demands a BELTED COAT—that's terribly smart because it has moire galyak on the little roll collar and bow-tied cuffs (it's $75).

Mandel's—Fourth Floor—State.

They take a BALLIBUNTL HAT—one of the new shallow crowned cloches with a tiny satin ribbon wandering over the crown and caught with a feather . . . ($10).

Mandel's, Fifth Floor, State.

And together they speak for a calf BAG with a silver finished clasp ($5.00) . . slipon GLOVES of kid ($3.95) . . dull silver-colored earrings that peek out from the brim of the hat (and match the clasp of the bag!) ($1.95) . . they're very fussy about their hosiery being Van Raalte's new Beigine ($1.65) . . and their PUMPS dull black kid—with straps to go with the bag! ($12.50).

"Young Things" Do It This Way

They take a blue silk crepe frock with short sleeves—frilly with ruffled organdy—belted to be very slim and 1930—and all excited about its pleated skirt ($29.50).

It takes a covert COAT—with a cape that's fitted with tiny tucks to give you a broad shouldered (but not a bunchy) look! And that's fitted at the waistline—a la Patou! (It is also $29.50).

PROHIBITION IN THE SENATORIAL PRIMARIES.

Senator Deneen has the support of the Anti-Saloon league. He is a dry and voted for the Jones five and ten law, probably the most excessive single piece of federal dry legislation in recent years. To the charge that this is a savage law with its possibilities of extreme punishment for trivial offenses Mr. Deneen has replied that it was required for the enforcement of Volsteadism. In reality it substitutes the temperament of the court for justice and if the judge should have the mind and heart of a Jeffreys he can find his victims.

Mr. Wickersham, head of the law enforcement commission appointed by President Hoover, has said that the Jones law is bad because it is one of excessive penalties. The Wickersham commission has been made an instrument, not an investigator, of prohibition. A rebuke from its chairman comes from a defender of Volsteadism and thus has double weight.

This vote places Mr. Deneen among the dry extremists in the senate and will account for the Anti-Saloon league support given him. Mrs. McCormick was not in the house of representatives as congressman at large when the Jones law was passed and consequently has no record on it. She is a dry. Thus as between the two leading Republican candidates, one of whom may expect the nomination, there is not much of a difference on this question. It is probable that if Mrs. McCormick succeeded Mr. Deneen the voting on dry legislation would be about the same.

This position is unsatisfactory to citizens who observe that the injuries done American government, the American constitution, and the liberties and rights of American citizenship under it are intolerable and must cease. It has become the great question of the present moment and there are unmistakable signs that the people are being aroused to restore constitutional freedom and destroy prohibition oppression. The nomination of neither Mr. Deneen nor Mrs. McCormick will advance that cause.

If the nomination lay between Mrs. McCormick and a qualified candidate holding views on the rights of the individual more in harmony with the views of THE TRIBUNE than are those of Mrs. McCormick THE TRIBUNE would recommend the nomination of the other candidate.

As between the two candidates on this question THE TRIBUNE would make no recommendation. It does recommend Mrs. McCormick because her position on the world court is protective of American interests and because she is clearer of corrupting political alliances than is Senator Deneen. The theory that the league court or rather our adherence to it does not present an important issue in this campaign is advanced only by those who are in sympathy with the whole tendency to draw us into the political system of Europe. It is advanced either because it is hoped to put opposition to sleep or because adherence to the court does not seem to go far enough. To many of the advocates of adherence our proper course would be to join the league of nations directly and openly. But they favor entering the court as a step in the right direction. Mrs. McCormick has been consistently and persistently against our adherence to the court for reasons which she has openly and vigorously stated and which THE TRIBUNE believes to be sound. She has had the insight and courage to make it an outstanding issue of her primary campaign.

NATIONAL GUARD FOR COAST DEFENSE.

What is termed our coast defense consists mainly of fortresses and works for the protection of ports, harbors and cities. There is also a scheme of more mobile coast defense through the use of heavy artillery transported by railroad, and the coming of the airplane has broadened the whole problem of coast defense to develop a more mobile anti-aircraft defensive. The responsibility for this phase of our military organization falls upon the coast artillery, consisting at present of about 12,000 men of the regular army with certain National Guard and reserve organizations associated for training purposes.

A sound principle of defense, we think, would provide that as few as possible of the regular troops be assigned to the defense of fortresses and fixed positions. A certain number of regulars must necessarily be assigned to permanent military works like forts in peace times, as civilian soldiers cannot give the time to their care, but we think the latter should be prepared to take over coast and local defenses in any scheme of mobilization for war.

The reasons supporting such disposition of the Guard we have suggested in previous editorials. The first is that the Guard is certain to show a higher morale in this mission than elsewhere. There is no duty a citizen soldier can be depended upon to do so well as the defense of his home from an invader. This is human nature and has been illustrated in some of the most heroic pages of history. Moreover, service in the defense of fixed positions, forts and fortified places, does not require as much training and discipline as mobile operations. The National Guard, being composed of citizen volunteers who can give but a small part of their time and energy to military training, cannot be expected to reach in peace time the severe standards of preparedness of the professional soldier or be ready at once to meet the requirements of active maneuvers. The part-time soldier, high as his character, spirit, and intelligence may be, cannot have, when the call to arms comes, the physical condition, the organization, or the highly trained and practically experienced officers needed for highly mobile operations. In protected positions these requirements are obviously not so great.

Service in fortresses calls for some technical skill, but technical skill is considerable in the Guard, especially in large cities. With instruction from trained regular officers and noncommissioned officers quite efficient technical personnel could be created in the Guard coast defenses. We think, also, this service would be attractive to civilians and would encourage recruiting.

Of course, the defense of great bases like Panama and Hawaii, separated as they are from the continent, must be protected by adequate permanent forces at all times. But our own seaports and coast defenses should be defended by the National Guard of the coast states, where they will be most effective and where they will release regular troops for mobile service.

IDENTIFY STRANGE CALLERS.

It was obvious the murder of Mrs. Helsing would not fail to have its effect in the census proceedings. For a time women alone at home will be more cautious about strangers and ought to be at all times. The local census director should not resent this, as he seems to. Our own recommendation is that women be more cautious, not less, than they are, even at the expense of some official irritation or delay. Doubtless it is annoying to a quite respectable census taker to be eyed with suspicion and challenged for identification, but that is a greatly lesser evil than the possibilities of criminal impersonation. Instead of resenting the caution of women, the census authorities should try to devise the best possible means of identification.

Meanwhile the tragedy of Mrs. Helsing should emphasize the advice occasionally repeated by the police, which THE TRIBUNE has emphasized also. Women who are left alone should see that locks are efficient. The outer doors should have chains so an intruder can be prevented from forcing his way in when the door is partly opened. Any stranger calling should be kept out until his identity is satisfactorily shown, and it is better to be too cautious than not cautious enough. The Helsing crime may have been one no reasonable precaution could have avoided, but it is to be hoped nevertheless it will have some effect in directing attention to the need for caution generally.

PRISON COMPETITION IN ILLINOIS.

The secretary of the Illinois Master Plumbers' association has called attention to the fact that prison labor is to be employed in installing the plumbing in the new cell blocks to be built at Stateville and Chester. The state department of public welfare, we are informed, first advertised for bids for the construction of these buildings, but later threw them all out and determined to have the work done by convicts. For some reason a similar construction job at Pontiac is to be turned over to private contractors, as originally planned.

Under the circumstances we believe it is incumbent upon Mr. Rodney Brandon, as head of the department of public welfare, to explain the state's policy in the matter. In the absence of the explanation we hesitate to comment, but certain general remarks, we believe, may be ventured on the basis of the ex parte statement of the case by the master plumbers.

The question of prison labor is always a difficult one. Prisoners cannot be permitted to remain idle, but neither can they be permitted to compete with free men. As the thing has worked out in practice, convicts are employed for the most part in industries which for one reason or another are not attractive to free labor. The line is often hard to draw, but if there is any doubt at all it should ordinarily be resolved against a proposed prison industry. Particularly at this time of widespread unemployment doubts should be resolved in favor of the man who did not break the law and whose taxes pay for the maintenance in penitentiaries of the men unfit for freedom.

Editorial of the Day

PAGANS OF WESTERN KANSAS.

[Kansas City, Mo., Journal-Post.]

It is known that for a decade churches have been abandoned at a fast rate in some thinly settled rural districts of the United States, but it was assumed that this trend was partly due to consolidations brought about by the automobile. But it seems that in some localities the abandoned churches indicate a downright irreligious condition, not better organization, for the Rev. Leon H. Sweetland of Hays announced at the annual northwest Kansas conference of the Methodist church the discovery of an "absolute state of paganism" in the western part of the Sunflower state.

Mr. Sweetland made the astounding assertion that within fourteen miles of Hays he found an American community of prosperous farmers whose children, some of them as old as 16, had never even heard of Jesus Christ. He declared there are communities all over that part of Kansas in which similar conditions prevail.

This is a state of affairs which, if it really exists, would interest sociologists. It seemingly disproves the theory that man is inherently religious. The average Christian holds that a belief in God is necessary to make the generality of human beings well behaved. It would be interesting to compare the morality of the so-called pagans of western Kansas with the morality of religious communities.

The charges made by Mr. Sweetland are a challenge to the churches of the state. Presumably, the people he describes are not worshiping pagan gods; presumably they simply have no conception of the Deity. Therefore it would seem to be as much worth the while of the churches to send missionaries to western Kansas as it is to send them to the heathen of other continents, who, after all, do at least have gods of their own.

Who knows? Perhaps eventually Kansas City congregations will listen to returned missionaries describing their hardships among the benighted pagans of a state settled largely by the descendants of the Massachusetts Puritans.

PAINFULLY ACKNOWLEDGED.

Slathers—I understand your daughter is taking great pains with her singing.

COMMON SKIN DISEASES.

DR. HERMAN GOODMAN advises the general run of physicians to learn just ten diseases of the skin, and then to forget the nine hundred and ninety-nine other sorts and kinds, unpronounceable names and all. Should a case of skin trouble not in this group of ten come along let him send the patient to a skin specialist and go on his unfretted way. By concentrating on ten he can have a good working knowledge of how to recognize them, how to cure them, and how to prevent. If he tries to learn all skin diseases and do his other work besides he will spread out too thin to be of service to his patients or to give aid that will satisfy himself or anybody else.

These ten comprise 90 per cent of all skin troubles anyhow. If he refers the people with rarer skin troubles to specialists his services as a signpost will not be in frequent demand at that. The ten, in the order of their frequency, are given as: Eczema, acne, scabies, psoriasis, seborrhea, impetigo, urticaria, dermatitis venenata, tinea, and alopecia.

A considerable number of physicians reported that one-half of all the skin troubles they saw were due to one-half of this ten, though the physicians were not in agreement as to all of the diseases to be included in this sub-group of five, and which were to be put in the second class. Five of the ten can be rather certainly cured or prevented. A physician who knows the job and is willing to study his case closely enough can be pretty certain he can cure. He can also give advice which will prevent. These five are: Eczema, scabies, urticaria, dermatitis venenata, and tinea. Many other physicians would add impetigo to this five. As to acne, psoriasis, seborrhea, and alopecia, they would be much more reserved in their opinions.

Since what is called eczema is such a large group of diseases, and since these vary so much and have such different causes, physicians might want to divide the cases into sub-groups, feeling sure of their ground as to certain sub-groups but more cautious as to others.

MANY CAUSES AND CURES.

E. S. T. writes:

1. Recently you spoke of reverse peristalsis as a cause of belching. Will you explain just what the phrase means?
2. What causes the condition?
3. Are there any symptoms or accompanying reactions except belching?
4. How may it be overcome?

REPLY.

1. The digestive tube moves by a wormlike motion in a way to move the contents forward. In reverse peristalsis the direction of this movement is reversed.
2. Among causes are: Adhesions, obstructions, gall bladder trouble, ulcers, and possibly constipation.
3. Yes—nausea, vomiting, acidity, spitting up food or sour material.
4. In various ways—sometimes by using an enema, sometimes by taking a purge, sometimes by applying heat locally.

SALT WATER IN MORNING.

M. W. writes: Will you please tell me if drinking salt water is injurious? I drink from a quarter to a half teaspoonful in a cup of warm water each morning before breakfast, for cleansing purposes, and find it very effective.

REPLY.

The claim is made that a normal salt solution, taken as you describe, passes down the digestive tract without being absorbed, and has the desired effect without acting as an irritant, a laxative, or a purge. The solution you use is a little stronger than a normal salt solution.

LEARN TO DRINK WATER.

P. E. E. writes: I am a man of 58 years of age. Water does not seem to agree with me, so I drink, besides a little coffee and tea, ginger ale mixed with malt beer. Is this injurious to my kidneys?

REPLY.

My advice is that you learn to drink water and that you stick to that beverage.

PROBABLY IS NOT HEART.

Mrs. E. R. writes: For two or three years I have had quite often, especially in cold weather, sharp pains in one particular spot around my heart. Do you think this might be a leaking valve?

REPLY.

The probability is that this pain is in your chest wall and your heart is normal.

REQUEST FOR SEWERS.

Chicago, March 31.—[Friend of the People.]—Kindly let me know when we may expect a sewer system on 64th street between South Oak Park and Narragansett avenues. M. L.

The limits given above cover four city blocks on 64th street, three of which from Narragansett avenue west to Normandy avenue are sewered now. The fourth block from Normandy avenue to Oak Park avenue, together with four blocks on 64th street west of Oak Park avenue, are not sewered.

Without any further knowledge of the location of the property in question we can give no more definite reply. We are, however, sending direct to your correspondent a blank petition which may be returned to this office, requesting sewers in any streets where there are no sewers. T. S. FORD, Assistant chief engineer of sewers.

SETTLEMENT OF ESTATE.

Chicago, March 29.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—When the father of a family dies intestate, do the children file claims for their share? How long must the widow wait before a settlement is made? R. S.

On a person's death any one of his heirs may go into court to prove heirship and to have an administrator appointed. The estate is ordinarily settled within a year.
TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

CINDER DUMPER EXONERATED.

Chicago, March 27.—[Friend of the People.]—How does it happen that a city hall employé living in the 1500 Elmdale avenue block can violate the city ordinance by dumping ashes from his apartment building into a vacant lot adjoining his building? Others pay to have their ashes removed owing to the poor city service at present. N. R. W.

Report is made that person complained of dumped cinders on vacant lot adjoining the building and alongside his garage in order to park his automobile there. This does not interfere with any one and there should be no objection to same.
JOSEPH J. BUTLER, Deputy superintendent of streets.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

THE FOUR CENT LOOK.

Do not, dear friend, get gay with the census enumerator, or he will give you the four cent look. Do you know what it is to be looked at as though you were worth only four cents? To be looked at in a way that makes you feel you have been marked down to 37½ cents is bad enough, and to be made to feel like a plugged dime is something horrible; but wait until you force the census bird to give you the four cent look. For that's all you are to him; whether you're a millionaire or a street cleaner, he gets exactly four cents for putting down your answers to the government's questions. You may be the most important person in the world in your own estimation; you may rate a column and a half in Who's Who; you may be a name to conjure with in Wall street or the terror of the wild west side—but to the patient census bird you are just four cents. And this goes even for radio announcers, movie-talkie stars, and the cashier queens in restaurants.

INVITATION.

The woods begin to whisper, and the pipes of Pan are mellow,
There's a funny lazy-daisy feeling creeping everywhere;
Gay spring is laying down new rugs of green and blue and yellow,
Her color-scheme a riot that no modernist would dare.

The sun rides high and handsome on a half-rim trail of splendor,
The stretching prairies yawn and wake to dress for the array;
And down the cañon's sloping floors from sudden forced surrender
A million ice-free singing streams are dancing on their way.

O, shut the desk and lose the key! forget the book or story;
Come and listen to the piping of the boy without a care!
For who would be a-working when all nature is a-perking
To a winging orchestration that is featured "on

NYLEHTS.

THE TARIFF BILL started in the house and then it went to the senate. And then it went to the house. And this week it went to the senate. And then it will come back to the house, and then it will go to the senate, and then—oh, you do it yourself; we've showed you how it's played.

OH, TUT. TUT, TUT! And likewise dearie me and too bad! Here old Hank Ford's personally selected, operated, managed, and controlled little city of Dearborn, Mich., butts into the Lit. Dig.'s straw vote with the following heartbreaking results: For enforcement of the sacred 18th, 143; for modification, 201; for repeal, 234. Henry, you'd better overhaul Dearborn right away; there's sand in the carburetor, or the valve needs grinding, or something.

THE SUBJECT REQUIRES PERSONAL INVESTIGATION.

The Lit. Dig. hasn't asked us for our vote, but polling ourself yesterday we find we stand as follows: For enforcement, 0; for repeal, 1; for modification, 0. We next took a poll to find out what system we would adopt in place of the 18th amendment and find we are thoroughly in favor of the Quebec plan, where you go into a great, beautiful place that looks like a national bank and buy a bottle of beer with the dignity and impressiveness of cashing a hundred dollar check. However, the Nova Scotia or the New Brunswick plans may be good, and we are rather thinking of visiting both of these far off places this summer to make a serious and comprehensive study of the subject. Old Ed Moore said to go to Prince Edward island, but we objected, because they have an 18th amendment there like we have in the U. S. of A. "Oh, shucks," said Ed, "I had a friend who was there last summer and he said bootleggers were thicker than blackberries, and you get anything you want for the same price you would pay in Ottawa or Quebec." And then, said we, that was why we wanted to take a vacation—to get away from bootleggers and all their works, and dry snoopers and enforcement officers, and all that sickening mess, and that Prince Edward Island could turn right over and drown itself in the Atlantic ocean before we ever went near the place. But, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick—they're free countries. What's the fare up there and which way do you go?

OLD LEAVES.

Tossed by the inconstant winds
Last fall, that struck them down,
Old leaves lie heaped upon the ground,
Sere and bleak and brown.

In other springs these too were green
As sprouts that bud today,
And as the old they linger here
As spring comes up the way.

In forest aisles we'll softly tread
And gather in our arms
Old, last year's leaves whose fragrance yet
Distills such subtle charms.

As with the aged, these once were young,
And tender, sweet and new,
And underneath brown coats perhaps
A violet or two.

CLARENCE P. MILLIGAN.

LAGNIAPPE.

THE CO-EDNAS at the Uni. of Chi. have been given permission to have a smoking room of their own where they can puff cigarets all they like. Which we expect will be hailed by the W. C. T. U. girls as another crime wave in Chicago.

TWO WOMEN fought a duel with revolvers in Warsaw and plugged away at each other half a dozen times, but making no hits they kissed each other and walked happily away. Women may miss the mark when they shoot at each other, but, by gravy, when they shoot at their husbands they usually manage to fill 'em as full of holes as a sieve. Women! gosh! you can never understand 'em.

NO LAST LINE TODAY! We were profit-taking. Neither do we, but if they can get away with it in the stock market, doggoned if we don't try to put it over here every now and then.

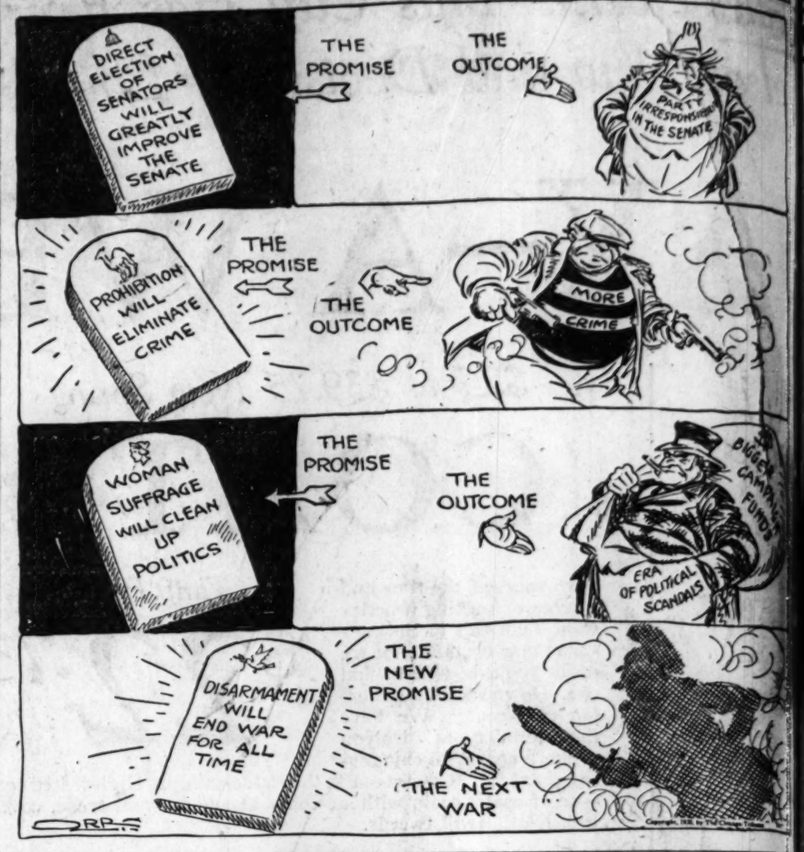
THE LAND OF PROMISE



FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 4, 1865.

WASHINGTON.—The following official confirmation of the capture of Richmond has been received in a telegram from City Point, dated April 3, quoting a dispatch from Gen. Weitzel which says: "We took Richmond at 8:15 o'clock this morning. The enemy left in great haste. The city is on fire in one place. I am making every effort to put it out. The people received us with expressions of enthusiastic joy." The City Point message also says that Gen. Grant has started toward the Danville road to cut off Gen. Lee's retreating army if possible, and that President Lincoln has gone to the front.

EDITORIAL.—The rebel citadel has fallen! Richmond is ours! The news sped through the country yesterday on the wings of lightning and lighted up the nation with a blaze of glory. Four years ago this month the rebellion was inaugurated at Charleston, in the smoke of cannon hurling shot and shell at Fort Sumter. Four years ago this month loyal men avowed eternal war on the traitors who dared to drag the Stars and Stripes in the dust. Four years ago this month the nation entered into a solemn covenant never to lay down its arms till the very nest of treason should be reached and crushed. The vow has been fulfilled. The covenant has been kept. The head and front of the rebel lion has been reached and smitten with the mailed hand of the loyal north. Of all the places hateful to God and man Richmond has been for four long years the most abhorred and detested. Not even Charleston, with all its crimes, has been so odious.

NEW YORK.—President Lincoln at 8:30 this morning [April 3] reports that Petersburg is evacuated. The Commercial's special says: "It is believed in Washington that the war is over, and that an understanding to that effect exists."

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 4, 1900.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Admiral Dewey is an avowed candidate for the presidency. He has confided to some of his most intimate friends that he is willing to run provided he finds encouragement for such a candidacy.

CHICAGO.—In a quiet election day Chicago named thirty-six aldermen. Of these the Municipal Voters' league regards twenty-two as men who can be relied on for clean legislation. Among the latter are William Hale Thompson, who defeated C. F. Gunther in the Second ward; Milton J. Foreman, Lewis D. Sitts, Albert W. Beilfuss, Walter J. Raymer, John Minwegen, Thomas Carey, Joseph Badenoch, W. F. Brennan, Ernest F. Herrmann, A. D. Williston, and William Mayor. In the Third ward "Blind Billy" Kent was reelected, but by a reduced majority.

LONDON.—That a great battle is impending east of Bloemfontein is indicated in nearly all the dispatches from the war front. Gen. French is expected to attack the Boer position at the water works at any hour. A dispatch from Cape Town says: "Gen. Cronje, Col. Shiel, and 1,000 Boer prisoners sailed for St. Helena."

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 4, 1920.

CHICAGO.—More than 1,200 city firemen handed their resignations to John F. Cullerton, manager of properties of the department. April 10 was fixed as the day for the walkout. The action came after a night of wrangling over pay increases. A conference with Mayor Thompson in the afternoon had come to naught.

CHICAGO.—William H. Lake of the stock and grain house of A. O. Slaughter & Co., and a director of the Board of Trade, who was known in all the grain markets of the country, died at his home, 1422 North State parkway, of pneumonia.

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—Capt. Kit Dalton, sole survivor of Jesse James' band of outlaws, the Quantrell raiders and the Sam Bass Texas band of outlaws, died here at the age of 72.

DUBLIN.—Despite the fact that the authorities profess to expect no trouble in Dublin, the British army is holding an Easter lid on Ireland, and Dublin is surrounded by a military cordon. No one is allowed to enter or leave without being searched.

ARTILLERY AT CAMP GRANT.

Chicago, April 1.—I noticed in your columns that the Junior chamber of commerce is raising a fund for the benefit of the Illinois National Guard. Why can't this body, other civic organizations, and the Legion use their weight to prevent the waste of 1,500 men's time and our money?

The 58th Field Artillery brigade, consisting of the 122d and 124th regiments, are being sent to Camp Grant this year, where there is no field artillery range. Field artillery is trained for only one purpose: To fire effectively. If it does not get firing practice it cannot fire effectively and, therefore, is of very little value. Camp Grant offers no facilities to field artillery which the various armories do not offer. Therefore, time spent at Camp Grant by these regiments will be almost thrown away along with the money the taxpayers are paying.

At Sparta, Wis., and Camp Knox, Ky., the United States army maintains two excellent artillery ranges. Both these camps are at the disposal of the Illinois National Guard field artillery. After all, we are spending our money to get preparedness, not parade ground regiments. Can't one of these ranges be made use of, or must this criminal waste be gone through with? SOLDIER.

DR. PIETSCH.

Chicago, April 2.—I cannot let your statement about my dear old friend Karl Pietsch in this morning's TRIBUNE go unchallenged. Dr. Pietsch never wrote me such a letter, and, so far as I know, he did not express his admiration for the Sermon on the Mount in the terms in which you state it.

Dr. Pietsch was a great scholar in the very difficult field of Old Spanish, he was an excellent teacher of all those who worked with him, and he was a loyal and unforgettable friend. The University of Chicago will publish in May a volume to his memory. The contributors to this memorial are scholars from American and European universities.

WILLIAM A. NITZE,
Professor of Romance Languages and Literature, University of Chicago.

THE NAVAL CONFERENCE.

Wilmette, Ill., March 29.—It is time the mask is torn from British Prime Minister MacDonald. In spite of his honeyed words, he is of the same stripe as the past line of English diplomats. It's the same old game. American aims are sincere, her representatives make concessions only to find out when it is over that America has tied her hands while Britain goes ahead building the type of ship that best suits her needs.

Let us not get into an other conference until England makes a specific offer concerning the scrapping of ships. If it's a diplomatic conference, we always lose, and always will, because we do not enter it with the idea of tricking the others. A. R. JONES.

CAPT. LAWRENCE.

Chicago, April 1.—The rotogravure section of March 30 carried a picture of the death of Capt. Lawrence from wounds received during the engagement between the Chesapeake and Shannon June 1, 1813. The given name of Capt. Lawrence was shown as "David," whereas Harper's Encyclopedia and United States History and all other histories I have read indicate that the given name was "James," he being born in Burlington, N. J., Oct. 1, 1781, being buried in Trinity church, New York, and I believe the inscription upon the stone monument in casket form reads "James Lawrence."

J. M. MCDERMOTT.

THE CITY'S FINANCIAL PLIGHT.

Chicago, March 23. — Probably we should not voice our humiliation [illegible] there is no profit in self-delusion. [illegible] must conclude from the news articles in THE TRIBUNE that the city taxes which are to be collected in June or July will provide the cash to relieve the city's financial distress. These are the 1928 taxes which, in regular course would have been paid in April, 1929.

Some time later the city will collect the 1929 taxes, which, in the usual course, would have been paid in April, 1930.

Later still the 1930 taxes—payable in April, 1931—will be collected.

The 1928 taxes have, however, been collected by the city through tax anticipation warrants which were sold to confiding bankers.

So have the 1929 taxes.

So have the 1930 taxes to the extent of the advances made by the Strawn committee.

Presumably the money to be realized in July will be used to pay the warrants issued against the 1928 taxes. These must be due or overdue. Presumably the 1929 tax money will be used in the same way; that is, to retire the warrants issued in anticipation thereof. The 76-odd million dollars raised through the efforts of the Strawn committee is a check against the 1930 tax collections.

The degree of the city's bankruptcy will be rather less when the 1928 taxes have been paid, but its ability to pay current expenses out of current taxes will be just what it is now—namely, nothing.

And so on.

The remedy for this financial ingenuousness is simple. The deficit must be funded, presumably through a bond issue. Thus the record of the present administration will be appropriately embalmed. Thus the political perspicacity of Chicago's voters will be filed for permanent reference. Thus we will have for the benighted Filipinos an example of fitness for self-government.

And should we vote for Mr. Fabyan's bond issues? I learned the answer from Al Smith—bology! A. D.

THE STRAW VOTE.

Riverside, Ill., April 2.—The editor of the Literary Digest claims to have a secret and reliable method for detecting repeaters in the prohibition poll. I object that he has no reliable way of determining how many ballots have been sent to an individual because I have already received two of them in my own name. No, the other one has already been thrown away. F. L. MORRIS.

ARE MODIFICATIONISTS DRYS?

Villa Park, Ill., April 1.—You have no right whatever to class the modificationists as wet. They resent it. These people are representative of our best citizenship and are earnestly working toward its improvement. They realize that no law was ever made perfect at the outset. It can always be made better, more enforceable. They do not call for repeal of the eighteenth amendment or a return to the disgraceful conditions that preceded its enactment.

Some close students of the present situation have given as their opinion that a large majority of all those classed as "modificationists" are really dissatisfied drys who would change their state law to make it more acceptable and workable. However that may be, it would be interesting to take them out of their mysterious column and place them where they belong, and then see how much of a "wet majority" there would be left. W. W. SWIRE.

DIGEST EDITOR, DIRECTING ITS POLL, IS A DRY

All Ballots Checked for Repeaters.

New York, April 3.—[Special.]—William Seaver Woods, editor of the Literary Digest, the man in charge of that publication's 20,000,000 ballot prohibition poll; the man, indirectly, accused by the drys of favoring the wets and staging a poll that is detrimental to the prohibition cause, is—a dry.

Although Mr. Woods, following himself the policy of strict neutrality adopted by the Digest in all controversial issues, declined to speak for publication, it was learned authoritatively today that he personally is for enforcement.

Watch for Repeaters.

Mr. Woods was asked about Dr. Clarence True Wilson. It will be recalled that Dr. Wilson advised an audience to vote three times in the poll if they happened to have three ballots. Dr. Wilson later modified this advice, somewhat, but the impression he gave has not been modified.

It was learned that the Digest is well aware that certain people might try to vote several times and all ballots are being carefully checked.

The truth of the matter is that it is perfectly possible and legal for a man or woman to receive three ballots and vote three times. It so happened that in addition to the 20 million general poll, there are five supplementary polls, devoted to subscribers, clergymen, lawyers, doctors, teachers, and bankers.

So a man might easily receive one ballot in the general poll, a second because he is a Digest subscriber, and a third because he is a clergyman. However, each of the ballots has a distinguishing mark and will be counted in the particular poll to which it belongs.

Vote from 13 Cities.

Incomplete returns from thirteen cities, nine in the south, were announced today. The vote by cities follows:

MITCHELL HITS 3 WICKERSHAM DRY MEASURES

Attorney General Opposes Jones Act Change.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 3.—Attorney General William D. Mitchell hammered several new dents today into the already badly battered prohibition enforcement program recommended by the Wickersham law enforcement commission.

Writing to the house judiciary committee, which has five of the Wickersham bills under consideration, Mr. Mitchell vigorously opposed one to modify the Jones five and ten act, proposed changes in two others, and approved only two. After receiving the attorney general's communication the committee adjourned, deferring action on all the measures until next Tuesday.

The result of the Mitchell statement was to throw further confusion into the ranks of dry supporters of the bills and to augment the prevailing belief that they have slight chance for enactment at this session.

Only One Bill Passed.

Although both houses of congress are overwhelmingly dry and the Wickersham program is almost unanimously indorsed by the dry organizations, it has made little progress since it was sent to congress by President Hoover on Jan. 13. Only one bill, that transferring the dry unit from the treasury to the department of justice, has passed the house. Another, to tighten the padlock injunction law, is on the house calendar. A third, creating a unified border patrol, is pending in the house interstate commerce committee and the others in the judiciary committee. The senate and its committees have acted on none.

The score on the Wickersham program to date, therefore, is one bill passed by one house, one passed by a house committee, and a half dozen where they were at the start.

Stobbs Bill Opposed.

Mr. Mitchell objected in particular to the Stobbs bill, which would modify the Jones act by defining slight and casual offenders and fixing the maximum penalty for such offenses at six months' imprisonment and $500 fine. The Jones act now provides a maximum penalty of five years' imprisonment and $10,000 fine. The attorney general argued that the Stobbs bill would "reduce the penalties for substantial violations, such as manufacture, sale, and transportation, to a point below the penalties provided before the enactment of the Jones law."

Mr. Mitchell disapproved two of the Christopherson bills providing for juryless trials before United States commissioners and approved in general two other Christopherson bills to relieve federal court congestion.

REALTY BROKER HELD IN SLAYING OF WIFE, CHILD

Husband Beneficiary of $10,000 Insurance.

Delray, Fla., April 3.—(AP)—William H. Carver, former Philadelphia real estate operator, whose wife and 2 year old son were slain here yesterday during their siesta hour, was arrested tonight for questioning.

Discovery of a $10,000 insurance policy on the life of Mrs. Carver, in which Carver was made the beneficiary, and other evidence caused Sheriff Oscar Wolff and State's Attorney Brady Burton to hold Carver for questioning.

Sheriff Wolff said stains resembling blood had been found on golf trousers Carver had in his room.

Slayings Laid to Negro.

A coroner's jury which investigated the slayings shortly after the killings returned a verdict that they had been murdered by Ben Whitehead, Negro employed at the Carver home, and that Whitehead had been shot to death by Carver, who went to his wife's aid after she had awakened and found the Negro in her room stealing her jewelry.

Mrs. Carver's mother, Mrs. H. C. Boardman of Chicago, was reported en route here today.

BOARDMANS GO SOUTH.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Boardman of 1201 Winthrop avenue will leave for Florida this morning. Their daughter, Mrs. William R. Carver, was slain with her 2 year old son, Townsend, at Delray, Fla., yesterday. Mrs. Boardman was reported prostrated last night.

FIRE ROUTS 20 WORKMEN.

A score of workmen were routed and $5,000 damage was caused yesterday by a fire in the plant of the Trumbull Asphalt company, 5440 West 67th street, which started when an asphalt cooker boiled over.

INJURED BOY WINS $125,000, RECORD VERDICT

New York, April 3.—[Special.]—What was said to have been the largest verdict ever rendered in the state Supreme court here for personal injuries was awarded by a jury today in the suit of Albert Pieri, 19, against four companies concerned in the construction of the Equitable Trust building on Broad street two years ago.

The award was in two parts. The first was $110,000 in favor of the boy for his injuries and the second part was $15,000 to his father, Paul Pieri, for loss of the boy's services.

The boy on Dec. 8 was working as a plasterer's helper and fell through an air shaft, breaking his neck. He was brought into court on a stretcher to give his testimony.

Mellons Lose Damage Suit.

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 3.—[Special.]—A verdict for $102,427, the largest for personal injuries ever declared in Alleghany county, was returned this afternoon by a jury in the suit of Miss Mary Hahn, against A. W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, and his brother, R. B. Mellon.

The suit grew out of injuries received by Miss Hahn while she was at work in the Frick building in 1928. A hammer, dropped by a workman on the Pittsburgher hotel, owned by the Mellons, crashed through a plate glass window near her.

BRUENING SCORES FIRST TRIUMPH IN REICHSTAG VOTE

Nationalist Split Brings Support of Foes.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 3.—Chancellor Heinrich Bruening scored his first cabinet victory today when the reichstag turned down by 252 votes to 187 the motion of nonconfidence of the Socialists, Fascists, and communists. His 65 votes' margin will enable the new chancellor and his cabinet to start work on pressing legislation.

Dr. Bruening had an order to dissolve the reichstag, sealed and signed by President Paul von Hindenburg, ready in his pocket in case the reichstag dared to overthrow the new cabinet. The Nationalist leader, Dr. Alfred Hugenberg, saved Dr. Bruening taking this extreme step by ordering the Nationalist party to vote for the new government.

Farmers Oppose Hugenberg.

Until early this morning Dr. Hugenberg had fought, trying to induce his followers to reject the Bruening cabinet and bring about the dissolution of the reichstag and new elections. But the farmers and junkers are strong in the Nationalist ranks. They refused to obey Dr. Hugenberg because they believe the Nationalist minister of agriculture in the Bruening cabinet, Martin Schiele, will bring a new era of prosperity to the rural districts.

Confronted with the rebellion of the farming junkers known as the "green front," Dr. Hugenberg retreated and ordered all the Nationalists to vote for Dr. Bruening. And so the paradoxical situation arose of the centrist chancellor being kept in power thanks only to the support of the trusted representative of the former kaiser, the chief of the Nationalists, Dr. Hugenberg.

Roars Threats for Future.

In his reichstag address Dr. Hugenberg vociferously told how much he distrusts the republican cabinet. He openly threatened to overthrow it as soon as its ministers fail to toe the mark where he wants them to.

Chancellor Bruening and his associates are only mildly worried over these threats. They hope the aid they intend to give the farmers will win the support of the bulk of the Nationalists and thus enable them to carry out their program of financial, administrative, and agricultural reforms.

SLASHES THROAT AND DIES.

Patrick Finley, 50 years old, 4125 South Ashland avenue, committed suicide yesterday by cutting his throat at 39th and Iron streets.

CHICAGO GUNMAN SLAIN FIGHTING HOLLYWOOD COPS

Louis McKenzie, 27 years old, alias Joe Luby, a Chicago gunman who escaped from the county jail with five other prisoners last December, was shot to death yesterday in a running gun battle with three policemen in Hollywood, Cal., after he had robbed a Hollywood bank.

McKenzie held up a teller in a branch of the Security-First National bank of Hollywood and fled with $500. As he sped away in a stolen automobile, Sergt. A. A. Campbell, who was sitting in a car opposite the bank, started in pursuit and, with other officers, cornered him in a blind street in the foothills. McKenzie then abandoned the car and scurried up and down ravines and across lawns, firing at the pursuing policemen.

After a three mile chase the policemen overtook him and he offered to surrender, but as they lowered their guns, he turned his gun on Campbell. The sergeant then shot him through the heart.

McKenzie was convicted of robbery in Chicago last year, and was sentenced to one year to life. While waiting for an action on an appeal, he escaped and, with John Sisuly, another of the escaped prisoners, killed two men in the robbery of a Western Union office in Detroit on Feb. 13. Sisulty was recaptured.

HOOVER OPENS PHONE SERVICE TO S. AMERICA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 3.—[Special.]—Uruguay, Argentina, and Chile were linked to Washington by long distance telephone communications today when President Hoover exchanged greetings with the presidents of Uruguay and Chile over a 6,000 mile radio and land wire circuit. It marked the opening of the first telephone service between North and South America under the auspices of the American Telephone and Telegraph company.

Contrary to original plans, President Hoover did not talk to President Hipolito Yrigoyen of Argentina. A few hours before the ceremonies were scheduled to begin President Yrigoyen cabled the White House that his physician had advised him not to talk over the telephone because of a throat ailment.

Although this excuse was accepted as disposing of any possibility that the failure of the Argentine chief executive to exchange felicitations with President Hoover might develop into a diplomatic incident, much comment was occasioned in official circles.

Cosgrave Puts Same Irish Cabinet Back Into Office

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, April 4.—William T. Cosgrave, reëlected president of the council of the Irish Free State parliament, tonight appointed the same cabinet which resigned last week. The dail approved reinstatement of the ministry by a vote of 80 to 65.

MAE WEST JURY DISAGREES AND IS DISCHARGED

New York, April 3.— [Special.] — After more than eight hours' deliberation, the jury that has been listening to the testimony at the trial of Mae West and her co-defendants for taking part in her allegedly indecent play, "Pleasure Man," reported at 10 o'clock tonight that it was unable to reach an agreement. Judge Amedeo A. Bertini immediately dismissed the jury. The defendants were continued under bail, but Assistant District Attorney James G. Wallace declined to say whether he would ask for a new trial.

The disagreement was considered a victory for Miss West and her cast and was so hailed by them.

Only 2½ Cents Profit ON THE DOLLAR

—that's why A&P sells fine foods at low prices!

The price you pay for food when you step into a grocery store is, naturally, much higher than the cost of that food at the place where it is grown or made. For instance—it costs money to bring coffee from the plantation to the store—to ship it—to roast it—to truck it. In addition, if that coffee changes hands four times on its way from plantation to store, there are four companies who take a profit.

But if one company controls every step in getting that coffee from plantation to store, it can do this work more efficiently and at lower cost—and for one profit instead of four. This is exactly what A&P does. A&P's own buyers and representatives buy direct right where the best foods are produced. A&P operates its own packing plants, bakeries and canneries to provide other fine quality foods. A&P's own organization directs the movement of these foods right from their source.

As a result, when you buy your food in a Chicago A&P Store, you pay less because A&P's prices are not burdened with excessive costs—and because you pay only one profit for A&P's complete service—a very small profit—less than 2½c on each dollar you spend.

Reduce your food expenditure by shopping at an A&P Food Store every day.

MISSION IN CHINA REFUSES TO PAY BANDIT RANSOMS

Says to Do So Would Put Premium on Kidnaping.

SHANGHAI, April 3.—(AP)—Reports today indicated that increasing numbers of missionaries and other foreigners were being caught in the network of bandit operations that has been spread over the Yangtze valley and several southern provinces of China.

Announcing a stern policy in dealing with attacks upon its missionaries, the China inland mission headquarters here said that no ransom money would be paid to bandits, as to do so "would endanger every foreigner in the interior of China and place a premium upon kidnaping."

This policy was stated in connection with the kidnaping a week ago of the Rev. R. W. Porteus and Mrs. Porteus of England, and Miss Nina E. Gemmell of Girard, Kan. They are held in a mountain camp, ransom of $20,000 Mexican each being demanded.

Murder British Missionary.

From Tientsin came reports that Teeke Scarlett, a British missionary, was murdered at Peitaiho last night while inspecting mission property.

Because of the bandit operations near Nanchang, Kiangsi province, said Bishop D. T. Huntington of the American church mission, several missionary families fled from Nanchang to Wuhu, Anhwei province.

Chinese Red Leader Triumphs.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, April 2.—Communist activities resulting in the occupation of more than two dozen towns and districts in Kiangsi and other southern provinces culminated yesterday in the capture of Namyung, an important city located on the Kwantung-Kiangsi border, by the communist general Chu Teh with 5,000 followers.

Gen. Chu Teh is a member of an important group of practically a dozen Chinese communist military leaders who have received training in Moscow and who are also allegedly receiving financial support from Russia.

CHILDREN FACE MAN ACCUSED OF FATHER'S DEATH

Bentonville, Ark., April 3.—[Special.]—The son and daughter of William R. Pearman, found slain Saturday on U. S. highway No. 71, north of Gravette, Ark., confronted Dr. A. J. Bass in the county jail here today. Dr. Bass is accused of the slaying.

"Hello, sheriff, who are these people?" asked the prisoner, a retired dentist and prominent land dealer of Columbia, Mo., when Sheriff Edgar Field entered with Robert Pearman, 21, and Miss Jalie Pearman, 19. Both are University of Missouri students at Columbia, also the home of Pearman.

Dr. Bass had met and known Robert and Jalie in Columbia, but appeared not to recognize them today.

The dead man was insured as William Folta for $200,000, payable to Dr. Bass.

Each Step in Preparation Is Important.

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Lately, for the sake of some readers who earnestly wish to do nice cooking in a small way, yet always seem to find themselves facing a recipe a bit hopelessly, I diligently perused half a dozen textbooks of cookery for the sake of being able to recommend the best of them. In my reading I noticed particularly the recipes for broiling beefsteak. These were good as recipes go, and perhaps the criticism to offer concerning them seems a bit paradoxical. It is this: Each one of them seems to contain some special point of excellence entirely omitted from the others. On the whole, this seemed astonishing, but some of the disagreements were explicable on common sense grounds.

The result of my cogitations was that it seemed a pity that all these good points could not be put into one recipe. And besides this, there were to my mind, some vital points that no one of these recipes mentioned, the main one being the protection of the meat to keep it from drying out while it was cooking.

So here seemed a subject for a cooking story, and I decided to go over the whole process from market to dinner plate, with as keen observation as I could command, and as good work as I could do, in order to build this story. I got the material all right, and wrote the story, but it was twice too long for this space and so after all, though my recipe here may be many times as long as ordinary recipes for broiling beefsteaks, it may not contain all the points I would like to put in. . . . . .

How to Buy and Broil.

Skipping my desire to moralize a bit on the subject of marketing, I will say briefly that I went where a crowd of people were buying meat, and found that the "small" or rib steaks being sold there were going like hot cakes. It took but a casual glance to see that these steaks had been fresh cut, while the amount of fat on them and its color showed that the meat was high grade.

So, pretending I was buying for one large eater or two small, I bought just one of these steaks, carried it home and then devised a way of keeping it high grade till it got to the hot plate, a way not mentioned in any of these recipes I had read and perhaps not mentioned in any recipe one could find. With full accompaniments of vegetables, salad and a dessert this is enough meat for two.

Juice should follow the knife when a well broiled beefsteak is cut, even though it be a small one and when it has been cooked long enough. This means that the aim of the cooking has been to protect the juices in such a way that they will not cook out to any noticeable extent, and yet to have the cooking so brief, though thorough, that there will be little loss from plain evaporation. If the cooking is prolonged it is inevitable that there will be evaporation, and this causes the fibers of the meat to dry. And one of these textbook recipes read said: "Emphasize the valuable point that a beefsteak should be served at once," for the reason that it goes on cooking and therefore would be over done. There is no need to elaborate this point, yet it is one that cooks do not remember, though it is something to depend on in some sorts of cooking and something to avoid in many others.

Prepare the Oven.

The mere mechanical problems connected with cooking do not, as a rule, receive the attention they deserve. These points of vital importance to success are often not mentioned in a recipe, or nonchalantly dismissed. The truly hot broiling oven needs to be as carefully attended to as the steak needs careful and nice trimming.

Take out the broiling pan, grease it to keep the juices from burning and also take out the grill. In lighting the oven, leave the oven door open for five minutes, to drive out any dead air. Close the door then for ten minutes so that the broiling oven may be genuinely hot. When the steak is ready for the oven put it on the grill and shove it in as near to the fire as is reasonable and leave the door open. When the steak is well protected, as this one we are describing was, the grill does not need greasing, and the steak will not brown as quickly as when it is not so prepared, that is its first reaction is to whiten and look steamed.

As soon as it does brown—within a minute—turn it with a spatula or meat tongs and sear it on the other side, then put it lower in the oven or lower the flame above it, allowing for the whole cooking of a "small" or rib steak from five to six minutes. If you have all the rest of the dinner ready, as you should have, and give your attention to watching this, the time will seem long.

Fat Is Utilized.

The man who had cut these small steaks, of which I purchased one, had cut the rib bone in half. As everybody knows, the lean meat of the tail of a small steak broiled yields but small returns while there was in this case a good ounce of fat opposite the end of the bone.

So off came the whole tail, then the fat was cut up in bits and partially rendered for immediate use in preparing the steak. The bone was also cut off from the upper part, or the large eye of the meat, and the outer layer of fat was skinned, and the fat itself trimmed so that there would be no strong tendon like part in it that would cause it to curl and burn. These gristles shrink more with heat than does the lean and sooner. When the steak curls, the part nearest the fire will scorch and smoke up the house, making it unpresentable to guests who might enjoy the otherwise perfectly cooked steak.

The two pieces of bone cut off were put into a sauce pan with two cups of cold water, and with them the partially rendered fat, to simmer for three hours as a basis for a nice cup of plain bouillon, or for most effective use for a cup of tomato bouillon.

Finally, the rendered fat was turned into a plate and the well trimmed meat was turned over and over in it before it was put on the grill and shoved into the broiling oven. No salt was added to the meat until it was on the hot plate, because salt stiffens lean meat, and in the case of thin steaks beautifully cooked and juicy, adding the salt when they are on the plate will season them most satisfactorily. At any rate, this steak when cut was almost as tender as perfectly cooked cream.

Lyonnaise Potatoes.

A month or two ago some great man's liking for Lyonnaise potatoes was given prominent news attention. I think the man was Mr. Edison. At any rate this item reminded me of the fact that another man of some note likes hashed browned potatoes, and of how the Swiss mountain climbers revel in a potato omelet. Masculine favorites, these?

All of these dishes are really potato hashes, and any hash when prepared with skill is a most palatable preparation, though such a preparation is all too rare on today's table. In addition to the flavor of the ingredients, there is always that yielded by a gentle browning of the potato, and it is a delicious flavor.

And, then, one of the eminent flavors in Lyonnaise potatoes is that of the parsley, a flavor which was once fully appreciated before the everlasting little piece of greenery, or a whole pile of it, was used for garnishing and, if wet, a clamily cold garnish at that. Add an onion well cooked to this exceedingly pleasant dish. When we have been eating too many sweet things a part onion dish like this will tide us over while we are cutting out some of the sweets.

But any combination is a gloomy thing if poor. Formerly it was made of cold boiled potatoes, but it will be brighter and fresher if we cook potatoes freshly for it, and we may cut them up in dice, scald them, and then cook them in a little butter over a small fire. While they are cooking gently stew some finely chopped onion in a little agreeable butter or salt pork fat, add the potato to this with about three-quarters of a teaspoon of chopped dry parsley per cup of the mixture. Stir this in and serve at once.

If made in considerable quantities we may brown the potato and onion then put in the parsley and fold it and serve it like an omelet. Since the onion is so agreeable we would add one onion to each cup of potatoes, though the old type recipe called for one medium onion for each two cups of potato. If, when it is almost ready the potato seems a little dry a little fresh butter may be added. Serve hot.

Changing Food Habits Felt in Marketing

Consumption of Meat and Bread Falls Off.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Changing food habits of the American people constitute one of the most important economic factors in the much discussed marketing of agricultural products, according to Dr. James E. Boyle, professor of rural economy at Cornell university, who recently completed a study of Chicago and other produce markets.

"Changes in food habits cause changes in production habits and also changes in 'middle man' habits," he declares, in explaining that consumers make the market while the middle men, or those who buy from the farmer and sell to consumers, must adapt their methods to what he terms "consumer demand."

Eat Less Bread, More Butter.

"We are eating less bread per person and more butter, more cheese, more milk. The doctors, the nurses, the public schools, and even the beauty parlors have helped bring about this change. Many people, perhaps too many people, are dieting. They want to be thin. So they eat less bread, forgetting that the French people are the biggest bread eaters of the world, and yet are among the slimmest people in the world. We are consuming 20 per cent less bread than we did a few years ago. That is one reason why the world's short wheat crop is selling so cheap just now."

Another big change in diet, Professor Boyle finds, is the decrease in meat consumption and the increase in consumption of fresh fruits and vegetables of all kinds. We eat more oranges than ever, more grape fruit, more pineapples, nowadays, he says, along with more lettuce, tomatoes and cantaloupes.

Mass production is bringing these last named crops to market. A typical incident to prove this is cited by Professor Boyle. A farmer in the Imperial valley of California harvested 100 acres of iceberg lettuce recently, and shipped the entire crop to New York and Boston, over 3,000 miles away. He spent $25,000 for tractors and other farm machinery.

One of his men left the fields as the last car of lettuce was being loaded, and upon returning three days later found the entire hundred acres plowed, harrowed, bedded for cantaloupes, and the cantaloupe plants carefully set out along one edge of each bed. The tractors had been running constantly, twenty-four hours each days, with men operating in shifts of eight hours each.

The same picture can be seen in Michigan, Florida or nearly any other state these days, Professor Boyle declares. Transportation has been speeded up, cars refrigerated, and terminal marketing facilities improved at considerable cost. These changes are most conspicuous in the South Water street market in Chicago, built to replace the old row of buildings where Wacker drive exists now.

Similar terminal facilities are being completed in Cleveland, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and other large centers of consumption.

URGES GROUPING OF HOSPITAL AND MEDICAL SCHOOLS

Immediate action by the county board to reorganize the county hospital by affiliating it with the medical colleges of the Universities of Illinois and Chicago and Loyola and Northwestern universities was advocated yesterday by Dean Irving S. Cutter of the Northwestern medical school at a clinical conference at the Woodlawn hospital and clinic.

Dr. Cutter declared that the plan to create the greatest medical clinic in the world in Chicago is a movement to improve medical and surgical practice, to improve the public health and to lower medical costs. The grouping of medical colleges with the county hospital, he said, would be one of the most important advances medical science could make in this decade and would put Chicago and the United States in the forefront of the world's medicine.

He predicted that the hospital may ultimately become the permanent form of medical school, "where doctors and surgeons in private practice can annually refresh their education and keep abreast of the progress made possible by hospital research."

7,917 CAR MEN ARE HONORED AT SAFETY BANQUET

International and local officials of the street car men's union occupied places at the speakers' table at the Stevens hotel last night with officers of the Chicago Surface lines at the annual prevention dinner given the surface lines in honor of 7,917 trainmen who had no chargeable accidents last year.

The main addresses were made by William D. Mahon, international union president, and William Quinlan, the head of the Chicago street car men's union. Guy A. Richardson, vice president and general manager of the surface lines, praised the accident prevention work of the men and awarded the silver car trophy to the Lincoln avenue car station.

CITY FILES EIGHT SMOKE SUITS; 2 LAUNDRIES NAMED

Court actions against eight companies and individuals, including two laundries, were instituted yesterday by Frank A. Chambers, chief smoke inspector, on charges that they had violated the city's smoke abatement ordinance. Chambers announced also that his men had reported 52 violations of the ordinance yesterday.

The suits were ordered filed against the Lewis laundry, 7031 Stewart avenue; Globe laundry, 1238 Monroe street; Lotkas bakery, 2512 East 79th street; Sandel Manufacturing company, 1514 Kinzie street; Perfection Bedding company, 2501 West 48th street; Pullman Couch company, 3759 South Ashland avenue; Frank A. Hecht Jr., 1250 Van Buren street, and John Linden, 6945 Paxton avenue.

Chambers said he has been informed that 15 oil electric locomotives have been purchased for use in Chicago, ten by the New York Central and five by the Michigan Central railroad. Chambers said the use of the locomotives will relieve the smoke problem around the 63d street station of the New York Central and aid in clearing the atmosphere along the lake front tracks used by the Michigan Central.

Pullman Co. Cuts Charge for Two Berth Sections

Closely following its annual report, which showed a slump in de luxe railroad travel, the Pullman company yesterday announced a rate reduction on berth sections, intended to increase revenue and afford passengere privacy at less expense. Beginning May 1 the cost of a section—upper and lower berth—will be reduced 22 per cent, provided the section is occupied by a single person. The rates for single berths and drawing rooms remain unchanged.

FREE COP WHO SHOT COMRADE.

Charges of assault with a deadly weapon against Patrolman George W. Polaski were dismissed by Judge Max Luster in the Wabash avenue court yesterday when Policeman George J. Sirovetka announced he would not prosecute. Sirovetka was shot by Polaski during a quarrel over driving a patrol wagon.

To spend Monday hours in the laundry—and that very evening to have caressing, soft, white hands—is a problem that has now been solved in an interesting new way.

Use any kind of soap, soap powder or soap flakes, for washing in either tub or machine. But add 2 tablespoons of CLIMALENE to the water.

This enables you to use ONE-FOURTH the usual quantity of soap. For it softens the water instantly, so that far less soap is needed.

Then by bland cleansing elements IN ITSELF, Climalene acts to gently DISSOLVE any food stains, grease or dirt in things being washed. Thus they emerge soft, spotless, utterly without fading.

Flower Show Tables Present Many New Ideas

Color Striking Feature of Display.

BY SALLY LUNN.

No one who is interested in setting more interesting and better looking tables should miss the current and future opportunities to see table decoration styles as they are exhibited at the fourth annual Chicago Garden and Flower show at the Sherman hotel and at the Central States Garden and Flower show at the Chicago Stadium. The former closes Sunday night and the Central States show opens tomorrow. The number of tables entered in the competition of the Chicago show is greater than ever before, and the entries display a wide variety of tastes and materials, so that the observant student can garner a wealth of suggestive ideas.

There are three classes of tables competing: Formal dinner tables set with six places; luncheon tables the same size, and garden tea tables. A limit of $100 for the appointments, including flowers, is placed on the luncheon tables, and there is no price limit for the other classes. The judging has been based on color harmony, composition, originality, and appropriateness.

Coloring a Notable Feature.

The coloring of the tables seemed to me to be the most notable feature of the display, although the close proximity of the tables necessitated by the limited space makes it difficult to appreciate their artistry. In every case the blue ribbon winners showed a subtle and pleasing combination of hues.

I don't know whether any of those who set the tables or any of those who saw them will bear me out, but I thought that in taking advantage of the courtesy of the department stores and the china and linen shops in lending materials for the contest, the committees who designed the settings may have tried a little too hard to be different, and that in making their selections from such a large choice they may have been bewildered into choosing more elaborate things than their taste would usually dictate.

The tables chosen by the judges for prizes were not, in all cases, the ones that received the greatest attention from the throngs who saw them, but were, of course, the ones that measured up in all respects to the standards set. There was the Austin Woman's club entry, for example, which was a lovely thing to behold, but was probably considered too conventional to merit a prize. White damask, silver service plates, etched crystal goblets and glasses, a silver center bowl filled with white roses, and four silver candlesticks with white candles was effective by reason of its simple beauty.

Original and Charming.

The Bryn Mawr Women's club entry, which received honorable mention in the luncheon table class, was one of the most colorful and striking of the entries. It was set with a cloth of theatrical gauze, bound on the edges with bright red and green raffia, the vermilion Hull house potery, and a long centerpiece arrangement artistically composed of grapefruit, pieplant, smaller fruit, and pine cones, with an Italian wine bottle encased in straw at each end.

The Women's club of Fox Lake set the only novelty occasion table with a lavendar damask cloth, Wedgwood plates, with the castle design in pale lavender, and a centerpiece of a large papier mache egg filled with violets and lilies of the valley hitched by lavender tulle to an Easter bunny and a matching candle holder with three green candles.

FURNITURE CO. CUTS EMPLOYES' WORKING HOURS

A reduction in the working hours of employés of the Hartman corporation, beginning with the start of the furniture company's 65th anniversary celebration tomorow, was announced yesterday by Martin L. Straus, president. Under the new policy, which probably will be continued after the anniversary celebration, Mr. Straus said, the 54 units of Hartman's will open at 10 a. m. instead of 9 a. m.

The change in store hours was decided on, according to Mr. Straus, as a result of an investigation into retail buying habits which showed that the hour from 9 to 10 a. m. is virtually useless for sales and that the heavy buying starts at 11 a. m. During the lunch period from noon to 2 p. m. the greatest rush occurs, and since employes of stores are also at lunch at midday, the retail merchant's staff is reduced at the period of the greatest business, it was pointed out.

The benefit to employes from the extra hour of recreation and rest was the deciding factor in the change in hours, Mr. Straus said. He predicted that eventually large downtown stores may open at 11 a. m. and close at 4 p. m., eliminating the lunch hour for employes. Hartman's however, will still give lunch periods under the 10 a. m. opening plan.

The prize winning formal dinner table at the Chicago Garden and Flower show held this week at the Sherman hotel was entered by the Libertyville Woman's club. Lemon colored glassware, Wedgwood plates with a deep blue border background, deep blue candles, a center bouquet of blue iris and jonquils, and late runners and doilies comprised the appointments used.

HOUSEHOLD DISCOVERIES

The Tribune will pay one dollar each for aids to housekeeping prize winning ideas to be published each Friday morning on the food pages. If you have a unique discovery pass it on to other housewives. Recipes are excluded. Send discoveries in care of Sally Lunn, Chicago Tribune.

I keep a calendar with large numerals on the inside of my cupboard door. Besides the dates, I write engagements and notations to remember, bills to be paid to save discounts, and anything else I want to remember. On the back of the sheet for each month, I note amount paid for groceries, want lists for the month, and other household expenses. At the end of the month or year, I can look back and see how long groceries last, how much they cost, etc. This helps me keep within my budget.

Straw or reed wastebaskets can be made waterproof and attractive by lining with bright colored oilcloth to harmonize with the rooms. A round piece can be fitted to the bottom and a straight piece for the sides.

Should you break a jar or bottle in opening it, fastern a piece of absorbent cotton over the end of a funnel, and strain the liquid through it. The cotton will catch any tiny pieces of glass and make the liquid safe for use.

When making print dresses for my little girls, I make bibs of the leftover materials. The children are quite delighted to have bibs to match their dresses.

MRS. F. E. K., Oak Park, Ill.

To replace a worn out skirt top, use an old shirtwaist, but cutting out the sleeves and rounding out the neck. This makes a more durable top than those purchased at department stores, and will save the price of a new top.

I find that old velour hats make excellent polishing rags for furniture and automobiles. They do not crumple in the hand, and leave no dust.

If there are only a few clothes to be ironed, try packing them in a heavy paper shopping bag, with a newspaper folded over the top. The bag requires less room than a basket, as it can be hung up and the clothes keep damp longer. MRS. A. C. M., Chicago.

EVANSTON O. K.'S SUNDAY MOVIES, ALDERMAN SAYS

A proposition to restore Sunday movies in Evanston, believed to have been rejected by 50 votes at the referendum on Tuesday, was actually approved by a majority of 56 votes, Ald. Peter Jans of the 5th ward, a champion of the Sunday movie cause, declared last night.

A discrepancy was discovered between the police count of returns in the third precinct of Ald. Jans' ward and the count certified by the precinct officials, Jans said. The police count listed 151 votes for movies and 133 against, while the judges' count, on which the seven election officials of the precinct gave an affidavit, showed 200 ballots for and 76 against the movies. The alderman's father, Herbert Jans, was one of the judges.

A canvass of the returns will be made on Sunday in the Evanston city hall. In the event the canvass proves a victory for the movie group, it will still be necessary for the city council to amend the present Sunday closing ordinance.

BOO JURORS WHO CONVICTED 3 IN ROBBERY TRIAL

A jury in Judge Walter P. Steffen's Criminal court was subjected to abusive remarks yesterday afternoon by friends of three defendants, who were found guilty of assault with intent to commit robbery. The friends of the defendants were waiting in the corridor outside the courtroom and as the jurors filed out they were greeted with remarks such as "the hard hearted jurors" and "they ought to be shot."

James Buttiglero, 25, brother of Tony Buttiglero, one of the men convicted, was taken before Judge Steffen and cited for contempt of court. The jurors, however, refused to positively identify Buttiglero or any of the other four men brought into the courtroom by Deputy Sheriff Joseph Biaha and Assistant State's Attorneys Samuel K. Childress and James Brown, who had witnessed the demonstration.

Mrs. Rose Madia, mother of Fiori Madia, another of the defendants, fainted and had to be carried from the courtroom. Ralph Mendoza was the third defendant.

2 DAYS AND BUT DOUBLE FARE BY ZEP TO EUROPE

Return, However, Will Take Day Longer.

Washington, D. C., April 3.—(AP)—Out of studies and conferences which have engaged Dr. Hugo Eckener day by day there emerged tonight the latest details concerning transoceanic dirigible service which may be instituted within two years.

One of the Graf Zeppelin commander's closest advisers, Commander J. C. Hunsacker, revealed that:

Passenger fares will be approximately double steamer rates.

Germany will furnish two ships, the Graf Zeppelin and a new dirigible to be constructed immediately for completion in 1931.

America will build two ships, modeled after the two dirigibles ordered by the United States navy.

Two and Three Day Service.

Eastward trips from airport to airport will be made in two days and western trips in three days.

"Two ships will be constructed in the United States. Designs are being studied and the ships will follow the general structure of the two dirigibles ordered by the United States navy. Plans under consideration include passenger capacities of 40, 60, and 80 persons.

"While the navy dirigibles will have hangar space for five fighting planes, the commercial ships will probably not carry heavier than air craft, but be modified to allow airplanes to make contacts while in flight.

May Use Planes as Tenders.

"This has already been shown to be practical and arrangements may be worked out to allow planes to meet the liners over water, make contact for special mail or passengers, and speed coastward. It is also likely that contacts may be made over intermediate cities where the dirigibles will not stop, for discharging passengers and cargo.

The conclusion of the skipper's visit in Washington was marked by his admission as honorary member of the National Aeronautical association, the first European and first lighter-than-air pilot to be given the distinction.

Special Zeppelin Stamps.

Three special air mail stamps for mail carried by the Graf Zeppelin on its European-Pan American round trip flight in May will be placed on sale at the postoffice here April 19. The stamps will be for sale at other large postoffices April 21.

The postoffice department recently announced that the special stamps had been authorized in three demoninations, 65 cents, $1.30, and $2.60.

BOYS ARRESTED IN STOLEN CAR.

Three 15 year old boys, Anthony Nicolici, 1538 Taylor street; Daniel Cicelli, 617 South Racine avenue; and George Romano, 1427 South Spaulding avenue, arrested yesterday by Des Plaines street police while riding in a stolen car, were turned over to juvenile authorities last night.

REPRODUCE 1ST PAGE OF DAILY PAPER BY RADIO

Schenectady, N. Y., April 3.—(AP)—The complete front page of a newspaper has been transmitted across the country by radio for the first time.

Giving the present a peep into what may be commonplace in the future, engineers of the General Electric company today reported that successful experimentation had permitted them to read the first page of the San Francisco Call-Bulletin three hours after it had left the press. It was reproduced in full size in the laboratory by a new type automatic carbon recorder, connected to short wave receiving equipment actuated by signals originating 2,500 miles away.

The engineers did not hesitate to forecast many possibilities for this improvement in facsimile transmission, which, while still in a highly experimental stage, gave an indication that some day radio may be delivering a large part of business mail and may also bring daily newspapers directly into the home.

The recording machine was developed by Charles J. Young, son of Owen D. Young, chairman of the board of General Electric.

ALAN RYAN JR. BUYS A SEAT ON STOCK EXCHANGE

New York, April 3.—[Special.]—Alan A. Ryan Jr., grandson of Thomas Fortune Ryan, today purchased a seat on the New York stock exchange—and a name for years famous in Wall street wheeled once more into the spotlight.

The young man—he is 26 and a Yale graduate—is the son of Alan Ryan, the spectacular operator who cornered Stutz stock in 1920 and precipitated the whirlpool of finance which eventually sucked him into bankruptcy and forced him off the street.

The son bought his membership from Charles A. Frank and paid $425,000, a decrease of $25,000 from the last recorded sale. Mr. Ryan in 1924, when he was 21, became a partner in the curb firm of Noah McDowell & Co. He resigned that partnership in December.

Tire Rim Thrown by Truck Kills Child of 2 at Play

JIM REED RIPS WORLD COURT IN RADIO ADDRESS

"A Prejudiced Tribunal," Ex-Senator Says.

The world court as "the vermiform appendage of the league of nations," which, "like the vermiform appendage in the human anatomy, will become the chief source of irritation and inflammation," was condemned last night by former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri in an address broadcast from Chicago over the National Broadcasting company's coast-to-coast network. The address was the sixth of a series of patriotic broadcasts sponsored by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Mr. Reed attacked the court as a "prejudiced tribunal of foreigners" and declared that to submit to it any question affecting the life, honor, or interests of the United States is contrary to all of the teachings of the nation's fathers.

Traces Pacifists' Efforts.

Mr. Reed prefaced his attack on the court by a review of the efforts of pacifists to involve the nation in foreign affairs under the doctrine of internationalism. He described the attempts to have the United States become a party to the Versailles treaty, and to enter the league of nations.

"The people of the United States," he said, "came to understand that wrapped up within the fine sounding phrases of the league covenant was an obligation to involve the United States in all the diplomatic chicanery of the old world and to place the sons of America on every bloody battlefield of the future."

The favorite device of organizations attempting by "seductive methods to involve the United States in the league of nations," he said, is the world court. He pictured the court as an assemblage of political governments whose representatives were bound to decide every question according to the political advantages of their respective countries.

Sees U. S. as a Loser.

Mr. Reed argued that since the court's purpose is to interpret laws, it must of necessity militate against the United States because the laws would be made by the league of nations, in which America would have no greater voice than the smallest nation, while Great Britain's would be seven times as powerful.

"A more ridiculous position could not be conceived," Mr. Reed said, "than that assumed by the man who says we should enter the league of nations, where we should have had at least one voice out of many in writing rules and regulations and laws that are to govern, and likewise a voice in the selection of the judges of the court, but that we should submit ourselves to the creature created by the league."

Declaring the issue is the "one overmastering question of the hour," Mr. Reed said the man who dodges the issue is a coward.

CANADIENS WHIP BRUINS; WIN STANLEY CUP

X-RAY REVEALS NEW GROWTH ON RAJAH'S HEEL

Root Makes Bid for April 15 Assignment

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., April 3.—Proving that they are not mentally disturbed over the possibility of losing Rogers Hornsby's services for an indefinite period, the Cubs came up in their real batting form again today and slapped down the Angels, 5 to 4.

The battle not only was a success despite a rather strange looking Cub infield, but it also indicated that Charley Root, ace of the staff, wants to hurl in the season's inaugural.

Aided by some clouting by Riggs Stephenson and a few others, Root showed that he is almost ready for big-time and better arguments by going nine rounds for the first time this spring. He was hit a bit hard, but by bearing down in spots he demonstrated that he still has the goods to deliver.

Hornsby Visits Doctor.

Hornsby's case became something to worry about this morning after he had visited a prominent local physician to determine, if possible, just why the pain persists in the right heel, from which numerous bony growths were removed last winter.

The surgeon, after hearing the history of the case, attributed the soreness to the fact that Hornsby, in batting, had favored the foot and had caused an unnatural strain on certain tendons. The doctor resorted to the X-ray, and the negative showed that a growth was returning.

After today's examination Hornsby returned to the hotel and remarked casually that he would be back in the lineup after a few days of rest, which is what the doctor advised.

May Need Second Operation.

If the spurs, as they call them, again are growing on the under side of the heel bone a second operation will be necessary. In this event Hornsby's services would not be available for a couple of months at least, and this undoubtedly would be a break for the other clubs.

Hornsby's present intention is to lead an easy life until the Cubs reach St. Louis for the opening series of the season. If the foot is sore at that time he will have it photographed again under the X-ray. This negative will be compared with the one taken now, and if the comparison proves a added growth of the spurs an operation may be ordered immediately.

That McCarthy intends to be prepared for the worst was evidenced by his lineup of talent today. He returned Hunter Bell, who had been resting with a sore arm, to third base. The arm didn't look any better today. Blair, who had been operating during Bell's absence, was moved over to second base, where he handled himself about as well as he had at third.

Root Troubled in Second.

One of the few innings in which Root encountered trouble this afternoon was the second, when the Angels nicked him for a run. Harper opened the round with a single and hustled to third when Jacobs doubled to left. Statz hoisted to Cuyler, and Harper scored, but Jacobs, who headed for third after the catch, was nailed on Blair's bullethike throw to Bell. Dittmar then walked and Skiff singled, but Root checked the rally by fanning Harper.

The Cubs made their first impression in the third when two runs gave them a lead they never relinquished. Blair started the rally by singling with one out. Cuyler doubled him to third, and when Statz made a wild return throw, Blair continued to the plate. Cuyler thought he could make third on the error, but overestimated Blair's speed. Wilson then singled, stole second, and scored on Stephenson's drive against the wall in left. The Cubs added one in their half on a home run by Haney and infield outs. The Chicagoans padded their lead by scoring three runs in the fifth on as many hits. English led off with a single to center and worked around to third on infield outs. Then Wilson tapped a single to center, English scoring. This was followed by a home run by Stephenson's bat.

Root Weakens in Eighth.

Root conducted the party to suit himself until the eighth arrived. A couple of hits, a pass and the weakness in Bell's throwing arm, gave the Angels three runs and put them only one shy of a tie. A single by Harper was the starter. Jacobs walked and Statz filed to Wilson. Dittmar looped a fluke single into short right, scoring Harper and sending Jacobs to third. Jake scored on Bell's bad throw of Skiff's grounder.

Pegler Favors Bigger, Older Dry Tank Divers for Carnera

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

New York, April 4.—[Special.]—Call it depravity if you will, but I have been strangely fascinated by the gall of the sportsmen in charge of Primo Carnera who have been going about the country, rousing out such a succession of scuffed up bums and paralytics as William Stribling, himself, never had the effrontery to assault. I find myself entering into the spirit of the thing.

It is something like the fascination which the winter league golfers exert on the newspapers when they are touring the southern boarding house country, creating new course records on mashie-pitch meadows day after day. One realizes that they are phoney records but, phoney or genuine, records are records and, in Primo's case my early qualms have vanished and I envision a record of one hundred consecutive knockouts.

Records Are Records.

Of course, if this be sport, then any dog poisoner may join the society of nimrods and exhibit the pelts of the poodles and Boston bulls which he has brought down with ground glass and arsenic, as proud as any gunner with a moose, a rhino or a kadiac bear. Records are records and kills are kills.

In certain instances in the monster's gory progress across the land, I have suspected his managers of copying names off headstones with which to extend his record of consecutive knockouts, like local census takers in ambitious towns, but on close inquiry I have been assured that, in each case, he actually did face and beat down the unfortunate named in the overnight dispatches from out along the line. There was a certain element of cheer in this, for it was pleasant to learn of old friends who used to lurch and stagger and presently go booming to the boards, all sweaty and heaving and powdered a cadaverous gray with the resin, that they were not dead in the coroner's understanding of the word, but merely defunct.

At this writing Primo has knocked out thirteen accompanists, most of them truants from various homes for the aged infirm, including some who never did win a fight so far as my knowledge goes, even when they were young. I feel a morbid desire to further his campaign by suggesting others who would subside with no more reluctance, and so have prepared a list of time tried and certified palookas, confident that none of them would embarrass him as Ace Clark did in Philadelphia on a recent evening.

It comes to me that Ace Clark belongs to Mr. Max (Boo Boo) Hoff, the celebrated sinister character, and that Primo's party took the ring expecting to be detained not more than two rounds. But I am further told that the referee expected some sordidness and warned Ace Clark that he must come up for round three or stand suspected of acquiescence. Consequently Mr. Hoff's tearing tiger was forced to intrude upon Primo's time beyond the customary limit, and in round five had the very bad taste to fetch the visiting athlete a hearty swat on his left eye.

Primo Forgot to Duck.

Some persons excused this tactless pass on the ground that the ace was merely swinging his arms to keep warm, insisting that Primo should have remembered to duck. From others I have heard that swing described as a treacherous and deliberately an unfriendly act. At any rate, Primo puffs easily and by the time the round ended that side of his face had taken on the blue iridescence of a hothouse grape and the eye bulged out like a baseball in a man's vest pocket.

The referee, a sensitive man, then wished to stop the contest to save Primo and great was the excitement in both corners of the ring as Carnera's sportsmen pleaded for one more

MORNING DRILL STIMULATES SOX; WHIP CATS, 10-4

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Fort Worth, Tex., April 3.—Morning batting practice served as a stimulant for the White Sox and they concluded their springtime affairs in Texas this afternoon by defeating the Fort Worth Cats, 10 to 4. It was a free hitting affair in which Pitcher Dutch Henry needed all the support he received.

Manager Bush was so irked at recent fruitless exhibition affairs that he summoned the hired hands to the ball yard for morning exercises. They batted for nearly two hours and the work cleared their vision, so they plunked a pair of local hurlers in the afternoon for fourteen hits.

Jeffries Joins Casualties.

One unpleasant incident marked the getaway. Irving Jeffries stopped a ball Moe Berg battle in practice and received a gash on the chin that required three stitches to close. He was added to the list of cripples which already included Jim Moore, Ted Lyons, and Vic Frasier, not to mention the departed Sarge Connally, sent home for endeavoring to emulate the late Mr. Peck's boy.

The Sox today specialized in two-base hits. They knocked five to far corners of the premises and Carl Reynolds was the author of a triple.

Things happened early in this loose combat. The Sox helped themselves to three runs in the second inning and the foe did likewise. Watwood doubled and Kamm singled him to third, but he was out trying to stretch the drive. Autry singled to score Watwood, and when two were out, Hunnefield walked. He scored with Autry on Cissell's double to deep center.

Cats Claw Henry.

The locals got after Henry in their half. Fowler walked and scored when the venerable Frank Snyder broke off a double. Tavener doubled over Jolley's head, but Snyder was afraid to run and progressed only to third base. He scored on a wild pitch. Tavener was cut down at the plate when Moore grounded to Cissell. Urban singled to put Moore on third and worked the double steal immediately.

The Sox did not allow the tie to endure long. They made another cluster of three runs in the fourth. Kamm and Autry singled and Henry walked to fill the bases. Kamm came home on Hunnefield's sacrifice fly and his associates finished the circuit when Reynolds laid a triple against the center field fence.

Sox Score Four Runs.

The enemy kept shooting at Dutch Henry and achieved a run in the sixth. After Tavener was retired. Gribble walked. Moore singled to center and Gribble hauled up at third. He ran home while Urban was forcing out Moore.

Mr. Gribble, the southpaw, folded up like a jackknife in the ninth and five assorted hits were turned into four Chicago tallies. One was down when Cissell and Reynolds singled. Jolley hoisted a sacrifice fly that scored Cissell. Shires and Harris contributed singles and Kamm cleaned up with a two bagger. Ed Walsh Jr. pitched the last three innings and was effective.

Athens Beats Y Quintet in U.S. Meet; Morgan Pk. Loses

BY HARLAND ROHM.

If there is such a thing as a perfect diminuendo in sports it came in the eight basketball games which decided the quarter finalists in the twelfth national interscholastic basketball championship at the University of Chicago yesterday. It began with a bitterly fought overtime game. The next game was decided by a point. Gradually the margins of victory widened with each game until the night's games were walkovers.

Athens, Tex., defending champion, topped off the day's schedule by toying with the Y. M. C. A. Day school of Chicago in the last championship engagement. After trailing 19 to 0, Brown of the Y sank a long shot just before the gun ended the first quarter. Then the Texas subs carried on, eventually winning 38 to 15.

Jena Wins Easily.

Prior to that the favorite of the crowds, the tanned lads from Jena, La., made a mockery of a basketball contest by romping away from Lakeland, Fla., 41 to 15. It wasn't like the Athens-Y game in that it was a runaway at the start, for the first quarter was fairly close. But after the score was tied 8 all, Jena began to click. It ran its advantage to 21 to 13 at the half and held Lakeland to two free throws in the second half, while piling up 20 points more.

In both games the interest centered in individuals rather than in the lopsided contests. For Jena, it wasn't the grinning Wade but a lanky lad wearing the number "13," named Ernest Doughty. He's a bashful appearing kid, his hair cropped—the antithesis of Wade—but he dropped in nine baskets.

In the Athens game it wasn't the Tompkins brothers, Reynolds, or Ware, who did the scoring, but Allen Rowland, a six foot 200 pound back guard who held the interest. Rowland has been eating porterhouse stakes three times a day since he left his native Texas, with the result he's put on about 15 pounds and the coach ordered him on less ample rations to help take off the extra poundage yesterday. Rowland worked as if he were begging for more food, and he earned it.

Corinth Nips Linsly.

Corinth, Ky., the long shot experts and the real dark horses of the tournament, and Linsly Military institute of Wheeling, W. Va., staged the best contest of the three night games, but it wasn't as close as indicated by the score of 35 to 25, which was the Kentuckians' margin. Corinth crossed up their opponents by switching from long shots to a smooth passing game after Linsly had moved out in front, 11 to 5, in the first quarter.

Catholic High school of Fort Wayne, Ind., became a quarter finalist in the consolation tourney by defeating Rexburg, Idaho, 29 to 21.

Basketball games which sifted the 36 aspirants for the national interscholastic championship to the eight quarter finalists took the expected turn yesterday and developed into a series of contests in which one basket meant as much as half a dozen in the earlier games. One battle went into overtime, another contest ended in a one point victory and only one was at all lopsided.

One of the keenest contests of the day eliminated Morgan Park High school of Chicago through a 35 to 27 defeat by Savannah, Ga. But that eight point margin is less of an indication of how fast the pace than the fact three Georgians and two Chicagoans left the game on personal fouls and the score was tied at 27 all with a couple of minutes to go.

Handbury Goes Out.

For the first quarter it was fast and close but with the score 10 to 10, John Handbury, Morgan Park's star forward, went out on four fouls. But with Rankaitis, center, taking up Handbury's job as leading scorer the half ended with Savannah leading, 17 to 16.

In the third quarter the lead shifted, Morgan Park getting a point advantage and Savannah coming back to lead, 24 to 21, at the end of the quarter, on two free throws by the red headed Futrelle. Johnson, Savannah's center and the only tall man on the team, committed his fourth foul just before the end of the quarter.

With each team short their star, they began the last eight minutes, in which little Sammy Eiseman, a subguard for Georgia, made a hero of himself in typical fiction style. He scored a basket just after he entered the game. Then Jackson, Savannah's right guard, went to the bench on fouls. While the Morgan Park supporters yelled themselves hoarse, Kephart caged a free throw, Havey a foul line shot, and Kephart a long shot in less than a minute to give Morgan Park a one point lead.

Eiseman Ties Score.

It was the situation fiction writers build up for the entrance of their hero and little Sammy lived up to it. His free throw on Rankaitis' foul tied the score and a moment later he tossed in a medium length shot, after a dribble, to give the Georgians a basket lead. Morgan Park missed three free throws in succession, while Shore of Savannah was sent to the bench and Futrelle came through with both free tosses as Penson, Morgan Park guard, ran into refereeitis. Those free throws

Allen and Luther Set Down for a Year by Agua Caliente Stewards

BY FRENCH LANE.

Jockeys C. E. Allen and Tommy Luther, favorites on Chicago race tracks, will be idle for a year and have plenty of time to think over the "ride" they tried to give Victorian in the $100,000 Agua Caliente handicap.

A few days after the race was run it was announced that both boys' license had been taken up, but until an official who served at the meeting told Chicago friends yesterday of the prospective long suspensions it was believed they would not be punished severely.

So the story goes, Judge Francis Nelson, the presiding steward at the Agua Caliente track, addressed the jockeys shortly before the race was run: "Any boy guilty of foul riding will be set down for a year." Judge Nelson is said to have told them.

Victorian left the barrier from a stall between Brown Wisdom, ridden by Allen, and My Dandy, with Luther in the saddle. "Both horses came over sharply and had Victorian hopelessly shut off before they had gone two dozen strides," said the Agua Caliente official.

"How Victorian got out of the pocket is something the officials cannot even explain," he said. "If the jam had cost Victorian the race I'm sure Allen and Luther would have been ruled off for life."

Allen, who was in trouble around Chicago last season because of the inconsistent way Brown Wisdom was running when he was riding him, is under contract to former Senator Johnson N. Camden of Kentucky. Luther is a native of northern Illinois and several prominent owners were bidding for his services when he got into his trouble in the big race down below the Mexican border.

ROCKNE CALLS SPECIALIST? IT'S NEWS TO HIM

Wife Denies Coach Has Had Relapse.

BY ARCH WARD.

While a physician from the Mayo clinic in Rochester, Minn., was hurrying to Miami, Fla., ostensibly to examine Knute Rockne, Notre Dame football coach, who was reported yesterday to have had a relapse, Mrs. Rockne last night in a telephone conversation said that no request had been made for the doctor either by Mr. Rockne or herself.

KNUTE ROCKNE.

Rockne, who went to Florida in January to recuperate from congestion of the veins in his leg, was removed from his Miami Beach apartment yesterday to St. Francis hospital. He contracted a cold Tuesday and was suffering from a slight attack of asthma, Mrs. Rockne said.

"There is nothing alarming about Mr. Rockne's condition," the wife of the famous coach explained. "He went to the hospital as a precautionary measure. He expects to return to our apartment in a day or two and we plan to leave for South Bend next week."

"Rock's" Leg Improved.

"Has there been any recent change in the condition of Mr. Rockne's leg?" she was asked.

"No," she replied. "It is much improved since he first came to Miami, but he cannot stand any length of time without encouraging a setback."

Rockne will do no active work this summer, Mrs. Rockne predicted. She said they planned to spend the vacation months at their summer home on the shore of Lake Michigan near St. Joseph, Mich. In recent years Rockne has conducted from three to five coaching schools.

"Does 'Rock' expect to be out on the football field next fall directing the gridiron maneuvers of the Notre Dame squad?" Mrs. Rockne was asked.

Builds Up for Fall.

"He most certainly does," she answered with determination. "There is no doubt about it. That's why he is going to take things easy until fall. He wants to build himself up to make sure he will not suffer a breakdown like the one which interrupted his work last season. Of course, he probably will give no personal demonstrations of the way to tackle and block, but he will direct every practice and, barring some unforeseen development, he won't have to shout instructions from a wheel chair."

Reports that Rockne had suffered a relapse were widely circulated yesterday after news dispatches stated that Dr. J. C. Barborka of the Mayo clinic had been called to Miami to give Rockne a general examination. The physician arrived in Chicago by airplane yesterday noon and continued his journey on the Illinois Central railroad, leaving here at 2:45 p. m.

Misses Cage Banquet.

Early in the day a maid at the Rockne apartment in Miami Beach had been quoted as saying that the coach was ill and that a doctor from the Mayo clinic had been summoned. Later it was found that the maid referred to Rockne's general condition and not to recent developments.

Officials at Notre Dame had anticipated Rockne's return for the annual basketball banquet March 25. The day previous he sent word that physicians had advised him to remain in the south two or three weeks more. This delay was attributed to overexertion while addressing a group of Miami school children.

BOSTON TEAM OUTPLAYED IN SERIES FINAL

Last Period Rally Falls Short, 4 to 3.

MONTREAL, Que., April 3.—[Special.]—The Canadiens of this city are the new professional hockey champions of the world.

In one of the most surprising form reversals in the history of the rink sport, the local sextet came through tonight to register its second successive triumph over the Boston Bruins, and toppled the outfit from the United States from its championship throne without losing a game to the rugged Boston contingent.

A crowd of more than 13,000, which filled the Montreal Forum to capacity, witnessed the flying Frenchmen score a 4 to 3 victory in a game that was fraught with thrills during almost every minute of play. The achievement brings the Stanley cup, symbolic of the title, to this city after it had remained in the possession of the Boston team for a year.

Take 4 to 1 Lead.

Fired by their generally unexpected success at Boston on Tuesday night, when they turned back the Bruins by the score of 3 to 0, the local stick wielders showed themselves complete masters of their rivals for two periods tonight.

Howie Morenz, center for the Montreal team, was the big factor in the locals' victory. He was the main cog in every important Canadien advance and coöperated perfectly with his teammates in scoring.

Eddie Shore rose to the heights for Boston. The belligerent defense star of the Bruins waged a ceaseless struggle both in the protection of his own net, and the bombardment of his rivals'. It was Shore who scored Boston's first goal, which came at a time when the Canadiens were comfortably leading, and it was his fighting spirit and tenacity that inspired the visitors' to approach within an ace of the Canadiens total.

Morenz descended upon the Bruins' goal just after the opening face-off, and he almost got the disc past Thompson in the Boston net on his first shot. The latter repelled the effort, but was kept busy in the moments immediately following, turning back a steady stream of speedy shots.

McCaffery Scores Goal.

There was no way open for the Bruins to shift the attack from their territory. The locals persisted in the aggressive and their advances were furious. Boston was handicapped seriously when it lost Galbraith and Oliver on penalties, but the disadvantage was seemingly lessened several seconds later when the Canadiens were deprived of the services of Morenz, who was penalized after bringing the disc to Boston's blue line. His absence did not cause the diminution of the locals' attack, however, and Montreal skated through for its first goal when McCaffery scored on a pass from Lepine in 9:10. Nick Wasnie accounted for the second local tally when he received a diagonal pass from Burke and shot it past Thompson in 16:46.

In the second session the Canadiens continued to assert their all around superiority and they rolled up their third tally when Sylvio Mantha dashed in to take the rubber from Nick Wasnie and past Thompson in 10:05. Shore followed this achievement several minutes later by scoring his goal. His contribution was discounted a minute later when Morenz slipped through for a tally on a pass from Leduc.

Boston took to the ice savagely in the final session and soon gave evidence that it was still in the fight. Shore paved the way for several of the visitors' advances until he was penalized, but after his return the Bruins took up the aggressive and scored in 5:55 when Galbraith counted on a relay from Oliver. Clapper and Cooney Weiland continued to make the next Boston score, which the former sent through in 8:09.

LEVINSKY FLOORS MAIER 3 TIMES

Milwaukee, Wis., April 3.—[Special.]—King Levinsky, the Chicago fish dispenser, stopped Dave Maier, Milwaukee heavyweight, in one round tonight, Referee Ted Jamieson halting what was to have been the Antlers' club ten round feature just before the bell. Maier was floored three times by terrific punches to the head and body.

Maier, who hasn't fought since October, caught the first of Levinsky's rights shortly after the round opened. The 3,500 auditorium customers hardly had settled from the excitement of the knockdown before Maier dropped again. Maier crashed the resin a third time and ere Levinsky could take up the battle anew, the referee interceded.

MAN O' WAR COLT ANNAPOLIS WINS FEATURE IN MUD

Bowie, Md., April 3.—[Special.]—Man o' War could run on any kind of track and many of his sons and daughters have the same ability. Annapolis, owned by Walter J. Salmon and a four year old son of the superhorse from Panoply, never has been known as a mud horse, but he galloped through sloppy going in the white marsh purse this afternoon to beat four others, no one of which could give him much opposition after he got going.

It was the second victory in a row at this meeting, although it has run only three days, and Annapolis is the only horse to have that distinction. At the end of the mile and a sixteenth Annapolis was just coasting while Strongheart was doing his best to get second place a length and a half back of him. Strongheart's closing spurt edged Arcturus, the early leader, out of second money.

Maryland's balmy weather which ushered in the meeting, changed today to rain which carried a penetrating chill. The attendance fell but the caliber of competition kept up and there was great excitement before the running of the white marsh concerning the chances of Strongheart and Annapolis. The former got all the early support and there was such a run on him that he was 1 to 2 at one time.

Owners Asked to Give Short Names to Horses

The Jockey club in New York is beginning to work hand in hand with the copy readers on our metropolitan newspapers. No longer will a thoroughbred's name be permitted to extend over fifteen letters and spaces. For instance a Kentucky breeder sent in the name of Belle of Scotland for one of the fillies he expects to race this year. He was informed of the new letter and space ruling. He changed the name to Bell o' Scotland. The copy readers can get names of that length into the headlines.

C. W. Hay, general manager of the Washington Park track, was back at his offices yesterday following a tour of the winter tracks. With the possible exception of High Foot he does not believe any 3 year olds were developed during the winter that will cut much of a figure in the American Derby and other 3 year old fixtures. Baron Long's Hatrick and the Agua Caliente Derby winner, Greyola, a filly, are the only 3 year olds of much ability produced in Lower California this year. "There wasn't a good 3 year old to race in Florida," he said. "It wasn't much better at New Orleans except for High Foot," he continued.

Judge Hay's idea of a great American Derby is to have the winner of the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness meet Whichone in Washington Park's old fixture.

George Getz Purchases Eagle Yacht, Renetta II.

George F. Getz, Chicago sportsman and a member of the Illinois state athletic commission, yesterday announced the purchase of the eagle class yacht Renetta II. The boat will be renamed, and Mr. Getz's son, George Jr., will act as skipper in races here this season. The latter has done considerable sailing with boats of the cruising type, but this will be his first effort at competitive racing. He will be assisted by Clair Udell, a veteran of R class races on the lakes.

Lott and Doeg Win Close Tennis Match in South

New Orleans, La., April 3.—(AP)—George Lott of Chicago and Johnny Doeg, Santa Monica, Cal., were extended here today to win from Arthur Waters and Charles Granger, both of New Orleans, 6-1, 4-6, 6-4, in the New Orleans Country club's invitation tennis tournament. Previously Granger and Waters had beaten McMillan and Anders of Oshkosh, Wis, 6-1, 6-3.

Fielder Throws Knuckle Ball; Becomes Pitcher

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 3.—[Special]—Julius Dezelsky, a junior from Pontiac, today stole the spotlight from his more highly regarded mates on the Michigan baseball squad. Until a week ago Dezelsky was listed as a fielder, destined to warm the bench. Then Coach Ray Fisher saw him throw a knuckle ball. Since then he has worked as a pitcher and was given a chance in today's game.

He worked the last two innings for the team composed mostly of regulars and had the batters reaching or tapping ineffectual rollers.

Wife's Failing for Rings Too Costly: Grimes

Canton, O., April 3.—Purchase of expensive rings and dishes without his consent and refusal to be congenial with his teammates and their wives were charged against his wife by Burleigh Grimes, Pittsburgh Pirates' pitcher, when he went on the stand today in his suit for divorce here.

He said that in St. Louis his wife had bought rings valued at $1,800 and $1,900 and that in California during spring training she purchased a set of dishes costing $575. One piece of the set, a $50 punch bowl, she used as a receptacle for discarded clothing, he testified.

He declared remarks his wife made about the wives of other members of the Pittsburgh team hurt him professionally. Grimes testified he gave his wife $2,800 in checks and cash last year, in addition to paying $4,700 in bills for her.

Mrs. Grimes late today turned over to the court three letters which she said her husband had received from women. One of these was signed by a Philadelphia girl, while the others came from Boston.

Grimes, under cross-examination, said he knew the women as casual acquaintances and considered their letters only as "fan mail." Endearing terms used in one of the Boston letters caused a ripple on laughter in the courtroom. It said, among other things, "I want but two things in life—you and my health."

In the WAKE of the NEWS

DOG RACING.

SUGGESTION that dog racing be promoted at Chicago Stadium during the summer months will bring up the inevitable argument among those who differentiate between wagering on the horses and the dogs. Stadium directors, in their decision, may consider the rather general opinion that dog racing in Chicago is controlled by gentlemen not averse to tossing a pineapple when competitors interfere with their racket.

Thoroughbred racing of away back when was a sporting proposition. Then it became brazenly commercial. Of late the tendency has been, on balance, toward sport. Wagering is a necessity to support the game, because more spectators are interested in the betting than the theoretical improvement of the breed of thoroughbreds. Still, it is a colorful sport, interesting, thoroughly enjoyable to those who regard it as an amusement, thereby wagering modestly and not as a means to accumulate impossible wealth.

Sponsors of the dogs see no reason why their breed also should not be improved and criticize legislators who declare wagers on the horses legal and those on dogs illegal. In Illinois a court case is pending to test that differentiation.

The Wake never has been an advocate of dog racing. Our objections are that races are held at night; there is no means of knowing what percentage the track is "taking off" because wagering is not legally recognized; it does not attract a desirable following; and our somewhat prejudiced opinion is that opportunity for "fixing" races exists to a greater extent than in almost any other sport except professional wrestling.

"We've listened to answers to these objections from sponsors who were almost convincing. Whether logical or explainable, however, there is a difference in environment and as a sport between horse racing and dog racing. That's our story and we're going to stick to it.

It Just Depends.

"Fine Toilet Soap, 5c," it said,
The sign upon the wall;
The ladies gazed by hundreds,
But bought no soap at all.
He changed the sign, "Complexion Soap,
Price 50c a cake."
He never dreamed of what a fuss
Two words and price could make.
The sign was printed flaming red,
The paper almost scorchin',
And—would you b'lieve it?—in a month
He just 'bout made a fortune!

Cleveland Pin Breaker Rolls 702 at A.B.C.

Cleveland, O., April 3.—Frank Motika of Cleveland rose to a 702 and shot into seventh place in the singles event of the annual American Bowling Congress tournament here late today.

Motika's count, 671, and 660 by G. Kaisinger and H. Woods of Cleveland, and 651 by R. Griebel, Cleveland, were the only good figures hit out.

In the two man event business was dull, O. Clotz and W. Dawson of Cleveland and W. Merecki and J. Beck of Detroit shooting best with respective totals of 1,217 and 1,209.

There were 21 totals of 1,140 or better rolled in the two man event and 25,600 class series shot in the singles.

In manufacturing his seventh spot count Motika was off with a good 279. Two splits stopped him in the second game at 255. In his third game he drew a split in the final frame on top of three strikes and closed with 218.

PEGLER FAVORS BIGGER, OLDER CARNERA DIVERS

round. This being granted, the Ace made a graceful amend for his rudeness, going quietly and resolutely to the canvas, and Primo Carnera had knocked out another.

However, there obviously was a faux pas somewhere in this startling adventure of Primo's and this sort of thing should never be allowed to happen again. Moreover, it will not happen if he will permit me to place in nomination a list of chaps, culled from memory of a thousand preliminaries and training camp bouts and from the professional records of William Stribling, Jomes J. Tunney, Luis Angel Firpo, and Tommy Gibbons. Now that he is so well along on this unique career, I should much regret to learn of his being tapped on the chin and interrupted.

There's Old Sailor Martin.

For some of my nominees I go quite a far spell back, but no further than Primo's sportsmen went when they found old Farmer Lodge for him. For my lead off man, I would name Sailor Martin who used to fight Tommy Gibbons along about 1924 and never did him any such dirt as Ace Clark did Primo in Philadelphia. The Sailor must be just about ready for Carnera now. Then I would let him have Harry Drake, the English chap, who introduced the Cricklewood sprawl into the American ring while serving with Dempsey in Great Falls, Mont., and I would follow him with Wolf Larsen, who wears a callous not unlike a saddle across his shoulder blades from chafing the coarse weaves of many rings.

The next man on my list would be Tarzan Larkin and behind him Fred Fulton, the namesake of the town of Smackover, La. I should like to give some brief reference note with regard to each of my nominees, but there are too many and I can only assure Primo that they are, none of them too tough for him and, of course, none of them too feeble.

The Complete List.

My other candidates for Primo Carnera's knockout record are Soldier Jones, Sergt. Ray Smith, Chief Metoquah, Johnny Squires, Jack League, Australian Jim Tracey, Tiny Jim Herman, Italian Jack Herman, Marco Polo, Jimmy Byrne, Bunker Hill, Bob Lawson, Ed Kelley, George Cook, Johnny Grosso, Tony Fuente, Tut [Eight Ball] Jackson, Joe King, Jack Warren, Jack Humbeck, Denver Jack Geyer, Toledo Joe Packo, Arturo de Kuh, Ray Neuman, Hambone Kelly, Pietro Corri, Quintin Romero-Rojas, Floyd Johnson, Harry Fay, Jack De Mave, Fireman Ralph Smith, Big Sid Terris, Joe Lohman, Bandsman Blake, Chief Elkhart, Emmet Rocco, Big Bill Hartwell, Ike McFowler, Sandy Siefert, Benny Touchstone, K. O. Clemmens, Big Boy Rawson, Roughhouse Rowsey and Roughhouse Ware, California Jack Lee, Frankie Wine, Leo Gates, Sailor Maxted, Battling Gayhee, Pat Lester, Ludwig Hayman, King Solomon, Gypsy Prince Daniels, Con O'Kelly, Bucky Harris, Pat Joyce, Joe Clancy, Tommy Stone, Buddy [Out the Window] German, Larry Gaines, Clem Johnson, Bearcat Wright, Napoleon Jack Dorval and Little Boy Blue.

There are 69 more knockouts for Primo's record, most of them one rounders. With those already achieved these would give him 82 and by that time I would be ready to find more names for his list to the number of 200. I solicit suggestions. Let us make this a knockout record that will live.

Y TOURNEY OPENS

The Buffalo (N. Y.) quintet, National Y. M. C. A. basketball champion, began the defense of its title in the eighth annual tournament at Oak Park High school fieldhouse last night by defeating the Englewood branch of Chicago, 29 to 22. McNamara, star of last year's team, led the victors with five baskets and two free throws. Young and Roberts starred for the Chicagoans.

Hamilton, O., became a favorite by its 35 to 19 victory over Juniata, Pa. Oak Park, runnerup for the title last year, advanced to the second round by trouncing Superior, Wis., 31 to 17. Schroeder scored 16 of the villagers' points.

Three of yesterday's games were decided by close margins, Kansas City, Mo.; Portsmouth, O., and Lincoln, Neb., being the victors. The Missouri team nosed out Cambridge, Mass., 32 to 30. Portsmouth staged the best rally of the day to eliminate Greenwich, Conn., 23 to 21. The Ohioans lagged, 15 to 8, at the half. Lincoln wrested a 29 to 28 decision from Detroit Northern branch in a battle which saw the score tied nine times.

What millions of Motorists are saying about
VEEDOL MOTOR OIL

"If it's good enough for the Graf Zeppelin
If it's good enough for the Byrd Expedition
... it's good enough for me"

PREMIUM QUALITY AT NO EXTRA COST

Can any oil match VEEDOL'S actual proof of performance in the Zeppelin and the Byrd Expedition?

You save 5¢ even when you buy a single quart of VEEDOL.

You save 25¢ to 50¢ every time you fill your crankcase with VEEDOL.

You may be driving a $10,000 car, yet you cannot get a better motor oil than VEEDOL.

We'll leave it to your own common sense. Here's the same oil for your motor that took the Graf Zeppelin around the world, and took Rear Admiral Byrd over the South Pole . . . But with no price-premium attached, no extra cost to pay . . . There is no reason why you should pay more than VEEDOL'S price for any oil.

Top yesterday, $9.65; average, $9.15.

Light weight hogs ruled weak to slightly lower on the cash trade yesterday, while medium and weighty stock was scarce and in good demand at stronger prices. The extreme top and general average prices were unchanged at $10.40 and $9.90, respectively, comparing with a top of $10.50 and average of $9.85 last Saturday. A feature of the trade was the brisk competition for prime 325@400 lb., butchers at the full strength of the market. The spread between light and heavy hogs is the narrowest in several weeks. Large packers bought sparingly and 5,000 were left at the close. Five western markets expect only 41,500 hogs today, against 63,300 the previous Friday.

May Light in Demand.

The market for hog futures was more active and strong to 10c higher yesterday, with most bids centering on May light. Four carloads for May delivery sold at $10.50@10.60, the market opening at $10.50 and closing at $10.60. May heavy grades sold at $9.75. May light were offered at $10.65@10.75 and bid $10.40@10.50. Offers of June light were $10.50@ $10.60 and bids $10.30.

September lights were offered at $10.75@11.00 and bid $10.50. On the "to arrive" market, light weights for today's and Saturday's delivery were offered at $10.40 and for next Monday at $10.65.

Medium and heavy cattle were in demand at strong to higher prices again yesterday, prime 1,444 lb., steers at $15.00 equaling the highest since March 10. Light steers and yearlings were neglected and suffered further price cuts, closing 25@50c lower than a week ago.

The trend of prices was the same in butcher stock, heaviest animals selling to the best advantage, while sales of yearling heifers showed the week's full 25@50c loss. Calves declined 50c. Stockers and feeders were slow and unchanged.

Shorn Lambs Active.

Demand for shorn lambs was broad yesterday and prices held firm in spite of the fact that receipts of stock without fleece were largest of the season. Most shorn lambs sold at $8.65@ $9.10, although plain Texas lambs ranged downwards to $8.10.

The spread between shorn and wool stock was narrower than usual. Most wool lambs brought $9.00@9.50, with a few of the best selections up to $9.65. Aged sheep and yearlings were scarce and firm. There are about 950,000 lambs left in Northern Colorado, the Arkansas valley and the Scotts Bluff sections, against 785,000 a year ago and 470,000 two years ago.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 2,000 cattle, 15,000 hogs, and 13,000 sheep, against 3,484 cattle, 22,330 hogs, and 14,319 sheep, the previous Friday, and 1,976 cattle, 16,822 hogs and 13,247 sheep, a year ago.

DENIES PENNSY HOLDS CONTROL IN NEW HAVEN RY.

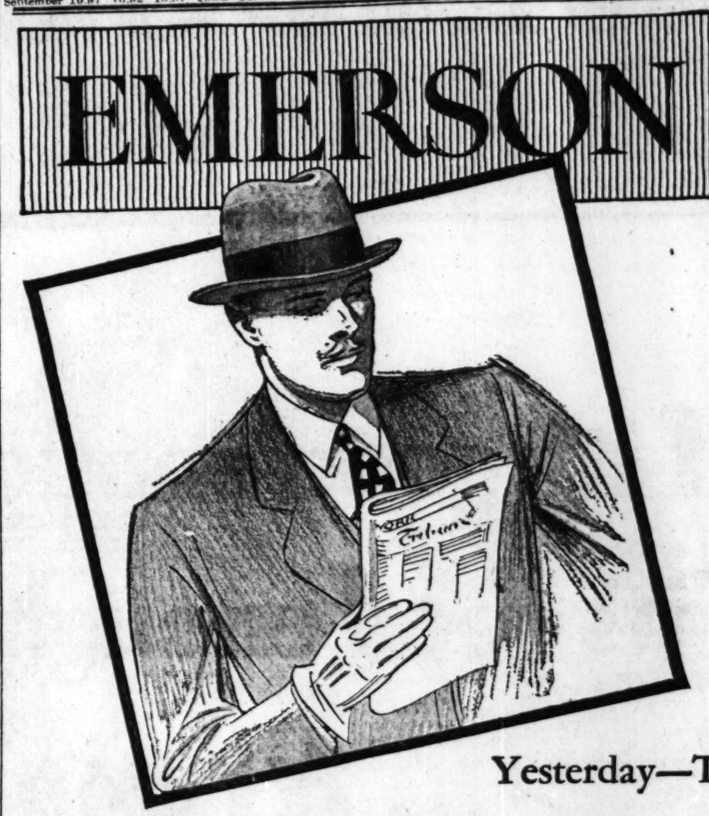
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 3.—Reports that the Pennsylvania railroad and the Pennroad corporation jointly held control of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad were indirectly contradicted today by W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania.

Testifying before the New England roadrail committee in Boston, he declared the two Pennsylvania companies together own only 14.7 per cent of the $206,154,600 outstanding preferred and common shares of the New Haven line.

The Pennroad had 100,000 shares and the Pennsylvania 204,000 shares, or a total of 12.4 per cent of the $206,000,000 oustanding preferred stock, common stock and convertible bonds of the New Haven, he said. This revealed that the direct holdings of the Pennsylvania in the New Haven have increased from 173,025 shares to 204,000 shares since Dec. 31, 1929.

EMERSON HATS



Emerson Hats have the Emerson Inter-Lined, Double-Sewn Sweat Band. A waterproof inter-lining is stitched, first to the sweat leather, then to the hat, keeping sweat leather and its stitching from contact with the felt. This positively protects both the silk band and body of Emerson Hats from stain or spot by perspiration.

LONGEST HOP OF YEAR MADE BY BROKERS' LOANS

Total Shows Rise of 148 Millions.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Brokers' loans took the biggest jump of the year in the last week—a hop of $148,000,000 to a total of $3,-[illegible],000,000. But the figures, which were issued yesterday by the federal reserve board after the stock markets closed, did not prove a surprise. About everybody in Wall and La Salle streets had expected a large increase, in view of the more active and rising stock markets. The current total is still $1,594,000,000 below a year ago.

Since Jan. 1 there have been eight advances and five declines in the weekly compilation. But the net result is that brokers' loans now are only $544,000,000 higher than at the beginning of the year despite the strong recovery in stock prices from the November collapse. Furthermore, the current total is only $640,000,0000 above the low post-collapse figure established on Dec. 24, 1929, and also is $1,134,000,000 below the all time peak established on Oct. 2, 1929, just before the break.

Banks Boost Loans.

The detail of yesterday's report shows that the New York banks were chiefly responsible for the current expansion. They increased their own loans to brokers by $123,000,000 and now are lending $526,000,000 more than a year ago.

Interior banks withdrew $14,000,000, probably because of relatively low call money rates, and are furnishing $548,-000,000 less than a year ago. Corporations and other lenders increased their loans by $36,000,000 but still are lending $1,573,000,000 less than a year ago.

Business and industry, as well as the stock market, has picked up in the last week, judging by a stronger demand for commercial credit as reflected in the weekly statement of the federal reserve system, issued last night. But the reserve authorities continue to maintain easy money rates by open market operations.

The member banks increased their borrowings by $34,294,000, bringing the total up to $241,123,000. And the reserve banks turned additional credit into the market by buying $44,815,000 of bankers' acceptances and $1,390,000 of government securities.

Deposits expanded $54,580,000 and note circulation increased $3,197,000. Gold and total reserves declined $29,-[illegible],000 and $33,205,000 respectively. The ratio of reserves to liabilities edged to 79.8 per cent compared, with 8.5 per cent last week.

No Change in Bank Rate.

The New York Federal Reserve bank yesterday made no change in its 3½ per cent rediscount rate. Its statement shows that member bank borrowings increased $17,009,000 in the last week to a total of $53,867,000. Holdings of bankers' acceptances expanded $37,035,000. Deposits increased $16,379,000. Reserves declined $45,-[illegible],000 and the reserve ratio fell to 77.9 per cent, compared with 77.7 per cent a week ago.

The report of the Chicago reserve bank shows a slight decline in member bank borrowings, with the total now standing at $22,048,000. Bankers' acceptances rose $4,989,000. Deposits expanded $12,455,000. Reserves increased $6,238,000 and the reserve ratio rose to 87 per cent, compared with 86.8 per cent a week ago.

It would appear that the stock market has recovered more than half of the loss suffered in last year's collapse. According to a computation by Frazier, Jelke & Co., brokers, the market value of 100 representative common stocks totaled $43,447,945,000 at the end of August, 1929. They dropped to $24,274,384,000 on Nov. 13, 1929, and had recovered to $34,857,697,-[illegible] by the end of March.

Thus, the decline in aggregate value was about $19,000,000,000 and the recovery has been upwards of $10,000,-[illegible],000. The gain last month was about $2,847,000,000, or 8.9 per cent.

The largest gain was recorded in the petroleum group, which advanced 17.1 per cent.

WILLYS-OVERLAND OPERATES AT LOSS OF $4,979,857 IN '29

Sharp competition in the automobile industry last year, particularly in the low price class, and reorganization of manufacturing facilities resulted in a loss of $4,979,857 for the Willys-Overland company.

The annual report, issued last night by President L. A. Miller, says that profits from operations were $4,023,-284, but this was more than wiped out by provision for doubtful accounts, dismantling, and rearrangement expenses, special charges, and other nonrecurring items. Special expenses totaled $5,494,693.

In addition to the loss after charge-offs, dividends paid in cash and stock last year totaled $4,471,529. The final result was a charge of $9,451,386 against surplus, which was reduced to $30,179,785 at the end of 1929. A contingent reserve of $440,000 was established. At the end of the year the company was contingently liable for $1,374,939, whereas in 1928 there was no reserve, but a contingent liability of $5,190,166.

The previous report set forth net profit of $6,382,357 for 1928, which was equivalent, after preferred dividends, to $2.09 a share on 2,526,684 common shares. Additional common stock was issued on Dec. 28, 1928, and there now are 2,999,882 common shares outstanding. There also is $14,601,700 worth of preferred stock outstanding.

Car sales for 1929 were 257,407, a decrease of 18 per cent from 1928, and net sales were $159,810,503, compared with $187,233,388. President Miller says all expenses resulting from changes have been written off and all known or anticipated losses charged off or provided for. The balance sheet of Dec. 31, 1929, shows current assets of $27,597,672, current liabilities of $5,-909,872, and total assets of $70,131,303.

SAY PRICE WAR MAY FOLLOW STEEL MERGER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 3.—Reduction of $4 a ton in the price of pipe made by the National Tube company, a subsidiary of United States Steel corporation, is seen as the beginning of a price war in the steel trade by those who forecast it as a result of Bethlehem Steel corporation attempting to expand into middle western markets by the acquisition of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company.

No confirmation of such a motive behind the reduction could be gotten at the offices of the United States Steel corporation, but it was pointed out that pipe is the leading product of the Youngstown company, and that this direct attack upon the company whose directors have approved a merger with Bethlehem was intended as a warning of what might happen if the merger is actually gone through with.

ALUMINUM CORP. HAS $24,128,509 INCOME IN 1929

The annual report of the Aluminum Company of America issued yesterday shows net income for 1929 was $24,-128,509, which was equivalent after dividends accruing on the preferred stock to $10.37 a share on the common stock. This is an increase of 25 per cent over 1928 when the company showed net profits of $19,279,464, or $7.98 a share on common.

Although there was an increase in production in 1929 over 1928 the company shipped about 7 per cent more aluminum than produced in its own reduction plants, Arthur V. Davis, chairman of the board, says in his report. "The company purchased substantial quantities of scrap and ingot from other makers," he said. "The price of aluminum remained substantially unchanged during the year."

WHEAT JUMPS AS EUROPEANS BUY U. S. GRAIN

Storage Offer Made to Millers.

BY PAUL POTTER

Coincident with mounting wheat prices which yesterday carried some sales to more than 11 cents a bushel over last week's prices, came the announcement of the detailed plans of the federal farm board's Grain Stabilization corporation to work with millers of the nation in storing the surplus crop and to export American grain in the form of flour.

The entrance of foreign buyers into both the United States and Canadian wheat pits yesterday started the rise of wheat, following weather reports of widespread rain deficiencies in many sections of the grain growing country.

Europeans Change Tactics.

July prices, reflecting the price judgment of the traders on the unharvested crop, advanced above May quotations for the first time since the farm board began buying through its stabilization corporation. European buyers yesterday made their first concerted departure from months of "hand to mouth" purchases and began to buy more heavily. This was said to have been caused partly by drought news and by information that Argentine wheat offerings had declined to nearly nothing. Rising grain prices in Liverpool yesterday reflected this worldwide change in sentiment.

The farm board's auxiliary grain stabilization corporation yesterday started mailing questionnaires to nearly 3,500 millers in the United States, offering a plan of utilizing their storage space, ordinarily idle at this season, and of exporting American wheat in the form of flour.

Submit Plan to Millers.

Every miller in the country is offered the same contract, according to George S. Milnor, vice president of the corporation, whose statement last night read as follows:

"The Grain Stabilization corporation has placed before the wheat flour milling industry a plan which it is believed will be helpful in accomplishing the objective of the coporation and at the same time increase the operations of the mills. Increased operation in turn stimulates the demand for cash wheat, increases the available supply of mill feeds, and to some extent increases the consumption of cotton used in bagging mill products.

"The plan makes available to the corporation a large amount of mill elevator storage room, otherwise idle at this time of the year. Mill storage, however, will not be used to such an extent that it will interfere in any way with the movement of new crop wheat, at or after harvest time."

Plan for Wheat Storage.

Mr. Milnor said the plan provides, first, for an arrangement whereby the stabilization corporation may store wheat with the miller, which the miller may later purchase as his needs require, and second, a similar arrangement in regard to the storage and sale of wheat to cover export sales of flour.

Leading milling concerns of the country already have assured the government owned corporation of their willingness to adopt the plan; and it will be put into practice immediately, it was said here yesterday.

The action of the farm board was said to have followed its discovery that a large portion of the May wheat contracts it had purchased in recent weeks of futures trading were options on wheat owned by American millers. Delivery of nearly 55,000,000 bushels of wheat on these Chicago contracts might have resulted on May 1, had the plan announced yesterday not have been worked out, a milling official declared.

Contracts will be signed between the stabilization corporation and each miller participating, whereby the farm board stores surplus grain in the miller's bins at its discretion, storage free, with insurance, weighing, and handling costs to be borne by the miller. The miller will pay the cor-

Disputes Talk About 1930 Not Being Fair Auto Year

BY SCRUTATOR.

A good part of the talk to the effect that the automobile industry is going to have a bad year in 1930 appears to be no more than talk.

The people of this country are still on wheels part of the time. In the aggregate the riding is becoming intensified rather than diminished. January, which shared with February the odium of being the worst month of the business depression that began last summer, finance companies loaned money on the retail purchase of automobiles greater in number by 6.5 per cent than they lent on in January, 1929.

It is true that the money involved in this financing was less than it was a year ago by 3 per cent. A greater proportion of the cars were of the used variety, and the average note was smaller. According to the National Association of Finance companies, the loans on new cars fell from an average of $610 to one of $580, and on used cars from $341 to $311.

Draws Inference.

The plain inference to be drawn is that there will be more Americans riding automobiles this spring than at any part of last year. Support for this is given by the carloading estimates of the American Railway association for the second quarter of 1930. Shipments of new automobiles are to be, by these estimates, smaller by 17 per cent. However, those of petroleum and petroleum products, largely gasoline and lubricants for motor cars, will probably be 2 per cent more.

Figures of this sort furnish interesting lights on purchasing power. There are many suggestions of a severe crippling of this power in the United States. The better explanation is that there has been a voluntary tightening of it by the individual controllers. The people buy as many or more automobiles than they did in boom days, but demand lower prices.

Nor is this phenomenon confined to automobiles. It appears among investors. The Investors Guide in this section had in March more information requests from prospective buyers of securities than in March of last year by 12 per cent.

Small Decrease May Deceive.

As for the automobiles, even the small indicated decrease in money spent for their riding qualities may be deceiving. Dealers were heavily stocked with used cars at the turn of the year and doubtless used their best efforts to get rid of them. Nor is it possible to believe that installment sales are larger than they were, proportionately. The finance companies association asserts the percentage as compared to cash sales is no larger than in other years.

Viewed in the light of such facts, the lack of enthusiastic buying seems more a matter of canny choice than of necessity for the vast majority of Americans. Employment in certain lines has been poor, and among the out of work there is distress. For the rest of the population the immediate past has been a series of bargain hunting days.

New York, April 3.—The stock market developed a mild attack of spring fever early today. Leading issues seemed unable to pull themselves together and the whole list gave evidence of a tired, all gone feeling, but later perked up considerably. The day's volume amounted to 4,613,610 shares traded.

Constructive forces tried to maintain a forward movement through a series of rather spectacular operations in behalf of selected pivotals. There were almost as many minus signs as gains in the finals, although most of the wider swings were toward higher levels. Also most of the group lead-

RADIO STOCKS, LED BY GRIGSBY, COME TO FRONT

Move Forward in Chicago Stock Trading.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Radio stocks came to the front in the trading on the Chicago exchange yesterday. A vigorous forward movement which included nearly all the radio stocks listed on the board was led by Grigsby-Grunow.

Strong buying in Grigsby sent the issue to 21 for a net gain of 1¼. More than 78,000 shares of the stock changed hands. Long neglected issues like Erla and All-American Mohawk were swept along with the rest of the group. Raytheon certificates jumped nearly 3 to close at 33, while Ceco and Ken-Rad each improved a fraction. American Radio finished at 2, up ½.

Libby, General Theaters, E. L. Bruce, and Art Metal were outstanding among the specialties. On unusually heavy trade, Libby reached a new high for the year, 25¾, a net gain of 2. General Theaters rose over 3, and Art Metal on sales of 8,000 shares improved 2½. E. L. Bruce advanced 3¼.

Auburn Shipments Rise.

Other strong spots among the specialties were Electric Household and Butler Brothers, which closed up to 13. Motor shares were mostly dull, with no significant price changes recorded. Auburn on light sales was up 1, following announcement by President E. L. Cord that March shipments of the company were 5½ per cent above the same month last year and the highest of any month in the company's history.

First quarter shipments, Mr. Cord said, totaled 6,003, compared with 5,848 in the corresponding period of 1929, an increase of about 3 per cent.

Burnham, with a gain of 1½, was the only stock in the investment group to show any material change. Interest, however, centered in the common sotck of Corporation Securities, which was initially traded in around 28.

Public offering is to be made today of 1,250,000 shares of Corporation Securities common stock by Utilities Security company. The stock, which is on a 6 per cent annual dividend basis, will be offered at $27.50 a share. Proceeds of the financing, officials state, will be sufficient to pay off current indebtedness and provide a substantial cash sum.

Estimates Earnings.

The company estimates that earnings for 1930 will approximate $7,106,309. After payment of dividends on the preferred stock it is estimated that earnings applicable to common stock will be equivalent to $1.42 a share on the average number of shares outstanding. The estimate is made on the basis of income from securities now held and 5 per cent interest on unexpended balance of the proceeds of the present financing.

MAY RESUME GRAIN FUTURES SALES AT OMAHA

Omaha, Neb., April 3.—(AP)—The Omaha grain exchange will endeavor to meet the wishes of Arthur M. Hyde, secretary of agriculture, in connection with the organization of a grain futures market here, Hugh A. Butler, president of the exchange said today.

Secretary Hyde suggested that the exchange amend its rule requiring reloading of grain in Omaha, and Butler's statement was taken to mean the grain exchange will comply with the suggestion.

An application of the Omaha exchange to the grain futures administration for a license permitting it to trade in grain for future delivery has been pending for two years. None has been granted because heretofore the exchange has maintained arbitrary rules as regarded by the secretary of agriculture.

The Omaha exchange started trading in futures nearly twenty years ago, and about the time the world war broke out it was discontinued.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, April 3.—(AP)—Cotton goods ruled quiet. The new price of 150 on 2.20 denims has been followed generally by mills, and business is being booked for deliveries in the second quarter of the year. Rayon sales are less active. Raw silk dull. Hosiery prices very irregular. Wool goods for fall being engaged moderately. Dress goods openings attracting more attention than men's wear for the time being.

News and Gossip of Stock Marts

Building Shows Promise.

Measured by building permits, the building construction industry promises to pick up considerably before long. S. W. Straus & Co. report a gain of 55 per cent in building permits issued throughout the country in March compared with February. Given a little time, cheap money is bound to increase building operations.

Analyze Income Account.

Although General Electric reported net income in 1929 equivalent to $8.97 a share on its common stock outstanding, prior to the four for one splitup, those who have made a careful analysis of the company's income account believe that per share earnings would have been around $13 a share had not the company made such large charge offs for reserves, etc.

Merger Negotiations.

It is understood that merger negotiations are under way between the Square D company, Detroit electrical equipment manufacturers, and the Diamond Electrical Manufacturing company, Los Angeles.

The Associated Press, from Richmond, Va., corrects an error made in announcing the election of George U. Harris, New York, as a director of the Lima Locomotive Company, Inc. It was erroneously stated that Mr. Harris succeeded his father, John F. Harris, deceased, whereas the elder Mr. Harris is not dead, but resigned in 1929 from the board. An attorney of the company said he had understood that the elder Mr. Harris was dead but had later learned that the vacancy on the board was created through his resignation and not through his death.

What ELECTRIC POWER is doing for SOUTH AMERICA

THE permanence and stability of the cities and towns in South America is reflected in their diversified industries. These, in turn, call for the increasing use and distribution of electrical energy with the installation of modern American machinery and equipment.

The development of super-power is comparatively new in South America. The Intercontinents Power Company is now serving 102 important cities and towns in Argentina, Southern Brazil and Chile. Furthermore, it has already under way the linking of its properties to form a greater network of lines which will carry constantly increasing loads, insuring permanence in growth to the communities in which the company's plants operate.

Opportunity for American investors to share in the earnings of these properties, so closely identified with the industrial growth of Latin America, is offered through the purchase of Intercontinents Power securities.

N. Y. STOCK LIST PERKS UP; ENDS DAY BETTER OFF

Wall Street Bulls Deserve Benefit of Doubt.

are managed to get themselves counted on the right side, or to emerge with nothing worse than a draw on the day. All things considered, therefore, the decision ought to be accorded to the bulls.

The news of the day was not particularly encouraging and the unexpectedly sharp boost—some $489,000,000—in the total of collateral borrowings announced by the stock exchange for March undoubtedly had a disturbing effect. Moreover, on top of yesterday's figures, the market was being called upon to anticipate the weekly figures of the federal reserve due after the closing.

Money Continues Firm.

Also, money continued moderately firm with the call rate holding at 4 per cent and no appreciable additions to the supply. And finally, it appears that speculative sentiment for the moment favors a setback in stocks, if for no other reason, because there has not been one of any consequence for some three months and technical positions needed stabilizing—so they say.

Many of the leading commission houses were insistently urging their customers to shorten commitments against the possibility of an extended period of "corrective reactions"—the nice flossy term they have in the street for tumbling prices, when warning the boys to get ready to stand from under.

However—to look on the brighter side of things—the amusement stocks did themselves rather proud today, individually and as a group. Loews jumped nearly six points to a new top for the year. Radio Keith crossed 40 for a gain of more than 2 points, while Warner Brothers achieved a new peak with a gain of more than a point. Even Fox Film A was in favor with the buying crowd stepping up for some 3½ points with the rest of the procession.

Some Specialties Buoyant.

Certain specialties which move to the beckoning of pools were also in a buoyant mood. Western Union Telegraph, which came in for something of a drubbing awhile back on the rather pessimistic statement of its earnings outlook, got up steam early in the session and recorded a gain of 5 points. Radio rose 2¾ on an extraordinarily heavy turnover. Allied Chemical jumped 3½ points, Columbian Carbon 4¾, and Worthington Pump 5¾ points.

Prediction of a big increase in the sales of Park & Tilford by reason of the diversification program inaugurated by the corporation the first of the year, sent that stock up to around the best prices of the year. Another issue to run up on good trades reports was National Dairy Products. Reports from this company indicate that both its sales and profits for the first two months of this year were substantially ahead of those for the corresponding period of last year.

Still another stock to profit from earnings reports was Baldwin Locomotive, which had a remarkably good quarter in the three months ended March 31. Figures show that locomotives shipped during that period had a value of $6,732,000, as compared with shipments aggregating only $2,234,000 in the first quarter of 1929.

CHICAGO CURB APPROVES FOUR NEW LISTINGS

The $4,500,000 first mortgage 6 per cent gold bonds, series 1930, with stock warrants, due April 1, 1934, of the Minnesota Northern Power company were also listed.

Listing of 21,000 additional shares of par common of Chain Stores Development corporation and of 55,000 additional shares no par capital stock of Detroit Aircraft corporation were also approved by the curb exchange, trading to begin today. Trading will commence today in 43,734 shares beneficial interest in Wallach Investment Trust.

March Auto Output Shows Gain Over February

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 3.—Motor automobile production totaled 400,000 cars, according to reports submitted to the directors of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce at a meeting today. The total is 18 per cent higher than February production and 36 per cent lower than the total of March last year.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, April 3.—(AP)—Announcement by the single selling agency in Cuba that they would accept bids of 1¾c. C. & F., or 1.46c delivered for April shipment to United States refiners a decline of ¼c, had an unsettling effect in raw sugar today. The question in the Cuban committee price and the more liberal offerings of duty frees, as well as continued uncertainty over the fate of the Cuban single selling agency led to increased selling pressure in raw futures, with final prices showing net losses of 3 to 5 points. Approximate sales, 84,750 tons. Prices: July, 3.59c; Sept., 3.67c; Dec., 3.71c. No. 1 prices follow:

The Indian Territory Illuminating Oil Co., a Cities Service subsidiary, brought in a new oil well last week known as Mary Sudick No. 1, with an estimated flow of 50,000 barrels of oil and 200,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily. We highly recommend the stocks of these companies for permanent investment.

Is 11% Return Too Much to Expect With Safety?

We believe at present levels there is opportunity for considerable appreciation in this conservative public utility investment company stock paying 10% in common stock and 40 cents in cash, yielding over 11%. Stock dividends of 100% on April 25, and 200% on July 25 were also paid in 1929.

That this issue is sound is proved by the shares it holds — Peoples Gas, North American Co., and many others which are covered by a new circular which gives history, earnings and prospects. Every investor should have this latest survey. We invite your inquiry.

By ALICE CAMPBELL

SYNOPSIS.

Catherine West of Boston, on her way to Paris, meets Geoffrey Macadam in the Havre de Paris train. Macadam is an Englishman who lives in Paris. Catherine tells Macadam that she is going to visit her cousin's widow, Mme. Belmont Bender. She is a little apprehensive about the coming visit because she had received just before sailing a letter from Berenice Cushing, who tells her that Mme. Bender is far from well. Macadam is a lawyer, and he tells Catherine that his firm handles Mme. Bender's affairs, but he doesn't know the widow very well. He had heard that she was ill. Arrived in Paris, Catherine is a little disappointed when her cousin's chauffeur is not at the station to meet her. Geoffrey sees her into a taxi.

INSTALLMENT V.

DOUBT.

Possessed by the haunting notion that this child—for so she suddenly appeared to him—might conceivably be on the verge of some disconcerting experience, Macadam hung on to the sill of the taxi window, looking at her.

"You're sure you're all right?"

"O, absolutely! I'm not a baby, you know. I've been looking after myself for years"—and Catherine laughed, wrinkling her nose.

"It's not altogether that. It's this question of your cousin, Mme. Bender. I daresay you'll find everything as it should be, but if it isn't—if for any reason you didn't want to stay there——" here he floundered a little, not sure as to what he wanted to say, "well, perhaps you would let me know. I might possibly be of some assistance."

"I will if you like," she agreed readily, though a little astonished.

"I'll give you my telephone number—both my numbers, in fact. The first is the office, the second my home one."

He scribbled on a card and handed it to her through the window.

"You won't forget, will you? I shall be rather anxious to hear how you're getting on."

For an instant his two hands rested on the ledge. She noted that they were unexpectedly large and sinewy for his medium build.

A detached part of her brain reflected that they were utterly unlike the pale smooth hands of Miles Waring, her late affianced—hands which for some inexplicable reason had always roused in her a faint repugnance.

She thanked him with a grateful smile, and the taxi lunged away, leaving him upon the curb, gazing after it with an expression of doubt in his eyes.

Why had he not insisted on accompanying her? Beastly annoying of these people to let a young girl, with only the slightest acquaintance of Paris, arrive like this with no one to meet her. Nothing in it, of course, but all the same he didn't like it. Perhaps he ought to have told her plainly the things Berenice Cushing had said to him a few weeks ago. As it was he had let her go to her destination totally unprepared. It was all due to his damned fastidiousness. Well, it was too late now. . . .

Meanwhile at breakneck speed the taxi hurtled along the crowded thoroughfares. Lights twinkled through the violet dusk, cars flashed past, and then came to Catherine's nostrils the distinctive scent of French petrol, so oddly thrilling in its suggestion of the brilliant boulevards. Intoxicated by the well remembered odor, by the hurrying people and the gay shop windows, her spirits soared irrepressibly. She sat upon the edge of her seat, eagerly absorbing the passing scenes, keyed up with anticipation of all that spring in Paris was going to mean.

Presently she glanced at the card her traveling companion had put into her hand. "Mr. Geoffrey Blair Macadam," she read, with the address in the corner, 59, Rue d'Assas. She recalled the Rue d'Assas. It was across the river, by the Luxembourg Gardens, a delightful place to live. How thoughtful he had been! She liked the name of Geoffrey, which one seldom heard in America. Odd meeting some one who knew Mme. Bender. She wondered if she was likely to see him again.

With a lightning swerve they rounded the corner, and behold, the Champs Elysées stretched before her, broad and darkly glistening like a ballroom floor. Far ahead, in the evening gloom, rose the shadowy arc of the Etoile. How grandly beautiful it stood, the climax to a perfectly planned vista! Beyond it spread the Bois de Boulogne, full of mystery with its young, bare trees, and over the Seine to the left lay the heights of St. Cloud forest. The thought of the myriad slim poplars as they would appear in a month pale green even to the mossy stems, pierced her heart with a joy that hurt.

Ah, here was the Avenue Kléber, dignified and massive. Two minutes more and she would reach Mme. Bender's magnificent apartment where four years ago she had spent a few pleasant days. At the thought that she was so near a sudden stage fright chilled her exultation. She was quite forgetting the possible state of her hostess, and a qualm of self-reproach assailed her. Still, in spite of last year, she felt almost a complete stranger to her cousin's widow, that elusive, intangible creature, so extremely difficult to know. One pitied rather than loved her, but that was inevitable. Ardently Catherine hoped that this story about her mental condition was exaggerated. Until she had actually seen her she would feel a bit nervous.

She remembered well the irregular, super-raffinated beauty of the Frenchwoman as she had appeared long years ago when, as a child, she had first seen her. Always there had been a hint of something unreal, a clinging, evidescent quality, suggesting that its owner was constitutionally incapable of existing alone. In the positive personality of her American husband she had taken root, but recently, torn from that support and sustenance, her whole character had wilted and sagged. That fact was pathetically apparent a year ago. What would she be like now? With age creeping pitilessly upon her, it was hopeless to expect her to build for herself an independent life.

They turned now into the Avenue Henri Martin, a spacious street with a double row of chestnuts down the central parkway. The handsome building on the left contained the Benders' two floored apartment. There, just around the corner in the side street, was a private door, through which one might go without passing the concierge's loge; but naturally now she would use the main front entrance.

Queer for that telegram, properly addressed, to go astray. Would her arrival take them by surprise?

The driver descended, unstrapped her trunk, and dumped it unceremoniously within the flagged court. Catherine got out, paid the fare, and turned to enter the archway.

Then an incident occurred which in itself meant nothing at all, and which would have been speedily erased from her memory if subsequent happenings had not served to emphasize it. As she crossed the pavement she collided violently with a lounger who, idling along, head upturned toward the windows above, had not observed her approach. She recoiled with the impact, straightening her disarranged hat, as a muttered apology met her ears.

"Pardon, mademoiselle!"

"Pas de quoi, monsieur," she replied mechanically, still tingling with the blow, which had all but knocked the breath from her body.

He drew back to let her pass, and to her slight discomfiture favored her with a long stare. How like a Frenchman, she reflected indignantly. She lowered her eyes, but her single brief glance had shown her a slight, meager-built person, execrably dressed in badly fitting black clothes with a wide felt hat upon his head. Above an old fashioned winged collar with a flowered rose a small, pasty white face, the skin recalling the unwholesome white of a fish belly, while pale, red rimmed eyes, one of them marked with a dark triangular blemish, gazed forth with an unwinking fixity, filling her with disgust.

He was still standing there behind her on the pavement when she reached the high glass doors of the concierge's loge, the official occupant of which came forth to greet her, grudgingly, after the manner of her class.

Hoover Plans Fishing Party at His Camp

Several Cabinet Members Are Included.

Washington, D. C., April 3.—[Special.]—President Hoover will temporarily lay aside business cares tomorrow and motor to his fishing camp on the Rapid river in Virginia for a week-end of angling. Those who will accompany the President on his first visit of the year to the Rapidan camp include Mrs. Hoover, Secretary of Commerce Robert P. Lamont, Attorney General William D. Mitchell, Secretary of the Interior Lyman D. Wilbur, Representative Franklyn Fort [Rep., N. J.], former secretary of the Republican committee, and Lawrence Richey, one of the White House secretaries.

The fishing stream that runs through the Rapidan camp is reported well filled with trout and good fishing is expected by the President. Last year so many fish were freed in the presidential fishing stream that it was reported that Mr. Hoover found catching trout so easy that angling lost most of its charm. The stream has been stocked during the last year.

Aside from fishing the President and his guests are expected to spend some time repairing the dams erected by the President's guests last year. It is understood Mr. Hoover is planning to spend most of his week-ends at the fishing camp until late in June.

Present indications are that Mr. Hoover will spend most of July and August in the far west, returning to Washington late in August or early in September. Several changes in the camp and some new buildings are scheduled to be erected during the year. The President would like better working facilities at the Rapidan camp, so that he can spend more than a day or two at a time there.

Attends Quaker Meeting.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 3.—(AP)—Mrs. Herbert Hoover attended the Friend's yearly meeting here today, unnoticed by many in the Auditorium. She is a member of the Friends society.

She came to the meeting unexpectedly and quietly took a seat in the middle of the old meeting house. With her sat Mrs. George Vaux Jr., and her traveling companion from Washington, Mrs. Charles D. Walcott, sister-in-law of Mrs. Vaux. Mrs. Hoover planned to spend the night with Mrs. Vaux before returning to Washington tomorrow.

Mrs. Hoover told a secret service man who accompanied her and Mrs. Walcott that her visit here was purely a church matter and that she did not want to be bothered with police clearing the way wherever she went.

During the meeting today, a report of the West Town school committee was read and it was believed this was one of her reasons for the visit. Last year when an appeal for $750,000 for the school was made she was one of the first contributors.

NORWEGIAN SAILING SHIP OVER ROUTE COLUMBUS FOLLOWED

BY DEAN SANBORN.

[Copyright: 1930: By The Chicago Tribune.]

HAVANA, April 3.—Emulating the historic voyage of Christopher Columbus when, with three small ships, he left the port of Palos in southern Spain, a 15 ton; one sail vessel, the "Ronald Amundsen," named after that Norwegian explorer, arrived here this afternoon. Its trip from Palos took 42 days filled with perils and thrills.

The vessel, commanded by Capt. Gerhard Folger, friend of Amundsen, is about the size of the famous ships used by the Vikings, one of whom sailed to what he called "Vineland," and what now is regarded as part of the present coast of Massachusetts.

But in this ship a large funnel carries off smoke from the galley. The cabin is decorated with oil paintings. The vessel started its wanderings from Oslo in June, 1929.

The purpose of the trip is to collect funds for a monument to perpetuate the memory of Amundsen.

Two storms threatened the lives of the crew of five during the voyage. From Cuba the Amundsen will sail to Mexico. It also will visit several ports of South and Central America as well as those of the United States.

Cyrena Van Gordon Makes Blind Girl Her Musical Protegee

Aladdin's lamp is a myth and Cinderella only a fairy tale, but modern magic worked a miracle yesterday equal to those wonder tales. The dollar sign touched fourteen year old Ruth Hammerquist, poor and pretty, and turned her from a blind student of the Manly Junior High school into the protégée of Cyrena van Gordon of the Chicago Civic Opera.

Mrs. Myrtle Bowman, a music supervisor and mutual friend, introduced the singer and the young high school soloist.

The opera star heard her sing yesterday and agreed with Mrs. Bowman that this girl's voice is a lyric soprano of excellent promise, probably with unusual radio qualities.

The opera singer said she would finance the girl's voice training and help her to establish herself musically.

Following an illness eight years ago, Ruth became blind. There are four other children in the family and their mother has jobs as seamstress, waitress, or scrubwoman.

The opera singer's husband, Dr. Shirley Bogart Munn, a specialist, made an examination and said that perhaps sight can be restored. Ruth's home is at 2153 Warner avenue.

Scotch Iron Molder Wins Sculpture Prize at Glasgow Exhibit

GLASGOW, Scotland, April 3.—(AP)—A Scottish iron molder has startled Glasgow art circles by running away with the honors at the Socialist Art exhibition with his plaster statue called "The Runner," which he made in spare time.

A number of well known artists and sculptors who were unaware of the artist's identity declared that "The Runner" must be the work of a great foreign artist who was making his first appearance in Scotland.

John Longden, the sculptor, has spent all his life molding iron and never attended an art school. The idea for his statue was suggested by a clipping from a newspaper and he began working it out in his back yard. It took two years to finish it. Critics are unanimous in praise of the figure, which is life size and portrays a runner in full pace.

Exeter, N. H., April 3.—[Special.]—A gift of $1,000,000 to Phillips Exeter academy from Col. William Boyce Thompson, '09 of Yonkers, N. The disposition of the gift has been left entirely to the discretion of the academy's board of trustees, Dr. Perry said.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

What is your earliest childhood recollection?

The Answers.

Isidor Fox, 644½ Buckingham place, law clerk—I can remember vividly that when I was about five years old my mother was going on a trip to Berlin, near which city we lived. I wanted to go along, but she wouldn't take me. But I ran barefooted after the coach and she finally had to take me along.

Mrs. Lorabell Knott, Lombard, Ill., housewife — When I was about four years old I was playing jacks on the sidewalk with two girl friends. I saw a bicycle coming toward me. I leaned back and he ran over me. Two ribs were broken, and I was in the hospital for a week. I suffered because of the rider's recklessness for quite a while.

Raymond Higham, 5306 Argyle street, rate expert—I will never forget being stung by two hornets when I was four years old and on a vacation at Kinderhook, N. Y. I was playing around a post near a hornet's nest, and one of them stung me on the knee and another stung me on the leg.

Mrs. L. J. Fergus, 3513 Medill avenue, housewife — My earliest recollection is of going to a doll's tea party here in Chicago when I was two and one-half years old. I remember very clearly wearing a white dress, blue sash, blue hair ribbons, and red hair. It was a little girl's birthday. The tea set was a new one.

Byron C. Joy, 4526 North Paulina street, salesman — My earliest recollection is of my first trip to Chicago. We were living in La Grange. We came in on a Burlington train. In the big city of Chicago, we took a cable car to Lincoln park and the zoo, they gave children rides on the elephant. That was in 1899, when I was 5 years old.

Yankee Women Hostesses to Ex-Kaiser's Wife

U. S. Army Officers Attend Berlin Reception.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 3.—Berlin does not have an imperial court any more, but twice a year Princess Hermine, the second wife of the former Kaiser, comes from Doorn, where he is exiled, to Germany and establishes a small court. There the admirers of the old order can pay tribute.

Today she was the guest of honor at the American Woman's club in the same building as the American consulate in Berlin.

Princess Hermine's hostess was Mrs. Henry Wood, an American born woman who has chosen Potsdam as her residence. The princess, whom many call empress, as the ex-kaiser ordered them to, was praised by Mrs. Wood's American guests, who pronounced her kindly and witty. The official American military forces were informally represented by a group at the reception. As it was a private party, the German republic could not protest the attention the American were paying her. Many persons say she is working to prepare the way for the return of a monarchy to Germany. Americans present included Col. Edward Carpenter and Mrs. Carpenter, Maj. Hermann H. Zornig and Mrs. Zornig, and all of the American embassy. The American Chamber of Commerce was represented by its chief secretary, Mr. Arthur E. Dunning.

Heir Born to Dodge, Son of U. S. Auto Magnate

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 3.—The birth of a son and heir to Mrs. Muriel Dodge, wife of Horace Elgin Dodge, son of the late automobile magnate, was announced today. The child will be named David Elgin.

THE STAGE

NEW YORK has changed its mind about Fritz Leiber and his Chicago Civic Shakespeareans. Instead of sending them home at the end of this week, as was announced yesterday, Broadway has insisted that they must stay one week more. And maybe longer, for Shakespeare is, at the moment, a going concern down there. The box office is busy.

As a result of this decision the opening of "Three Little Girls," an operetta of great expectations, has been postponed until a week from Monday at the Shubert theater, where Mr. Leiber is carrying on. Shakespeare must share responsibility, however, for this change of plan with the engineers who constructed a special revolving stage at the Shubert for the display of the many scenes of "Three Little Girls." The merry-go-round was finished yesterday, and then it was discovered that the bright scientific minds who designed it had figured on the wrong kind of electrical current. So the job has to be done all over again, and Broadway, which has a keen appreciation of banana peel jokes, is laughing ironically.

When "The Little Show" begins its engagement at the Selwyn theater Easter Sunday there will be only one absentee from the list of entertainers which gave this intimate revue a long run at the Music Box theater of New York; and addicts to original casts will rejoice at the fact that the omission is unimportant. The leaders of the troupe will be Clifton Webb, Fred Allen and Libby Holman, as in New York. Among the others are Helen Lynd, John Macauley, Lucy Monroe, Joan Carter-Waddell, Ernest Sharpe, Harold Moffet, Allan Vincent, Katherine Carrington, and Billy Keating. The chorus is only fifteen strong, but the herald of the show proclaims insidiously that these girls are "lusicious."

When "A Wonderful Night" (a new version of "Die Fledermaus") comes to the Grand Opera house on Saturday evening, April 19, it will bring an orchestra of symphonic dimensions, a densely populated cast and chorus, and a revolving stage that will permit the use of seventeen settings. The prima donna will be Gladys Baxter, whose voice and personality graced "Music in May." Others among the principals will be Harry Welch, Allan Rogers, Archie Leach, Bartlett Simmons, Joseph Lertora, Hal Forde, Mary McCoy, Dorothy Kane, and Charles Chesney.

Conducting European tours for eager culture hunters has become such a racket that even the dramatic critics are going in for it. Burns Mantle of the New York Daily News will lead a throng of disciples through the capitals of Europe, starting July 5; and Walter Prichard Eaton, an emeritus of the drama desk who harks back to the palmy days of the Sun and the Tribune in New York, will escort a migration which begins May 3. Mr. Eaton, as a disciple of William Winter, will take his followers to the shrine of Shakespeare in Stratford-upon-Avon, and has reservations for the spring festival at the Memorial theater. Mr. Mantle will not permit his charges to overlook the Passion Play at Oberammergau.

All this is under the auspices of the Church and Drama League of America. A tour of the theaters of Russia under the guardianship of Miss Hallie Flanagan, stage director at Vassar college, and a six weeks' dash, including Stratford and Oberammergau, with our Mrs. A. Starr Best as cicerone, are also offered by this organization.

To glance at the new vaudeville programs which begin tomorrow:

The Palace Music hall gives the place of honor on its bill to a three man team of entertainers—Clayton, Jackson, and Durante—who have a reputation for humorous whoopee among the night clubs of New York. The others are Chris Charlton, who is called the English Houdini; Eddie Nelson and assistants in a skit labeled "A Traffic Jam"; Ruby Norton, singing soubrette; Gaynor and Byron, skaters, and "Lights and Shadows," which appears to be an elaborate posing act.

The State-Lake theater will offer the "WLS Show Boat," in which a dozen broadcasters will show what they can do without a microphone; the Tiller "Sunshine Girls," a typical English ballet, and Britt Wood, a comic fellow with a harmonica.

U. S. Scientists Still Seek Cure for Tuberculosis

Dr. C. W. White Tells of Work Being Done.

"We have nothing in the way of a specific cure for tuberculosis today, and until we do, our duty is not done."

That was the task set last night by Dr. William Charles White, Washington, D. C., chairman of the medical research committee of the National Tuberculosis association. He spoke before physicians, social workers, and staff workers of the Chicago Tuberculosis institute at the latter's annual meeting in the Medinah Athletic club. Dr. White described the research work in 18 universities, research laboratories, and that done by various foundations. Work in that field was begun a few years ago.

"It is the medical research committee's aim to place in the hands of physicians something that is useful—if not a cure—in the treatment of patients," Dr. White explained. "Tuberculosis still remains the greatest economic disease problem the country has to face. Five years ago it cost this country more than the army and navy combined."

Dr. White praised the research being conducted at the University of Chicago by Dr. Esmond R. Long, professor of pathology, and commended the Chicago Tuberculosis institute for the financial aid given yearly so that research may be carried on.

Dr. White called attention to the purifying of tuberculin achieved last year by the University of Chicago investigators. He described that as one of the two chief results of the committee's work. The other was the production of a new mechanism for testing an individual for the presence of the bacilli of tuberculosis. Detection is possible within three or four days, instead of after the lapse of two months. The new testing was done by investigators at the Rockefeller Institute of Medical Research.

Dr. Long, who next described his investigations, said it is impossible to predict the beneficial effect of the purification of tuberculin.

"We cannot tell now what value will result," Dr. Long said. "But all that we are finding will contribute. We hope, of course, as our knowledge grows, we can put findings together so that we will control tuberculosis. We are trying to fill in the gaps.

"Through the opportunity and financial aid the Chicago Tuberculosis institute has made possible, there are two angles we are taking in the investigation of tuberculosis. One is the purely scientific aspect with rewards in the future. The other is the clinical, which may bring improvement at almost any time."

C. W. Bergquist, president of the Chicago Tuberculosis institute, presided. Among other guests were H. C. Sweany of the Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium, Dr. E. A. Gray, Chicago Fresh Air hospital; Theodore Werle, secretary of the Michigan State Tuberculosis association; Max Biesenthal, Winfield sanitarium; Miss Edna L. Foley, superintendent of the Visiting Nurses' association, and Dr. W. A. Evans, health editor of THE TRIBUNE. All the 1929 officers were reflected at a meeting preceding the dinner.

REACHING RIPE OLD AGE MORE DIFFICULT ESPECIALLY FOR MEN

New York, April 3.—[Special.]—Notions of blissfully increasing longevity to the contrary notwithstanding, the chances of Uncle Sam's children attaining a ripe old age are less promising today than they were ten years ago.

And a man's chances are slimmer than a woman's, according to hitherto unpublished data from the files of the federal census bureau, made public today.

In the age group 35 to 45 the death rate for males in 1927 showed an increase of 12.5 per cent over the 1921 mortality, as against a decrease in the female death rate of 4 per cent. At ages 45 to 54 the increase for males was 13.5 per cent compared with an increase of 2.5 per cent for females. Even at ages 25 to 34, a more favorable course in the female death rate was observed.

Between 1921 and 1927 in the age group of 65 to 74 the increases in deaths of men exceeded that of women by 329 per 100,000.

Songs of Wales Sung by Choir; Offers Novelties

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Conductor Daniel Protheroe was not content to prepare a program of the customary run of male chorus songs for the Welsh male choir to sing at Orchestra hall last night. Among other novelties he found a group of four Welsh songs, two sea chanties, and two folk songs, arranged them himself, and put them on an important position in the program, where they made themselves well liked.

Not being translated or sung in English their meaning must await another chronicler. There was occasionally a hint that a refrain like "To ral-di-ral-di-ro" meant just about as much in song as it did on paper, but at present the expounding cannot be carried much further. Another song that made a special hit was Genee's "Italian Salad," a burlesque on an operatic scene with words running, "Pianissimo, venite qua, forte, fortissimo," and so on.

In these, as in more conventional numbers, the choristers sang with a solid tone of excellent quality well controlled by Dr. Protheroe's eloquent baton. They were assisted by Audrey Call, violinist, who in Chausson's "Poeme" displayed more than usual ability as a soloist, and in her own "Nocturne" considerable imagination as a composer.

Another item in the young American artists series was presented last night in the customary form of a joint recital. Ada Hull, contralto, disclosed a voice of pleasant quality and rather wide range, not yet built up to its full volume and in need of quite a bit of schooling in such matters as clear enunciation. Her associate on the program was Barbara Sneath. Whether from nervousness or other causes her performance was such as to make it advisable to defer comment until a later appearance.

N. Y. to Bermuda Plane Skips Sea to Get Into Air

BY CAPT. LEWIS YANCEY.

[Navigator on the first New York-Bermuda flight.]

[Copyright, 1930, by the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune. All rights reserved.]

HAMILTON, Bermuda, April 3.—[Special.]—Looking back, I believe the feat of William Alexander making a perfect landing in a heavy ground swell was one of the most skillful pieces of piloting I have every witnessed. The ground swells were also bad on the take off. Ground swells run in a series of three small ones and a fourth big one.

Alexander showed expert airmanship in riding the second small swell, while gunning the engine, and then getting the ship off over the top of the next one. He utilized the lull between the third and the big swell to pick up speed and then used the first of the next series to jump the plane into the air. The plane just missed hitting the second by a narrow margin and then caromed off the top of the next and was into the air for good. There was the danger that if he had not judged perfectly he would have nosed us over.

We are now engaged in overhauling the ship and engine and have not decided definitely, whether or not to attempt a return flight. Pontoon fittings were strained and required several replacements; this is being done now. If we are successful in finding the proper equipment to repair the pontoon fittings, we should be ready for a return flight in a day or so. In all probability we will not attempt a flight back to New York, but will land at Norfolk to replenish fuel.

Yankee Authors Ask for New, Legal Guards

Washington, D. C., April 3.—(AP)—Prominent authors, playwrights and publishers today told the house patents committee that a new and growing demand for American books abroad necessitates a sweeping change on "antiquated" copyright laws.

Will Irwin, author and a former war correspondent, marshaled before the committee Marc Connally, playwright; Elmer Davis, novelist; Chester T. Crowell, magazine writer; Thyra Samter Winslow, short story writer; and Edwin H. Hart, attorney for his author-wife, Frances Noyes Hart, who is ill.

They all urged that the Vestal bill would give the individual author greater control over his product and permit this country to enter the international copyright union.

Publishers, declaring that American authors were producing a far better product than ever before, attracting a foreign demand they cannot supply because of the simultaneous publication ruling, also approved the bill.

The high cost of attorneys capable of understanding the complicated copyright law, increasing the overhead on book production, was given as a reason for revision.

Frederic Melcher, secretary of the copyright committee of the National Publishers association, introduced as advocates of the bill: Frederick A. Stokes of F. A. Stokes company, John Benbow of Longman, Green & Co.; J. W. Lippincott, third generation representative of that Philadelphia firm; Cass Canfield, vice president of Harper Brothers; Lyman B. Sturgis, representing the Century; George B. Brett Jr., treasurer and general manager of the MacMillan company.

Melcher said Charles Scribner Jr. and John MacRae, president of E. P. Dutton company, would appear tomorrow, and Irwin also planned to present another group of writers at that time.

George Rogers Clark Memorial Designs Now Are on Exhibition

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Burnham library of the Art institute is the scene this week and next of two interesting exhibits. There opens today an exhibition of the designs for a memorial to be erected at Vincennes, Ind. The memorial is to honor the courage and spirit of George Rogers Clark in the penetration of the northwest. Clark, as history reveals him, was the hero of the campaign to conquer that section from the British during the years of the revolution.

The designs for the memorial are competitive designs. The project is a government one and approved by a resolution of congress which provides for the undertaking. Only qualified architects were invited to compete. The memorial takes the shape of a building which will house a museum in addition to its other uses. The winning plans are the work of Frederic Charles Hirons of New York. The designs are hung in the Burnham library at the instigation of Earl Reed, an instructor in the Art Institute school, who considers them of the greatest importance.

This exhibit will be followed by the opening about April 10 of an exhibition of views of historical bridges that will continue for some three weeks. The views have been collected by Charles S. Whitney, consulting engineer for Milwaukee. On seeing these photographs one is impressed by the astonishing number of bridges of different designs that have been built, each of which not only has played its part in history but contains some element of architectural beauty. The pictures run through the course of the development of the bridge from ancient to modern times. Some bridges, as is well known, are world famous. Many of them are works of art.

To mention but a few bridges of significance, think of the London bridge (with its historical tower and the children's jingle), the Bridge of Sighs in Venice, the Pons Fabricus in Rome (built about 65 B. C.), the Pons Allius in Rome (about 138 A. D.), the many romantic bridges over the Arno in Florence and the Seine in Paris and our own Brooklyn bridge and, dare we put in, Chicago's Michigan avenue bridge.

Reading for Busy Parents Must Fit Their Leisure Time

A "Sex Education Booklet," by Mrs. Bevans, will be sent free on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

It is easy to suggest good books on almost every subject connected with child training and with education. There are many of them so fine that you might call them of the first water.

But when you are trying to fit your reading suggestions to the father who gives the cream of his energy to his work—to the mother who has the care of her house and her children, as the average American mother does, and who is so tired at night—or to one who if not tired, needs the relaxation that theater or social life brings, it is not so easy. When you try to select reading matter that it not too long, that is sound but interesting in its presentation, and that does not require too deep thinking before it can be made of everyday use—then much reading and sifting has to be done before anything is recommended.

It is all these aims that this department has in mind in making reading suggestions—either by letter on in the column, and it is the reason why long lists are not given, and why many of the outstanding books on psychology are not mentioned. It is also the reason why pamphlets are suggested. A mother or father who would never feel quite equal to a book on children will often read a leaflet. Even the idea of reading just a chapter at a time seems more difficult of accomplishments than reading a slim little four or twelve page folder.

Many of our mental hygiene, child study, and other associations are getting out pamphlets on special aspects of childhood. One need not be scornful of these informal little booklets—many of them are written by authorities in their special field.

Nontechnical and rather short but interesting books on children are rare. Two important ones for parents will be reviewed, one this week and one next.

Happy Marriages More Than Balance Other Kind, Facts Say

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Our tendency is to form our opinions about money spending as we form them about marriage—from what we read in the papers. Consequently, we get to thinking that everybody is a willful spendthrift and everybody is either divorced or contemplating an early call on a judge.

That we are a nation of spendthrifts is a common headline accusation. That we are all trying to keep up with the Jones' is a popular theme with speakers; that we are all living a jump or two ahead of the sheriff is what an outsider might easily gather about every inhabitant of this well known U. S. A.

As it is wrong to judge marriage by divorce records, forgetting that overwhelming majority of couples who are plodding along with never a thought about divorce diplomas or alimony, so it is wise to remember there are countless numbers of sane, saving, good salary managing men and women in this country of ours, too. And how some of them can and do save on what would seem to the spendthrifts to be not enough for pin money is an eye opener to the uninitiated.

Just to give an idea of what goes on in that world of sensible folk we do not hear exploited enough I mention the following: A couple living in a simple but nice neighborhood in the city were brought to my recent attention. They have been married thirteen years and were wed at 18 and 22, respectively. They have six of the healthiest looking children you ever laid an eye on, three boys and three girls.

The husband's present salary is not quite $50 a week. They started out on nothing a week, they will laughingly tell you. But that was increased to twenty a week shortly after they married. Today they haven't a debt in the world. They haven't any money in the bank yet, they'll tell you, but the husband carries some insurance.

They have those six young huskies, whose food, shoes, clothes, and the incidental expenses of child raising and their own living expenses prove where the money has gone, surely totaling up good, sound investments.

"It's a struggle and it has been one," the still girlish looking mother will tell you.

Seek to Improve Status of Chicago's Colored Residents

Members of the Urban league, headed by their president, Elbridge Bancroft Pierce, yesterday met with representatives of other organizations to form an interracial commission. The meeting was held in the City club at 12:45 p. m.

It was announced the commission will "investigate situations likely to produce clashes," "collect and disseminate information tending to preserve the peace and allay unfounded fears," "bring sound public sentiment to bear on the settlement of racial disputes."

Alonzo C. Thayer, director of industrial relations for the Chicago branch of the league, told of the results of a study of more than 1,500 out of 7,782 male and female applicants for work handled by the league last year.

TARIFF PARLEY BEGINS; HOUSE BOWS TO SENATE

Chemical Rates Adjusted; Publicity Debated.

Washington, D. C., April 3.—(AP)—The final phase of the Republican tariff revision program was entered upon today as the senate and house conferees held their first sessions to adjust the many differences between the two congressional branches over the Hawley-Smoot bill. Thirty-two rates in the chemical schedule were acted upon.

The senate conferees were victorious in a big majority of the contests, the house group receding from its higher rate amendments in sixteen instances and the senate giving in on only four. Twelve compromises were reached.

Smoot and Garner Clash.

A controversy over publicity featured the first organization and business meeting. Senator Smoot [Rep., Utah] and Representative Garner [Dem., Tex.] clashed.

Angered when Garner left the committee room and called to newspaper men that he was ready to make public all that took place, the Utahan appeared in the doorway and requested that the reporters "come inside."

"I'll give you every rate agreed on," he said. "I want to make sure that all you fellows get this accurately."

Other Republicans in the room expressed surprise that daily publicity was to be given their actions.

Chairman Hawley of the house ways and means committee and head of the house conference group said he thought it had been agreed to make public the actions only after an entire rate schedule had been completed.

"Yes, but Jack Garner says he's going to give out what we do every day, and I'm going to do it myself," Smoot said.

Dictates Detailed Report.

The finance committee chairman then dictated in detail the action taken on the first thirty-two changes in the bill. Other rate schedules will be taken up in the order in which they appear in the measure.

An outgrowth of the long senate tariff debate was the favorable report by the senate rules committee today on the Swanson resolution to do away with consideration of bills in committee of the whole. The tariff bill was in this status for six months in the senate and afterward the entire measure was subject to change. Many prior decisions were reversed and this led to vigorous protests for a change in rules.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: The Avenging Angel

EMMA ALBANI, FAMOUS OPERA SINGER, IS DEAD

LONDON, April 3. — (AP) — Mme. Emma Albani, famous operatic soprano of the nineteenth century, died at her home in Kensington this afternoon at the age of 77.

Mme. Albani had a soprano voice which was applauded by thousands on every continent. She took leading roles at Convent Garden and charmed Queen Victoria at Windsor Castle. She was made a dame of the British empire in 1925 and was awarded orders of merit by Denmark and Germany.

She was born at Chambly, near Montreal. As she grew older the fame of her voice spread to the United States and she was invited to sing in the Catholic cathedral in Albany, N. Y. The congregation was so impressed it decided to send her to Milan. She made her operatic debut in Italy in 1879, after which her success became meteoric.

She was married to Ernest Gye, impresario, in 1898. Her farewell concert was given in Albert hall, London, in 1911.

'RED LILAC' NODS GUILTY PLEA TO MURDER CHARGE

Buffalo, N. Y., April 3.—(AP)—The curtain was rung down today on a drama of nationwide interest in which an Indian woman was tried for the murder of a white artist's wife, and tonight the last of the scenery was being cleared away.

Lila Jimerson, the "Red Lilac" of the Cayuga Indians, lay on a sickbed in the Buffalo City hospital and faced a prison term of 20 years to life, a sentence which became mandatory when she pleaded guilty today to a charge of murder, second degree, reduced from one of murder, first degree.

Henri Marchand, husband of the murdered woman, who took the witness stand and admitted intimacy with the Indian woman "for professional reasons" only, tonight was preparing to leave the county jail, where he had been detained since the start of the trial as a material witness in default of $25,000 bail.

GERMAN GENERAL AND COMPOSER DIES IN BERLIN, 77

BERLIN, April 3.—(AP)—Gen. Baron George Konrad von der Goltz, soldier and composer, died in Berlin today at the age of 77.

Born in Berlin in October, 1852, he fought in the war of 1870 and before the world war was commander of the 36th division. During the war he was in command of a landwehr division under Field Marshal von Hindenburg and took part in the battles of Tannenberg, Lyck and Osowiec.

Seize 20 Unmuzzled Dogs in Roundup in Oak Park

A score of mothers telephoned to Oak Park police yesterday morning that unmuzzled dogs were overrunning the suburb, endangering children at play. By noon the village dog catcher had impounded twenty animals. Three persons, one a 7 year old boy, appeared at the station to redeem their dogs. The lad said the dog catchers had taken his dogs from an alley beside his home after he had begged them not to do so. A $2.50 pound fee was levied against each owner.

AUSTRIANS CEASE PARTY STRIFE TO HONOR WASHBURN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, April 3.—Socialists and Conservatives forgot their bitter quarrels today and joined in paying homage to Albert Henry Washburn, American minister to Austria since 1922, who died suddenly here last night of blood poisoning. Chancellor Schober called on Mrs. Washburn last night to offer his condolences, and also wrote a long eulogy which was published in the Neuefreie Presse this morning.

Michael Haitisch, former president of the republic, also dictated a eulogistic article for the same paper. He credited Mr. Washburn with opening up Austria for American tourists after his predecessors had issued a warning to Yanks not to enter the country because of the Red menace. Karl Seitz, popular Socialist mayor of Vienna, in a letter to Mrs. Washburn today, recalled that the minister had aided the city of Vienna as much as the whole of Austria. He sent condolences of the city government. Funeral services will be held on Saturday, after which the body will be shipped to America.

Going Thru Happiest Days of Her Life

"Why shouldn't I smile," says Mrs. Anna Nebeker, of 1449 East 77th St., Chicago, who is a well known Eastern Star, "when I finally found that I can be free from the trouble I suffered from a sour stomach, by simply taking that marvelously pleasant new medicine called Acidine? It has cleared up the rash on my skin, and I have more pep than I need now."

Not more than one person in a hundred has a stomach so perfect that it needs no help to digest the starchy food, and sweets, which make stomachs sour. It's these excessive acids which thin the blood, lower your energy and cause skin rash. The first signs of too much acid are sick stomach, indigestion, burning sensation in throat, gassy belching. Try Acidine just once and you will see why more than two million people depend on it. Get it at any drug store.

Tidiness of Person Is Sure Approach to Real Loveliness

by Gabrielle Brooks

A woman can be such a nice, tidy person about her clothes closet and her dresser drawers these days—and at such comparatively small cost! Truly, we do live in an agreeable age. There are boxes for everything, nice cretonne covered ones with cubicles for each pair of stockings so that you know in just which tier the "seconds" can be reached quickly. There are boxes to keep the gloves in, so there isn't all the old time mulling around among ribbons and cap nets and stray handkerchiefs and the usual whatnots that can accumulate in an untidily kept dresser.

And there are handkerchief boxes into which you can slip your favorite sachet, and ones that do not have to be tied up with strings. These are quickly accessible and keep the hankies crisp and clean. There are boxes for the several kinds of lingerie, too, so that they aren't put through a mussy treatment every time you want to withdraw one piece.

Then there are padded shoe trees and padded clothes hangers and padded hat forms, into which, again, you may slip your little sachet pad. All of these trifles lend a hand in building up a feminine pride in belongings, which, in turn, does make a more attractive person of one.

The hat forms, the clothes hangers and the padded shoe trees are indispensable to a well turned out woman. They save clothes, shoes and hats. Besides being utilitarian, their use is evident in the comparative newness they lend to things put away carefully with their help. Hats that are thrown up on a closet shelf begin to look worn down at the brim before long. Shoes that are stuffed into a closet without airing first and reshaping with "trees" look their treatment soon enough.

Dress covers are a further note of care in a dainty woman's closet. I am for women utilizing every kind of box, form and cover one can comfortably use, for this tidiness of belongings almost surely insures a daintiness about oneself that makes a lovelier being. It isn't conceivable that a woman who puts her things away in scented little boxes will be shiftless about her own personal hygiene. But it is conceivable that one who throws her coat at a chair, her hat at the nearest peg and her shoes into a closet heap is pretty shiftless about her personal management.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

D. K.: FREQUENT SHAMPOOING to keep the scalp clean is the best measure to prevent or overcome dandruff. Soaps with tar and sulphur bases are good. Other suggestions may be had for a stamped, addressed envelope.

MISS V.: YOUR SKIN IS UNUSUally sensitive. Discontinue soap and water cleansing for a time and use specially prepared cleansing creams. Before going to bed massage with a good cold cream, leaving on as much as possible. You may spread an old towel over the pillow as a protection against the grease.

Play by Dorothy Braun to Be Presented Sunday

Dorothy Braun, sub-deb daughter of Mrs. Walter F. Braun of the Lake Shore Drive hotel, has written a one-act play, "The Spark," to be presented by the Uptown players on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, preceding the monthly tea of the organization. Miss Braun, who is 16 years old and a student at the University School for Girls, is to take one of the parts in her own play.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each childish saying printed. The story told must be your own. It is not necessary to send rejected stories or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

Johnnie, who just loves to help grandma feed the chickens, backed off in sudden terror when the new rooster came his way. "O, he won't hurt you!" assured grandma. "He's a nice rooster!"

"Yeth," answered Johnnie, eyeing the chanticleer's ominous spurs. "He's awful nice, but I don't like his heels!"

We were visiting the zoo and my little cousin, aged 5, was holding the undivided attention of one of the bears. Suddenly her mother called her.

Turning to me, she said: "You entertain him 'til I come back."

New Kind of Salts Takes Country By Storm

They Revitalize the System—Induce Youthful Activity —Keep Body in Splendid Condition— Free From Fat.

It doesn't take long for Americans to wake up to a good thing—only a few months ago Kruschen Salts were introduced into this country and the welcome news of their superior goodness and swift rejuvenating power traveled so fast that at one time the supply was many carloads behind the demand.

All of which goes to prove that Americans know good salts when they take them and want their friends to benefit also.

Kruschen Salts are taken for their health building value all over the world—they are the largest selling medicinal salts in Great Britain today.

Kruschen Salts are different from other salts—Kruschen is six salts in one—the very same six salts that nature put into the human body at the beginning of creation and demands you keep them there or your health won't be as good as it should be.

Unlike most salts Kruschen isn't simply a laxative—if that's all you want any old kind of salts with any kind of a label will do—but is that all you want?

When you take Kruschen Salts you not only stimulate your bowels, liver and kidneys to function naturally and perfectly, but you supply every internal organ, gland, nerve and fibre in the body with nature's own revitalizing and rejuvenating minerals.

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks costs but 85c at any drug store in America—take one half a teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—in just a few days indolence changes to activity and life grows brighter.

Before the bottle is empty you'll feel years younger—eyes will brighten—step grow sprightlier—nerves steadier—you'll sleep sound, enjoy your meals and after a hard day's work you'll be ready for wholesome recreation—one million Americans know all this—ask your druggist.

Violet Every Morn for Chanel's Lady

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Chanel thinks smart ladies should have their violet, every morn, if they want to. And why not? In the midst of fashions that are romantic for every hour except the cold gray ones before lunch, a bit of violet can create an aura of romance.

Chanel prefers the luxurious Parma violet to the common wild varieties, and she makes the tailored dress shown in our sketch in this color, and in cheviotlike woolen. This material is something to remember, for smart spring woolens are smooth articles, and serge and cheviot are being revived, a fact that should receive our undying gratitude, since they are sturdy hard wearing stuffs.

The Chanel dress shown here has other points of style besides the color and material. One of the chief of these is the use of scalloped edges, which she places at the V of the blouse and around the V's of the pointed panels on the skirt.

Another is the introduction of accordion plaited godets—fine—into the tailored dress scene. There is a full length one at center front, two shorter ones at the sides and two hip-deep ones at the back. They are extremely chic and give a pretty flare to the dress silhouette.

One of the nicest features of this street dress is the sleeveless blouse of piqué that serves as a vestee. It is much daintier than the mere false front that most vestees are. Chanel gives a sweet girlish quality to the piqué collar by tucking it to within a shirt distance of the edges, which are quite frilly. The lower part of the piqué blouse is horizontally tucked.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

The Tribune will pay $1 for every letter published on "The Most Embarrassing Moment of My Life." Address Embarrassing Moments, Chicago Tribune. Write on one side of the paper. No manuscripts returned.

Indian Giver.

Having heard so much about the unique service to be had in a certain restaurant and happening to be near one, I decided to lunch there. After I had ordered and eaten my lunch, I tipped the waitress without looking at the check. I soon discovered that with the tip I would have just enough to cover the check. The only way out of this predicament was to ask for the return of the tip. Imagine how I felt when before the stares of nearby patrons I asked for and received the return of the tip! H. S.
